Twister kills one, hurts 9 in Minnesota

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms rumbled across scattered areas from the Pacific Northwest to New England and Florida today, but most of the nation enjoyed fair and mild weather.

Winds were clocked at 60 miles per hour at Omaha, Neb., and 35 at West Palm Beach, Fla., during thunderstorms Wednesday night.

A twister that ripped through a trailer park in a suburb south of Minneapolis-St. Paul Wednesday caused the death of a 5-year-old boy and injured his mother critically.

Nine were injured as the tornado destroyed 12 of 70 trailers in the park and damaged others. Two other funnel clouds were sighted in central Minnesota.

Rain was generally less than an inch wherever thunderstorms broke out.

In Santa Fe, N.M., state highway crews worked Wednesday to rechannel a stretch of the Rio Grande to relieve water erosion of a dike in the north section of the city.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 33 at Missoula, Mont., to 85 at Needles, Calif.

The Mississippi River north of St. Louis, Mo., has begun to recede after reaching crests far below the records established late last month.

The lower crests were attributed by a National Weather Service spokesman to less runoff from flooded land than had been expected.

The weather service predicted that the Mississippi would crest — for the fourth time this year — at St. Louis at 38.5 feet on Saturday. Earlier it said the crest would hit 39 feet. Flood stage at St. Louis is 30 feet.

Farther south, Army engineers said dry weather has caused them to lower their backwater flood predictions in the Vicksburg, Miss., area.

Some 12 million acres of land remain under water from south of the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico. As many as 39,000 persons are still unable to return to their homes. Damage has been estimated at $410 million.

Army engineer officials said the absence of heavy rain this week in the Yazoo basin in Mississippi will keep the backwaters from rising, but flood water will probably remain in the area for at least six weeks after the Mississippi's crest passes Vicksburg this weekend.

In Louisiana, shy wild deer were reported starving at some points along 230 miles of the state's levees. Sheriff Bill Poe of Tensas Parish asked for state aid for feeding about 2,500 deer driven out of their usual bottomland haunts by the floods.

Council continues salary hike plans

City Council proceeded with action during its regular session Wednesday night to increase the salaries of new Council members, but an amendment to the original plan is being proposed to reduce the amount of the increase.

Council also heard a request from Walter Driesbach, owner of the former Fayette Elevator building on E. Court Street, for additional time to comply with an order to improve or remove the building and named a member to the Zoning Board of Appeals.

The pay raise ordinance, proposing salaries of $100 per month for Council members and $150 per month for the chairman, was placed on first reading. An amendment, proposed by Councilman John E. Rhoads to reduce the increases to $60 for councilmen and $90 for the chairman, became tangled in the rules of procedure and on the advice of Acting City Solicitor Dennis Ulrich was delayed until the May 23 session.

BEFORE offering the amendment Rhoads commented that $100 per month is a very little amount of pay for the amount of work. Councilman Joe O'Brien also commented that during the past year he had worked an average of 30 hours a week on city business.

O'Brien and Council Chairman Billie Wilson both pointed out that the proposed increase would not become effective until Jan. 1 and would only apply to the four members to be elected in November. Members whose terms do not expire this year will not receive the increase.

Council members are currently paid $360 per year, and the Council chairman receives $720 per year.

DRIESBACH, in reference to a notice from building inspector Glenn Tatman declaring the former elevator building a public nuisance, asked Council for an extension of time to comply with the order. He said he is under contract with a Realtor for the sale of the property. He told Council that if the building is not sold in 90 days it will be torn down.

Driesbach also promised that open doors and windows would be closed, possibly today. He said this has been done before, but vandals had opened the building and a rear door had been stolen. He also criticized city officials for not contacting him before making a public announcement concerning the building and "going to the cussed newspapers". He said he had never been contacted about the condition of the building until he received the notice from the building inspector.

City Manager Dan Wolford pointed out that city officials did not make an announcement to the news media. Wolford said the building situation was discussed by Council at a regular meeting and was "picked up by the media."

Council took no action on the request but agreed to grant the building owner a hearing within 60 days, as required by city ordinance.

Three other properties, one on Lakeview Avenue and two double houses in the 100 block of W. Paint St., were also discussed as public nuisances.

ALL 11-MEMBER parking commission for the purpose of fostering additional downtown parking was named by Wilson. Selected for the committee were: Larry Solden, Dale Wade, Ray Downing, Richard Whiteside, James Ward, Albert Bryant, Robert Lee, along with alternates Al C. Heer and Jack Alkire, Councilmen Hugh Patton and O'Brien, and industry representative Jack Brennan.

Horace L. Jacobs, 123 Clearview Rd., was appointed to the Zoning Board of Appeals. He will replace Glenn Tatman who is now the building inspector.

During the "Call to Council period", Councilman Ralph Cook asked that two-hour parking be established on

More Watergate questions raised

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, in a speech to the party faithful and financial backers, promises that "the guilty will be brought to justice" in the Watergate scandal. But Senate testimony about high-level involvement in clandestine operations has raised new questions about the strange goings-on.

In a Watergate development earlier in the day, the director of the Central Intelligence Agency told senators that a trusted Nixon adviser, John D. Ehrlichman, smoothed the way for E. Howard Hunt to obtain CIA materials later used in an office burglary.

CIA Chief James L. Schlesinger said the agency didn't know what Hunt's mission was but that giving him the aid was ill-advised, even though Ehrlichman, who gave up his White House post last week, was said to have asked that Hunt receive agency assistance.

Hunt, a one-time CIA employe, has testified he took part in the September 1971 burglary of a Los Angeles psychiatrist's office in an attempt to photograph the doctor's files on Daniel Ellsberg, a defendant in the Pentagon papers trial.

At the time, Hunt was working for the White House as a "security-affairs consultant." Nine months later, he was arrested in the break-in at Democratic headquarters in the Watergate here.

Shortly after the Watergate arrests, Schlesinger said, the CIA gave an account of its dealings with Hunt to top Justice Department officials and Earl J. Silbert, chief prosecutor in the Watergate case.

It is not clear what was done with the information before the CIA's involvement was disclosed by The New York Times this week.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said "it is clear and shocking" that the agency violated the 1947 National Security Act by allowing itself to be used as a "costume house" by White House officials involved in domestic, covert operations.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, indicated he may expand his probe into the affair.

In another development related to the 1972 election, The New York Times today quoted sources as saying a New York grand jury is expected to return indictments today against two former members of Nixon's Cabinet.

The Times said the indictments would be returned against former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, who for a time headed the 1972 Nixon campaign, and former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans, the President's chief fund-raiser.

Scandal dampens GOP fund-raiser

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a personal bid to keep wavering Republicans in line, President Nixon has promised to get to the bottom of the Watergate scandal and continue fighting for his second-term programs.

"I didn't get where I am by ducking tough issues," Nixon told a crowd which paid $1,000 a plate for filet mignon and the President's most spirited defense yet of his embattled administration.

However, planners of the fund-raising affair conceded the proceeds and attendance were far below par and blamed the widening scandal for cooling off donors who chipped in record campaign chests last year.

Nixon warmly praised those who did turn out Wednesday night, and said he and the GOP are still winners.

"This nation, Republicans, Democrats, independents, all Americans, can have confidence in the fact that the new nominee for attorney general, Elliot Richardson, and the special prosecutor he will appoint will have total cooperation from the executive and will get to the bottom of it (the Watergate case) and see to it that all of those who are guilty will be prosecuted and brought to justice," Nixon said.

"We are not going to allow this deplorable incident to deter or detract us from going ahead and achieving the great goals the overwhelming number of Americans elected us to achieve in 1972," he said.

The dinner, which raised money for next year's Republican congressional campaigns, had been expected to bring in $2 million, but the official estimate was that it would "barely scrape by $1 million."

However, committee officials confided privately that the paying attendance might have produced no more than $750,000 to $800,000 gross and as little as $600,000 campaign cash.

This would compare to the $1.3-million minimum raised at past off-year events, and the $6 million raised in one night last fall when Nixon addressed a multi-city hookup of dinners by closed-circuit television.

"I shall always remember this group tonight," Nixon said, "remember that when the going got tough, you hung in there, when the challenge was greatest, you didn't lose your faith.

Senate to delay Richardson vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee appears unlikely to act on Elliot L. Richardson's nomination to be attorney general until he announces his choice as special Watergate prosecutor.

One of the Republican members, Sen. Marlow Cook of Kentucky, said Wednesday "that seems to be the sense of the committee."

The panel continues its questioning of Richardson today.

Richardson, now secretary of defense, told the committee he could name a Watergate prosecutor.

But Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott, also a committee member, said he expects Richardson's choice will be made known before a vote is taken on his nomination.

At the windup of the committee's first day of hearings, the subject had shifted to the break-in at the Los Angeles office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist. Ellsberg is on trial in Los Angeles for releasing the Pentagon papers.

Under questioning by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., Richardson testified that President Nixon never suggested to him that the Justice Department not provide information about the break-in to the California court.

Richardson said the only conversation he had with the President on the subject was a week ago Sunday when Nixon told him he had decided information about the break-in should be made available to the court.

Kennedy's questioning was prompted by a news story that Nixon had urged Richardson and Deputy Atty. Gen. Henry E. Petersen not to provide the information because it might adversely affect national security.

Richardson said this was not so, testifying "no suggestion ever came to me that disclosure should not be made."

Egil Krogh Jr., a former White House aide who headed an operation to try to plug leaks of what was regarded as national-security information, has taken responsibility for directing the break-in in which two convicted Watergate defendants participated.

Ohioans get taste of Watergate

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — Ohio residents may soon get their own taste of Watergate.

Gov. John J. Gilligan says he's been asked to approve a new line of bourbon, vodka and gin for sale at state liquor stores. The brand name is Watergate.

Gilligan says he's not sure how successful the new brand would be, because he hears it causes hangovers.

Schlesinger to become defense chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon picked CIA Director James S. Schlesinger as defense secretary today and added John Connally to his White House staff as a special adviser in moves to plug holes left by the Watergate scandal.

Nixon also abandoned his "super-Cabinet" concept of counselors; promoted William E. Colby to CIA director, and named Pentagon general counsel J. Fred Buzhardt Jr. to his White House staff as a special counsel with "full responsibility in matters relating to the Watergate investigation."

The series of actions to bolster his beleaguered administration were disclosed first by Nixon at a Cabinet meeting, then announced by press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler at a White House news briefing.

The presidential decisions came 10 days after Nixon's closest aides—H. R. Haldeman and John Ehrlichman—and Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst resigned amid a swirl of Watergate developments.

Model legislature begins in Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The 22nd annual Model Legislature sponsored by the Ohio YMCA began here today.

About 400 teenagers were expected to participate in the mock legislative session, which will deal with questions ranging from euthanasia to year-around utilization of schools and teachers.

U. S. 35 segment to close Monday for bridge repair

The Ohio Department of Transportation announced Thursday that a section of U.S. 35 just south of Washington C.H. will be closed for part of next week beginning Monday.

The bridge over Paint Creek will be getting a new deck, and the refurbishing is expected to take approximately three days. The bride is a mile southeast of the city.

The working will be done by a crew from the Fayette County Ohio Department of Transportation garage under the supervision of Gene Fitzpatric.

One possible detour will be to take U.S. 22 to Old Chillicothe Road (entrance to the industrial park) to U.S. 35 south of the repair site.

Ohio House gets lottery commission bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Senate-passed bill which would establish a state lottery commission to draw up a report on conducting a lottery made its way to the floor of the House today.

The House Rules Committee wasted no time Wednesday in putting the bill on the calendar after voters Tuesday approved a constitutional amendment removing a ban on state-run lotteries.

The Senate bill had been in the Rules Committee since April 5. It passed the Senate on March 1 by a 25-1 vote.

Rep. Tom Fries, D-35 Dayton, is expected to handle the bill on the House floor. The sponsor of the lottery bill in the Senate was Sen. Ronald M. Mottl, D-24 Parma. The bill creates a nine-man commission to study lottery operations and to make a recommendation.

Mottl believes that Ohio can be operating a lottery by November now that voters have voiced their approval.

In Wednesday floor sessions the house approved seven bills and sent them to the Senate. Among the bills was one that would grant furloughs to "trustworthy" prison inmates, upon promise to return.

Rep. William L. Mallory, D-23 Cincinnati, sponsor of the measure said, "this bill by no means extends the privilege to every prisoner in the state."

Among the stipulations for a leave is a requirement that a prisoner must have served at least six months of his term, except in the case of a family funeral or fatal illness.

Mallory noted that present law provides for furloughs if the inmate is accompanied by a guard. But experience in other states has shown that inmates properly screened will return to serve out their terms, he said. In the event a prisoner fails to return, he would be charged as an escapee, he added.

Without significant opposition, the House approved proposals to increase the monetary jurisdiction of small claims courts from $150 to $300, require school superintendent certification of claims for state school foundation payments, revise laws for school district transfers and consolidations, excuse delinquent taxes of churches which filed to apply for their exemption, ease requirements for a surviving spouse to claim an estate, and authorize the sale of school and ministerial lands for education financing.

In Senate actions two bills were passed and sent to the House. A bill allowing administrators of workmen's compensation funds to make short-term commercial investments passed by a vote of 30-0.

After some debate the Senate approved 31-1 a bill to allow the state's extension service program to increase its demonstration farms from 15 to 100.

Several urban area representatives objected to the $500,000 to $700,000 expected costs of the program until a member of their own ranks, Sen. Harry Meshel, D-66 Youngstown, took the floor.

"As we have supported measures for urban areas, so should we support similar programs for rural areas," Meshel said. Meshel was one of the bill's sponsors.

Deaths, Funerals

William C. Reese

SABINA — William C. Reese, 87, of Sabina, died at 5:50 p.m. Wednesday in Fayette Memorial Hospital where he had been a patient five days.

A retired farmer, he had resided in Sabina most of his life. His wife, the former Edith Grooms, preceded him in death.

Survivors include five sons, Harley and James of Sabina, Roy of Rt. 1, Sabina, Raymond of Rt. 4, Wilmington, and Paul of Quinton, Va.; nine grandchildren; seven great-grandchildren; a sister and two brothers.

Mr. Reese was a member of the Sabina House of Prayer.

Services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Littleton Funeral Home with the Rev. Dale Watson, officiating. Burial will be in Sabina Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home from 3 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. Friday.

NELLIE O. WENTZ — Services for Miss Nellie O. Wentz, 75, of 310 McElwain St., were held at 1 p.m. Wednesday in the Gerstner - Kinzer Funeral Home with the Rev. Cloyce Copley officiating. Miss Wentz died Sunday.

Pallbearers for burial in the Milledgeville - Plymouth Cemetery were Chester Beverly, Chester Faulkner, Tom Grooms, Burgess Rose, Forest Rhoads and Mason Ellars.

MRS. FLORENCE FAWCETT — Services for Mrs. Florence McNeil Fawcett, 74, of Rt. 3, were held at 3 p.m. Wednesday in the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home with the Rev. Cloyce Copley officiating. Mrs. Fawcett, the widow of Willard Fawcett, died Monday.

Pallbearers for burial in Sabina Cemetery were Ron, Richard and David Purtell, Dennis Anschutz, Loren McNeil and Elton Jenkins.

Dean claims efforts made to stifle him

WASHINGTON (AP) — John W. Dean III said today there is "an ongoing effort to limit or prevent" his testifying fully and freely in the Watergate case and to discredit him personally.

"I have learned from several good friends that there is a concerted effort to 'get me,'" Dean said in a statement issued through an intermediary.

A report published in the New York Times today quoted unnamed Senate and federal investigators as saying the ousted White House counsel has no evidence to link President Nixon to the Watergate affair or its cover-up.

Dean said he was issuing his statement because of the news stories.

"The information contained in these stories is neither complete nor accurate. I have not, and will not, leak my testimony to the media," the statement said.

Dean said "blatant efforts have been made to publicly intimidate me.

"Efforts have been made to prevent me from obtaining relevant information and records; attempts have been made to influence the handling of my testimony by the prosecutors; restrictions have been placed on the scope of my testimony as it relates to the White House."

Last Friday, Dean sent the keys to a bank safe deposit to U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica, saying he had placed classified documents in the box, fearing they would be destroyed.

The White House asked the court Wednesday to return the papers, while retaining copies.

"I seek to get no one, rather I seek to get only the truth," Dean said. "This infamous matter has already lingered too long and done too much damage to the processes of government. It will only end when the truth is told."

Svetlana divorced

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The marriage of Svetlana Stalin to William Wesley Peters has ended in a divorce by default.

Superior Court Judge Lawrence Doyle issued the divorce Tuesday after Mrs. Peters, daughter of the late Russian dictator Joseph Stalin, failed to appear in court.

Community education survey contemplated

A group of local citizens who are interested in a community education program in Washington C. H. met Wednesday to further organize their ideas on the feasibility of such an undertaking.

The group previously had approached the school board to determine whether school facilities might be available for evening classes.

The board at its April 16 meeting had stated that school property could be used if a local group could organize and present a workable program.

The purpose of the meeting Wednesday was to discuss the prospects and potential of such a program and to decide upon a means of determining whether or not there would be sufficient interest throughout the community.

Although it was shown that community education has been a huge success in other areas, it was argued that the assembled group had no way to measure local response.

If there is sufficient interest he would like to see this committee draft a plan for implementing the program to be offered to the community as well as to the school board.

In addition to those persons he knows and contacts, Bartlett said he will be interested in hearing from other local residents who are willing to serve on the committee or attend meetings to offer suggestions or opinions A specific meeting time has not been set, but further information may be obtained by contacting Bartlett at the Area Extension Center (335-2755), 317 S. Fayette St.

KAYE F. BARTLETT, Area Extenstion Agent for Community Resource Development and spokesman for the group, said that he would begin to contact persons who have expressed interest in the past to get their feelings on the subject. He hopes that at least some of these will be interested in forming a committee to determine the amount the community support evening classses might receive.

Superintendent of Schools Edwin Nestor, who was asked to attend the meeting, offered, as encouragement, the response to courses presented by the Dale Carnegie program in recent years. He said the turnout for these courses has been quite good even though the tuition was 10-20 times higher than those anticipated for community classes.

Gary Casey, manager of the Holt-House of Furniture, who attended the most recent Carnegie class, reported that there were 20-25 persons in attendance for the 10-week course to help individuals overcome difficulties in talking to groups. He said that some people who were shy and reserved when the course began were talking freely to the group by the end of the 10 weeks.

Federal strike force joins Commerce agency probe

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The U.S. Justice Department's Cleveland-based organized crime strike force has entered the investigation of the alleged stock sale payoff case related to the Ohio Commerce Department.

David Margolis, attorney in charge of the strike force, said that one attorney has been assigned directly to investigate and another has been assigned to the Columbus U.S. attorney's office because of the complication of the case.

The move was made because of the possibility that public officials were involved in the case.

Margolis said that the investigation had not determined that the alleged bribe was a violation of federal law. He said that must be determined before any evidence will go to the grand jury.

The alleged bribe involves Anthony P. LaFatch and the National Realty Corp., which was seeking approval of a $10 million stock sale by the Ohio Department of Commerce.

LaFatch's Miami, Fla., home was raided by FBI agents April 27 and $50,000 in cash and checks were seized. The Commerce Department approved the sale the same day. LaFatch, who also has a home in Akron, Ohio, has not been charged.

Officials of the National Realty Corp. said they paid the $50,000 to LaFatch in order to get approval of the stock sale.

LaFatch was a minor contributor to Commerce Director Dennis Shaul's unsuccessful campaign in 1971 for mayor of Akron.

Shaul later admitted that he had discussed the stock sale with LaFatch. But added, that he thought at that time that LaFatch was probably interested as a potential investor.

Farm plan puts help on escalator

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Agriculture Committee has approved a farm bill that would cut farm costs to the government when the market is high but boost subsidies when the market is low.

The bill, approved Wednesday, works this way:

It sets an "established price" for wheat, feed grain and cotton amounting to 70 per cent of parity. For dairy products, it would be 80 per cent.

As long as the market price remains at the established price, farmers would get no cash from the government. But if the established price falls below the market price, the government would make up the difference.

The established prices, set at $2.28 a bushel for wheat, $1.53 per bushel for corn and 43 cents per pound for cotton, would be adjusted annually for five years. The set dairy price, which varies for products, will be in effect for only one year.

Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., committee chairman, said the plan would give the administration "the benefit of the doubt."

"If the predictions we have heard about expanded foreign and domestic markets for agriculture come true, it won't cost the taxpayers one thin dime for supplemental payments. However, if the experts miss their predictions, then the government, which would have the major hand in creating any possible crop surpluses, would share the cost of the error with the farmers," Talmadge said.

House votes on war funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House decides today whether to authorize money for U.S. bombing of Cambodia. President Nixon's supporters said the showdown could result in the first House antiwar vote of the Indochina conflict.

Rep. Joe D. Waggonner, D-La., a leader of Southern Democrats who in the past have joined Republicans in support of presidents' war policies, said the coalition favoring the Nixon stand was about five votes short late Wednesday.

"If we were voting right now I think we'd lose," Waggonner said.

The vote was on Nixon's request in a $2.8-billion supplemental money bill for authority to transfer $430 million for military spending, including $150 million for the bombing and other Indochina activities.

Secretary of Defense Elliot L. Richardson said Monday the bombing will continue in an effort to force a Cambodia ceasefire even if Congress rejects the transfer authority.

Democratic leaders of the House and Senate pressed for its rejection anyway, contending it could be construed as approval not only of the Cambodian bombing but of future U.S. steps to try to force a cease-fire.

"I don't want to declare another war with ambiguous language in an appropriation bill," House Speaker Carl Albert said last week.

World grain inadequate

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The world's reserves of grain are reported so low that some areas may face starvation if the coming harvest is poor.

Stocks of wheat and other food grains no longer provide an adequate buffer against crop failure, the Food and Agriculture Organization told the Economic Committee of the U.N. Economic and Social Council on Wednesday.

As a result, FAO is drafting a "minimum world food security" program in which major consuming countries would share with grain-growing countries the responsibility for emergency stockpiling. Director-General Addeke H. Boerma is to unveil the program at the agency's annual meeting in Rome next month.

Ambassador I.A. Akbun of Pakistan said such a program would make maintenance of grain stocks a global responsibility instead of something left to the producing countries and market conditions.

In past years, needy countries have been able to count on huge surpluses in producing countries, mainly the United States and Canada, but FAO Asst. Director-General E.M. Ojala said these surpluses have now disappeared.

"The governments concerned have developed new techniques for adjusting production to demand," he told the economic committee.

He said that even if surpluses reappear, "they will be temporary and undependable as the world's central food reserve in moments of crisis."

Dismissal sought in Ellsberg case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Attorneys for Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo conclude their last arguments today on why they think the charges against their clients should be dismissed before the Pentagon papers trial, now tightly enmeshed with the Watergate scandal, goes to the jury.

U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne has promised that sometime during the day he would make a decision on the defense motion for dismissal based on Watergate and White House involvements in the case.

The defense has been pressing for dismissal ever since it was first revealed that Watergate conspirators E. Howard Hunt and G. Gordon Liddy had masterminded a burglary of the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

Attorneys for Ellsberg and Russo contend government activities uncovered by the judge's two-week probe of tha matter have shown that the defendants' rights to a fair trial were violated.

Asst. U.S. Atty. David Nissen said nothing from the burglary was used by the Justice Department in prosecuting Ellsberg and Russo and that the government's evidence against them has not been tainted. He opposes dismissal of the charges.

But the defense team says it will not be satisfied until it has explanations of all government actions in the matter—including the 10-day delay between the time Watergate prosecutor Earl J. Silbert reported the burglary information and the day it was reported to Byrne.

Four Justice Department officials, including Nissen, filed affidavits with Byrne Wednesday saying they knew nothing about the burglary until the Silbert memo on April 16. But none of the statements mentioned why it took until April 26 to tell Byrne.

The defense team said it considered the affidavits "entirely insufficient" and would keep pressing for a full scale hearing with testimony. Defense attorneys have said they are "actively considering" trying to allege that President Nixon impeded delivery of the memo to the judge.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More scattered showers and thunderstorms can be expected over Ohio today as another cold front moves across the state. The showers are expected to end gradually with temperatures climbing into the 70s again today.

The National Weather Service added that a little cooler weather is likely tonight in most sections with lows ranging from the upper 40s in the extreme northwest to the low 60s in the southeast.

There were some showers and thunderstorms in the state again Wednesday night but most rainfall amounts were light, a quarter inch or less. A brief period of heavy rain at the Canton-Akron Airport was accompanied by wind gusts to 50 m.p.h.

Mild weather is continuing with temperatures at dawn ranging from the upper 50s to the mid 60s. The morning weather chart showed the low pressure centered over Lake Superior with the cold front from Lake Huron through northern Indiana to central Missouri.

This is the front which will move eastward to a line from western New York through southeastern Ohio to western Tennessee by Thursday evening and pushing on east by Friday morning.

As the front continues out of the area mostly sunny weather on Friday will see temperatures a little lower, ranging from the mid and upper 60s in the north to mostly the low 70s in the south.

Stock list goes lower

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices edged lower again today, as Wall Street worried over Mideast oil talks, important labor negotiations and rising steel prices.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 2.76 to 946.27 at noon.

Analysts called the slide a continuation of Wednesday's decline, when the Dow lost nearly 6 points after talks between Western oil companies and Mideast oil countries ended in failure. The halt of crude oil shipments from Lebanon because of fighting there also depressed stock prices.

They were dealt a fresh jolt today when U.S. Steel said it was raising some of its prices by almost 5 per cent.

Compromise REA bill OKd

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has approved a compromise rural electrification and telephone loan bill.

The bill's floor manager, Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., and Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., said after its passage 93-3 Wednesday that they were certain President Nixon would sign it.

Nixon abruptly halted last December the program that permitted rural co-ops to borrow money at 2 per cent interest for electrification and telephone projects.

Under terms of the compromise measure, a limited number of 2 per cent loans would be made available, but most of the loans would carry 5 per cent interest rates.

The bill would make $758 million in insured loans available annually, $618 million for electrification projects and $140 for telephones. Of this amount, $105 million would be for 2 per cent loans in needy cases, and the rest at 5 per cent.

EPA seeks plans for wastewater

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Environmental Protection Agency has ordered the Ohio Power Co. to submit plans of wastewater facilities at the company's Gavin plant within 60 days or face loss of certification for state and federal tax exemptions.

Ohio EPA Director Dr. Ira L. Whitman has sent a letter to the company asking for the wastewater plans and seven additional reports concerning the Gallia County facility's projected effect on air pollution.

Wheat estimates expected to rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department is scheduled to publish today (3 p.m. EDT May 10) an estimate of U.S. winter wheat production this year, including the outlook for per acre yields as of May 1.

Although the first official field estimates for 1973 output of spring-planted wheat are not due until July, the winter wheat figure will give a idea how this year's over-all crop is shaping up.

Last March, when USDA published farm planting intentions for various crops, wheat production this year was projected at a record of 1.732 billion bushels, 12 per cent more than farmers harvested last year and 7 per cent more than the previous high of 1.618 billion in 1971.

The March figure included a winter wheat estimate—actually made last December—of 1.278 billion bushels, which also would be a new high. Projected in March on the basis of expected acreage and yield trends, the 1973 crops of durum and other spring wheat were put at around 454 million bushels.

If in the proportion of 1.7 billion bushels or larger, the 1973 crop of all types of wheat would go a long way in replenishing U.S. supplies. Those reserves, drained off by record exports, are expected to be the lowest in six years when the new crop year begins July 1.

Total exports for the fiscal year ending June 30 are currently put at 1.150 billion bushels, including the sale in 1972 of 440 million to the Soviet Union. Looking ahead to next fiscal year, officials say wheat exports could run about 950 million bushels.

The record exports, topping the old mark of 867 million bushels in 1965-66, will leave a July 1 reserve estimate now at no more than 441 million bushels. A year ago the stockpile was 863 million bushels.

Although Russia is not expected to repeat its big 1972 wheat order from U.S. farmers, administration officials do think the Soviets will continue to buy substantial amounts on the world market.

OMSA names new officers, eyes abortion

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio State Medical Association passed a resolution recommending standards for abortions and elected new officers on the last day of its annual meeting Wednesday.

Dr. James Henry of Grove City was elected president-elect of the organization. Dr. William Wells of Newark will serve as secretary-treasurer for the next year.

Dr. Oscar Clarke of Gallipolis was installed as president of the 10,000-member group at the end of the final meeting.

Clarke is a trustee of the Holzer Hospital Foundation in Gallipolis and has represented his area on the organization's council for the past seven years.

OSMA was founded in 1835 and is made up of 88 county medical societies.

A spokesman for the association said the group has never condoned abortions except when the mother's life was in danger.

He added, however, that in view of the recent Supreme Court ruling, which makes Ohio's anti-abortion law invalid, the association is setting up standards for the operations.

COON DOG — Two 6-week-old raccoons have been adopted by a terrier dog owned by Orval Lunsford of New Holland. The mother of the infants was also owned by Lunsford as a pet, and was killed shortly after the baby raccoons were born. The dog assumed the duties of mother.

Legion election Monday

A list of 24 nominees has been sent to members of Paul H. Hughey Post 25, American Legion, from which they will select 11 for the post's executive committee at an election Monday.

The new executive committee will organize within a few days after the election — possibly that night — to name a post commander and other officers. Ed Warning is the present commander; Hargis Ramey is the adjutant.

Terms of office for the new executive committee and post officers begin with the first regular meeting in June.

Of the 24 nominees, only one, R. Burris Tharp, is a veteran of World War I; 13 of them, William Jaeckels, Norman Moore Sr., Malcolm Jette, Emrum Lynch, Clarence Cash, Weldon Starr, Hargis Ramey, Fred Allen Sr., Roy Sword, Chester Hamulak, Gene Hatfield, George Countryman and Phil Ford, are World War II veterans; and 10, Herb Jones, H. B. Dixon, Danny K. Bell, Gerald Wright, Larry Sword, Kenneth Shaver, Ronald Batson, Fred Osborne, Mike Flynn and Roger Taylor, are veterans of the Korean War.

The polls will be open from 2:30 to 9 p.m. Monday in the Legion Home, 212 N. Fayette St.

Boy Scouts in 'rescue'

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Ohio (AP) — John had been playing in the park and failed to come home. The news interrupted a Boy Scout "Fun Night" at the park and led quickly to a search.

A fire truck, siren blaring, rolled up, and firemen joined the hunt.

Scouts of Troop 72, began combing the park. Firemen were joined by police.

The search was extended to more than a mile from the starting point. Twenty-five minutes later, Tim Haswell and Larry and Ted Newton were shouting, "We found him."

Only then did the Scouts learn that John was only a dummy of stuffed clothing which had been propped against a tree earlier in the day by Scoutmaster David Keppler and his assistants, Tom Yenny and Don Kelly.

The search was exercise to help Scouts learn.

School bus service stops

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — School bus service came to a halt Wednesday at two Cincinnati junior high schools after bus drivers complained of unruly students.

"The students have backed us against the wall, and we're not going to take any more," said Eugene Metz, president of the Amalgamated Transit Union.

"I don't know how they got home today and care less," he said.

Vandalism also reportedly was a factor in discontinuance of service.

Herman V. Bryant, principal of Merry Junior High, said the stoppage came "by mutual agreement between the Cincinnati Transit Co. and the Board of Education."

Opinion And Comment

A tall-l-l tower

The architect who designed the newly "topped out" Sears tower in Chicago thinks of it in lofty terms. "It's part of the history of Chicago architecture," said Bruce J. Graham the other day, "to make poetry out of tall buildings."

Whether or not the Sears tower qualifies as poetry is a matter of taste. No one can deny that it is tall. It is taller than any other structure ever raised by humankind - 104 feet taller than the newly erected twin towers of the World Trade Center of New York, 204 feet taller than that city's famed Empire State Building. Moreover, a couple of 305-foot television antennae will extend its reach into the blue.

This has occasioned a certain amount of civic jubilation in the Windy City, which has long suffered from a bit of an inferiority complex vis a vis what O. Henry called Baghdad on the Hudson.

We're not quite sure jubilation is warranted by this continuance of the skyscraper phenomenon. Sometimes it seems there ought to be a better way of progress than deepening urban stone canyons. But the Sears tower is mighty impressive, granted; there's no getting around that.

Finding sense in Watergate

Practically every commentator who has had anything to say about the Watergate case has remarked on its stupidity. I have done so myself, referring to E. Howard Hunt, James W. McCord, George Gordon Liddy and the rest as political cretins who could only have succeeded in turning up worthless information by bugging the Democratic Party headquarters.

But the alleged connection of the CIA with the burglary of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist, which could have had an intelligent motive, makes one wonder.

Gen. Robert E. Cushman Jr., who, as a CIA employe back in 1971 is supposed to have authorized the use of the agency's equipment and research in the job of lifting the Ellsberg records, cannot by any manner of means be described as stupid.

He was Vice President Nixon's adviser on national security for four years. He served with distinction in Vietnam before Nixon, as President, called him back to Washington to become deputy director of the CIA.

The CIA's charter gives the agency no authority to mix in domestic affairs, but it could be argued that the Pentagon Papers, which Ellsberg had conveniently tossed over the transom of the New York Times, had "foreign" implications.

Conceivably Hanoi might have been waiting with bated breath to read them. CIA complicity in getting a look-see at anything involving the leaking of the papers could have been justified as part of its mandate to protect "intelligence methods and sources from unauthorized disclosure."

E. HOWARD HUNT, one of the ex-CIA members of the Watergate team, had access to a scrambled telephone linked with the CIA. Cushman supposedly made everything easy for Hunt and his accomplice Liddy to deal with the CIA. The whole business makes a sinister but understandable sense: it could have been an instance of the government trying to keep its security tight at a time when Nixon was maneuvering to make deals with the Red Chinese and the Soviet Union to get us out of the Vietnam War.

Richard Helms, who was head of the CIA before Nixon tapped him to serve as ambassador to Iran, has denied that his old agency had anything to do with Watergate. But Hunt and James McCord, as ex-CIA employes, could have regarded themselves as continuing captains of a CIA "spin-off" operation.

Four members of their Watergate team actually thought they were engaged in a CIA fishing expedition. What would justify fishing at the Watergate? Only the supposition that a foreign angle was involved.

The four underlings — and Hunt, McCord and Liddy at the top — could have been listening in to catch attempted foreign manipulation of a major American political party.

This is no excuse for breaking and entry, for burglary, or for conducting electronic espionage at the expense of U.S. citizens without a warrant. But the supposition that Watergate was undertaken as part of a continuing Cold War effort to protect the American republic against the possible connivings of the Communist powers gives it at least a measure of dignity. It supplies an intelligent motive for doing a thing that, on the surface, was a nonsensical act.

HUNT, who served the CIA for 20 years, couldn't have been in the business of the Watergate just to get early access to George McGovern's speaking engagements in Boston or Peoria. He had played his part in the Bay of Pigs abortive invasion of Cuba and in the operation that kept the Communists from taking over the government of Guatemala in 1954.

A veteran of the Cold War, he must have considered himself a silent partner of the CIA when he went to the White House in 1971 to become one of the "plumbers" charged with preventing security leaks. He has said that he "worked closely with the CIA" in trying to stop leaks that had endangered the SALT talks and had "resulted in the extermination of one of our agents in Asia."

If the CIA had anything to do with Watergate, Hunt, as a patriot, could not possibly squeal on his old buddies. That would prejudice our whole intelligence operation.

Regardless of whether there were any formal ties with the CIA or not, Hunt, in his own mind, could have considered that, in the Watergate business, he was doing work he had been trained to do: i.e., counter-intelligence. The only justification for bugging the Watergate would have been to find out what foreign agents were doing to influence an American election.

Few Chinese aware of Watergate

PEKING — President Nixon's finest hour was when he came to Peking in February 1972 to end 20 years of isolation from the world's most populous nation.

A spectacular performance on television, it was meant not as an end in itself but as the first step in a renewal of the close relationship that had once existed. In short, it was a new turn in the long love affair between the United States and China.

That is important to recall in light of the disaster to the Nixon Administration. For the Chinese, in receiving the President and reversing the propaganda so long targeted on the wicked imperialist, put a far greater stake on the ultimate outcome than did the United States.

My wife and I had been in China for 36 hours before we learned of the President's dramatic appeal to the nation and the housecleaning of top officials. Then we got the news from a fellow American who had still been in Hong Kong when the story broke.

Not a word in any Chinese newspaper or on the state radio, it was a striking commentary on the difference between the two social orders.

AT THE VERY top, to be sure, the full text of the President's address came by short-wave shortly after it was delivered. Excerpts from the address and a report of the events of that dramatic night were contained in a private semi-official letter going out to the cadres in the provincial capitals throughout the country.

This would have a circulation of something more than five million. Add another several million with transistor radios capable of picking up short-wave broadcasts on BBC or the Voice of America and the total would be perhaps one per cent of the 800 million Chinese.

For that one per cent the future of an administration in Washington with 3½ years still in office is supremely important. This is not alone for the mutual benefits that can flow between the two countries but for the peace of the entire world.

THE NIXON-KISSINGER structure of peace is three-cornered. China, the United States and the Soviet Union are in relationship of tension eased by common compromise. The American weight in this three-cornered structure is essential in view of the deep-seated hostility between the People's Republic and the Soviet Union. Without that weight the structure of peace would be jeopardized if indeed it would not fall.

The Nixon promise of a generation of peace is in question. The credibility of the government in Washington is essential to carry through the great undertaking in foreign policy that was the achievement of the first four Nixon years. To lose this in a prolonged and venomous domestic quarrel would be the ultimate tragedy.

Fortunately, there is ongoing movement. The arrival of David K.E. Bruce, America's most distinguished diplomat, next week to open a liaison mission will mark the beginning of a new phase in the rebuilding of confidence between the two powers.

PEKING, in turn, is sending their No. 1 diplomat, Huang Chang, until recently ambassador to France, to Washington. A delegation of Chinese journalists will shortly go to the United States. They will be accompanied by officials of the information division of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and presumably their impressions will be recorded in the carefully controlled official press.

Trade negotiations between Washington and Peking are very much to the fore. The visitor arriving in the immediate aftermath of the Watergate upheaval is invariably asked what effect it will have on American policy. Will America now go isolationist?

These questions are understandable in a country where the cultural revolution produced a trauma accentuated by the overthrow of Mao Tse-tung's heir apparent, Lin Piao, and the "unmasking" of the traitorous Liu Shao-chih. The Chinese have endured so much of shock and upheaval that they can hardly be surprised that disasters occur even in the seat of government of one of the superpowers.

The Red Cross campaign in Fayette County closed with the goal of $9,125 surpassed by $456.65, Charles A. Fabb, campaign chairman, announced.

All six of the small frame houses built with an allocation by the state for rental by World War II veterans were occupied.

Mayor V.J. Dahl announced that the old "hot dog wagon" had been ordered to move from the Courthouse lawn and that the "express wagons" (horsedrawn) had been ordered to move from their stand on Main Street between Court and Market streets to another location because the street is to be striped for automobiles.

An outing was held by the Dutch Treat Club on the Dill farm, Jeffersonville Rd. Hays Dill was the chairman.

Hal Boyle . . .

Onions rise in status

By JOY STILLEY

Editor's Note: Hal Boyle is ill.

NEW YORK (AP) — I have always cried when I peel onions.

These days I cry when I buy them.

That once lowly vegetable, scribbled nonchalantly on the grocery list and thrown carelessly into the shopping cart, is now a major purchase, to be budgeted for along with next winter's coat.

With its sudden rise in price the onion has also undergone a rise in status.

Talk around the afternoon bridge table is no longer confined to a discussion of the latest couturier creation picked up at that expensive boutique. A casually dropped mention that it's time to go home and fix onion soup for supper is what really wins instant respect.

So what if the customer ahead of you in the supermarket checkout line ostentatiously places a pound package of ground chuck on the counter with an extravagant shrug? You can practice one-upmanship by arranging the groceries so that the three-pound bag of onions proclaims who is really in the affluent class.

On second thought, maybe you should forget the pretentious display of solvency and strike up a friendship with a view to matrimony — the joining of both your purchase in a heavenly union of hamburger with onion.

After spending a lifetime munching on breath mints and talking with my mouth closed to make certain nobody knows I've been eating onions, I suddenly find it's an ego trip to make sure everyone within nose-shot is aware that I have the sweet smell of financial success.

Where in the past a pound of the little bulbs would last so long that they started sprouting tiny green shoots and rotting forlornly away from lack of attention, now every recipe I tackle contains onions as one of its main ingredients.

Whatever the variety of onion — yellow, white, red, purple — they're all worth their weight in gold.

No matter that there's a run in my last pair of stockings. Who cares if the landlord mutters threateningly about overdue rent? Forget about the good movie I've been wanting to see at the corner theater.

Man does not live by bread alone. I'm going to have steak and onions with mine — I just got my paycheck.

Ex-head bookkeeper named in charges

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The former head bookkeeper at the Portage National Bank in Kent was arrested Wednesday and charged with embezzling about $22,000, according to the FBI.

Dorothy Faith Parks, 34, allegedly embezzled the money from May, 1968, to March 1973, according to Frederick C. Fehl, special agent in charge of the Cleveland FBI office.

3 new lakes open for Ohio fishermen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Three new lakes will be opened this month to be used exclusively for fishing, the Division of Wildlife announced Wednesday.

They are Snowden Lake in Athens County, opening May 12, Kokosing Lake in Knox County, May 23, and Beaver Creek Reservoir in Seneca County, May 24.

Dear Abby:

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Don't take a vote to evade responsibility

DEAR ABBY: My mother has been a very sick woman for a year and a half. Her doctor says she could last another year, or die tomorrow. Half the time she doesn't even know me.

My husband and I have put off taking any kind of vacation ever since mother's illness, and we really must get away. My question: Should we go? I'm afraid if we go, mother might die, and we'll have to turn around and rush home.

I've asked our minister and he said we should go — but not too far. I've asked my mother-in-law and she said we shouldn't go at all. My best friend, who's a registered nurse, said we should go and take our chances. The doctor refuses to give me a yes or no. My husband says it's up to me.

What do you say, Abby?

HAVE A PROBLEM

DEAR HAVE: You have another problem: You want someone else to make the decision and accept the responsibility for it. So far you've polled the doctor, your minister, your mother-on-law, your best friend, you husband-and now me. Make your own decision, and accept full responsibility for it.

DEAR ABBY: I have been going around with this man for 6½ years. At one time we talked of marriage, but he asked that we postpone it because his mother was going through a divorce and he was quite upset about it.

Now, he tells me he thinks he is also in love with someone he met at work. He says he has never gone out with her, but they've had coffee a few times.

I love this man and want to marry him, but I can't think clearly now. How do you figure this?

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: I figure that 6½ years is long enough for him to make up his mind about marrying you. And if he could fall in love with a girl he's had only coffee with a few times, I'd like to know what kind of coffee it was. Tell him to get lost before he tells you to, which is probably what he has in mind.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 24-year-old college student. I'm also an alcoholic.

I just want to let kids know that they don't have to be over 30 and on skid row to qualify as an alcoholic. Alcoholicism is a disease that makes no distinctions in a person's age.

If teen-agers or young adults think they have a drinking problem and want to help themselves, please tell them to contact Alcoholic Anonymous. It is a wonderful organization of marvelous, understanding people who try to help each other.

Since I became a member two years ago it has helped me tremendously. Not only am I sober, I have been able to help others. It has been a lifesaving experience for me. Thank you for letting me share this.

YOUNG ALCOHOLIC

DEAR YOUNG: And thanks for wanting to.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MY READERS: Remember your mother next Sunday with a bouquet of flowers. (And if you're adopted, send her TWO bouquets.)

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, May 10, the 130th day of 1973. There are 235 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1869, a golden spike was driven at Ogden, Utah, marking the completion of the first railroad across the United States.

On this date—

In 1479, the Italian navigator, Amerigo Vespucci, sailed on his first voyage to the new world.

In 1775, Ethan Allen and a company of Vermont militiamen — the Green Mountain Boys — captured Ft. Ticonderoga, in New York, from the British.

In 1865, during the Civil War, Union forces captured Confederate President Jefferson Davis at Irwinville, Ga.

In 1871, France ceded Alsace-Lorraine to Germany after the Franco-Prussian War.

In 1940, during World War II, German forces invaded Belgium, Holland and Luxemburg.

In 1941, the Nazi leader, Rudolf Hess, parachuted into Scotland in a private attempt to make peace in World War II.

Ten years ago: Pope John XXIII accepted the Balzan Peace Prize. It was the first time that a Roman Catholic pontiff had received a peace award.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Advertising Federation, whose members include national advertisers and ad agencies, thinks CBS News gave the business of TV commercials a bad image—and right on television, too.

So now it's asking the network to "consider an appropriate vehicle in which to present points of view that balance those expressed" April 26 in a CBS-TV documentary called "You and the Commercial."

The AAF made the request in a two-page letter its president, Howard Bell, sent to Richard Salant, president of CBS News.

In the letter, the AAF said there was a "lack of fairness and objectivity" in the show's study of TV commercials; it also complained that the "general treatment and emphasis of the program was to portray advertising as a con game."

It said that although advertising spokesmen were interviewed on the show, "there was no opportunity to respond to the one-sided opinions expressed by others on such critical matters as counter-advertising, social impact and economic value."

Salant, who said he got the letter Monday, declined to publicly comment right now on its charges. He said he felt that Bell, "as an old friend of mine, is entitled to first word of my reply."

He said he would write Bell this week and respond both to the letter's complaints and request for time to "balance" what the AAF considered to be "one-sided opinions" expressed on the unsponsored show.

The two-page letter nowhere asked for the time under the Federal Communications Commission's "fairness doctrine."

"We haven't faced that yet," said Jonah Gitlitz, executive vice president of the Washington-based AAF. "We're waiting to see what kind of response we get."

Gitlitz, whose group has a total membership of 450 major advertisers, advertising agencies and media companies, said the AAF wasn't specifying how CBS should let the ad industry express its views.

CBS' unprecedented documentary about TV commercials drew a few disgruntled harrumphs from advertising agency officials right after it was broadcast, but no official complaints until the AAF's letter.

A CBS spokesman this week said there still have been no formal gripes about the show from either advertisers or ad agencies. He said none have threatened to withdraw their advertising from CBS, either.

Until the AAF's letter, the strongest industry growl had been a bitter editorial in the April 30 edition of "Advertising Age," a magazine widely read by advertising men and women.

The editorial described "You and the Commercial" as "as unfair and slanted as any program we have seen in a long time. Not a single 'good' commercial was shown...."

Human guinea pig enjoys work

SEATTLE (AP) — David Cargo, 22, is a University of Washington senior in mathematics. He works as a computer operator. And he's one of the most popular human guinea pigs around.

In the past two years, he has popped pills, smoked marijuana, swallowed lengths of rubber tubing and been poked, pinched, prodded and examined—all for about $500.

"It was fairly easy money. It helped pay the rent," he said

Another reason is curiosity, he said. And as a fringe benefit, "for most of the past couple of years, I've had one doctor or another looking over my health very, very carefully."

His first experiment paid $5 and was required for credit in a beginning psychology class. He had to maneuver a ball through a tilting maze, estimating before each attempt how far he thought he could get the ball to go.

His next job was drinking dissolved sugar at 30-minute intervals over a two-hour period while researchers took blood samples to see how fast the sugar was being absorbed by his body. He got $30 for that.

But what really sold him on selling himself as a guinea pig was when he was paid $20 for smoking a single marijuana cigarette.

"They did have people in the study who had been stoned before," Cargo said. "They wanted to test whether having one person who had been stoned before affected the people smoking the dope."

Another project paid $111 for Cargo to wear "nylon-like underwear, just like the Apollo astronauts used" to control his skin temperature while he was inside a device that forced his blood into his legs.

The purpose was to find out if "you should cover a shock victim and keep him warm," he said.

He now is taking four colchicine pills daily in a test to see if the compound, long used in treating gout, is effective as a male contraceptive.

The grackle, a long-tailed bird, is widely known as the crow blackbird.

Ohio Perspective

Medical services plan proposed

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A new medical profession to provide services between nursing and full medical care is contemplated in a bill pending in the Ohio House.

Rep. Patrick J. Sweeney, D-6 Cleveland, introduced the bill on his own, he said, in an effort to make medical services more readily available and to cut spiraling costs.

"I think this bill offers at least a partial solution to a very serious problem," he said. "The idea is to authorize something like the paramedics in the military—people who can perform a task like putting on a split without charging something like $200."

The Clevelander's bill calls for the new professionals to be licensed by the State Medical Board. Standards would include one year's education under a physician's supervision.

The board would adopt standards to assure that the "health and welfare" of patients would not be endangered.

The board also would be required to formulate guidelines for physicians to follow in the employment of an "interceptor"—the term used in the legislation to define an applicant for an assistant physician's license.

The bill demands that an applicant must be 21 years old and "of good character." Sweeney said he anticipated that the program would attract paramedics leaving military service.

No physician could employ more than two interceptors at a time for training to do specific jobs in the fields of pediatrics, internal medicine, surgery, obstetrics, general practice, and "such others that might be approved by the board."

Sweeney said the legislation creates a Health Manpower Advisory Commission to give examinations for an assistant physician's license. The board would include a broad cross section of medical services representatives.

They would include representatives of the medical board, the Department of Health, and the Department of Education along with one doctor, one registered nurse, and one physician's assistant when at least 10 have been employed.

Sweeney said he still is sounding out various medical professionals. The Ohio State Medical Association is one that he had not contacted.

"I'm still doing my research," he said.

Charles Edgar, public relations official of the OSMA, said "we're aware of the bill. We're studying it."

'India's women's wear' Lutheran M-D dinner theme

Mrs. Jane Richardson, of Cleveland, a free-lance writer, lecturer and photographer, presented a most interesting program following a carry-in dinner held in Good Shepherd Lutheran Church Tuesday evening.

The program centered around "India's women's wear" and featured authentic costumes which she brought to the United States from India to represent the many geographical areas of that country. Mothers and daughters modeled the costumes in the Style Show.

Mrs. Richardson showed outstanding movies of India following the Style Show, showing the mud huts to palaces which she has visited.

Those modeling were Mrs. Donna Cotner, a Rajastani (summer sari); Mrs. James Carter, Rajastani (winter sari); Mrs. Ed Bramblett, Manipuri; Mrs. Ralph Gebhart, Tibetan baku; Mrs. Diane Murphy, Lombardi; Gloria Angus, Katak; Linda Burrall, Kashmir; Elaine Puckett, Punjabi; and Leora Burge, Bharata Hatyam.

Tables were centered with miniature bud vases with strawberries, with matching napkins and the program booklets featured strawberries on the covers. Mrs. Cotner, Mrs. Jack Ferguson and Mrs. Stanley Graumlich were on the committee.

Mrs. Hilbert Meyer gave the welcome and devotions and a tribute to Mothers and Daughters was made by Mrs. James Puckett and Miss Elaine Puckett. Mrs. Elmer Burrall was chairman of the program and the executive committee were hostesses.

Awards were presented by Mrs. Graumlich to Mrs. Elvina Meyer, for being the oldest mother present; to Mrs. Dick Borrison for having the most daughters and the youngest daughter present; Mrs. Meyer and Mrs. C. E. Wright, for having the most grandchildren; and Mrs. Cora Fennig, who wore lavender.

There were approximately 75 present.

Conchemco, Inc. dinner dance well attended

The LaFayette Inn formed the setting for a dinner-dance held by Conchemco Inc. of Sabina, Friday evening. Guests enjoyed a cocktail hour and a smorgasbord dinner before dancing to the music of Bill Smith Sound Trio from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Immediately following the dinner, Don Bailey, general manager, introduced special guests: Don Techentien, president of Conchemco's Homes Group, and Bill Warrick, regional vice-president for the Homes Group. Mr. Bailey expressed his deep appreciation to the department heads, production foreman, salesmen, and office personnel for a great team effort in the past 12 months. Because of this effort the Sabina plant achieved one million dollars in sales for the month of April. This is a tremendous accomplishment for any plant but especially for one as new as the Sabina operation. The department heads and wives were then introduced. They are: Mr. and Mrs. Ken Calendine, controller) Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gentry, production manager; Mr. and Mrs. Ron Hoxsie, materials manager; and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stoughton, sales manager.

Mr. Stoughton then introduced representatives of Dannies Mobile Homes and expressed thanks for their support in the million dollar effort. Present were: Mr. and Mrs. Dannie DeVol, president and chairman of the Board of Dannies; Mr. John DeVol, executive vice-president; and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ferguson, vice-president of sales in Ohio, Indiana, and Kentucky. Other members of the Dannies group included: Mrs. Paul Newman, Mr. and Mrs. Al Honald, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hill.

Mr. Ferguson told the group of his faith in the outstanding quality of the Nashua and Governor lines and expressed gratitude for the fine product produced at the Conchemco plant.

Mr. Bailey then presented tokens commemorating the million dollar month to the department heads, foreman, salesmen, and office personnel. Plaques were presented to Mr. DeVol for the Dannies Home Office in Lancaster. Mr. Techentien in turn presented the Sabina plant a plaque which will serve as a remembrance of the fact that the Sabina plant was the first in the history of the company to have a million dollar sales month.

Salesmen and wives present were: Mr. and Mrs. Bill Atsalis, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Lichtenberger, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Forbes, Chuck Winkle and date Miss Mary Lou Adams, King Carter and Mike Collins. ## 'International smorgasbord' Welcome Wagon Club theme

"International Smorgasborg" was the theme chosen for the Welcome Wagon Club installation dinner, held Tuesday evening in Grace United Methodist Church.

Miss Claudia Becht, AFS student from West Germany, was the guest speaker for the evening. She gave a very informative talk about her country and its traditions. She also showed slides of her hometown and resort places nearby. She said if she could take one particular thing from the U.S. back to her country, it would be the popular hamburger quick-service restaurants. Miss Becht was then presented a gift from the club.

The dinner was in keeping with an international theme. Prior to the dinner, Mr. Ron Pohlman gave the devotions. Each member brought a covered dish from another country. Some of the recipes represented were: Lasagna, Swedish meatballs and cabbage rolls, German potatoe salad, cake. The centerpiece for the table was a collection of German mugs and an arrangement of fresh cut flowers. arrangement of fresh cut flowers.

Following the dinner, the new officers for 1973 were installed by Mrs. Gary Casey, Welcome Wagon hostess, and Mrs. George Spilker, assistant hostess. Each new officer lighted a pastel-colored candle symbolic of her office. As a memento from the club, the new officers presented the out-going officers with an engraved charm for the service they rendered. Mrs. Lyle Paul, past president, bestowed Mrs. Ron Hall with the presidential gavel. Other new officers are: Mrs. Mike Bailo, first vice president; Mrs. Larry Moran, second vice president; Mrs. Kenneth Shaver, recording secretary; Mrs. Jack Marti, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Larry Forbes, treasurer; and Mrs. Larry Joseph, historian. Past officers were: Mrs. Robert Engle, Mrs. Mike Bailo, Mrs. Ron Pohlman, Mrs. Charles Edwards, Mrs. Charles Bowersox, and Mrs. Ron Kemplin.

Mrs. Spilker gave Mrs. Casey a "thank you" gift in appreciation for her work this past year as hostess.

Those members and husbands present were: Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Paul, Mr. and Mrs. George Spilker, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Pohlman, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Casey, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Kemplin, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Joseph, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Le Van, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Rich, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Moran, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Bailo, Mr. and Mrs. John Gruber, Mrs. Larry Forbes, Mrs. Russell Whiting, Mrs. Charles Edwards, Mrs. Kenneth Shaver, and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Polson.

Miss Callender completes wedding plans

Final plans have been made for the open-church wedding of Miss Myckki Lynn Callender and Thomas Ray Parsley. The Rev. Donald Baker will perform the double-ring ceremony at 2:30 p.m. Saturday in First Christian Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Callender, Dennis St., are the parents of the bride-elect. Mr. Parsley is the son of Mrs. Walter C. Parsley, 505 Van Deman St., and the late Mr. Parsley.

A half-hour of nuptial music will precede the wedding ceremony with Mrs. Wayne Spengler, organist.

Miss Callender has asked Miss Cathy Ann Massie to be maid of honor. Bridesmaids will be Mrs. Terry Kelso, of Cannonsburg, Pa., sister of the prospective groom, and the Misses Jeri Maust, of Takoma Park, Md., Rebecca Joy Callender, a sister of the bride-elect, and Robin Page Brakeall.

The flower girls will be little Stacy Beth Kelso and Samantha Jayne Bennett, cousins of the couple.

Christopher Todd Callender, brother of the bride-elect will be the ringbearer. Bret Douglas and Brian Dorsey Longberry will light the candles.

Walter L. Parsley, of Indianapolis, Ind., will serve as best man for his brother. Seating the wedding guests will be Terry Kelso, Dennis Caplinger, of Columbus, and Douglas Alan White, of Washington C. H.

Hostesses for the reception in the social room of the church following the ceremony will be Mrs. Robert Maust, Mrs. Buckner Burbage and Mrs. David Lee Williams, all of Washington C. H., and Mrs. Walter L. Parsley and Mrs. Thomas Hixon, of Greenfield, Miss Linda Spengler, of Bloomingburg, Miss Joyce Armintrout and Miss Terri Wright.

Miss Jane Callender, a cousin, will preside at the guest book.

Engaged

MISS KRIS CROSS

Mr. and Mrs. Cris Cross, of New Holland, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Kristi Ann to Philip Loren Sannes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence R. Sannes, of North Canton.

Miss Cross is a graduate of Miami Trace High School and attended Bowling Green State University. She is presently enrolled at Ohio State University, majoring in dance performance.

Mr. Sannes, a graduate of North Canton Hoover High School and of Ohio State University. He is now working on his doctorate degree in antatomy in the College of Medicine at OSU.

The wedding will be an event of Sept. 8.

Mary Guild holds meeting

Ten members of the Mary Guild of First Christian Church assembled at the church for a meeting, and each present name her favorite poem.

Devotions were presented by Mrs. Orpha Willia, who spoke of Mary, mother of James and Joses. Mrs. Milbourne Flee gave the Lesson Study of Bathsheba, from The Women of the Bible. She also read the Books of the Bible, Second Samuel, Pslams and Kings.

Cheercards were signed to the ill. Mrs. Zoe Follis and Mrs. Esther Edwards presented reports.

A donation was made to the Sunlight Chorus of the church.

During the social hour Mrs. Allen Sells and Mrs. Clark Gossard were hostesses.

THANKS FOR YOUR SUPPORT

Our Spring Clothing Training was a great success thanks to those of you who traveled to McDowell School near Circleville for this Pickaway, Ross, and Fayette County event. Over 175 persons had the opportunity to hear the latest fashion and fabric news from our Extension Clothing Specialist, Norma Deyo. Our own Lynda Purcell of the Sew-Sew Shop did a very professional job in demonstrating the Chanel Knit Trim. Other construction demonstrations included Invisible Zippers and Fusible Interfacings.

AGING CONFERENCE

Virginia Essman, Lillian Schneider, Ruth Smith, Edith Howard, Edna Naylor and myself actively involved ourselves in the workshops on meals, housing, center programs, and transportation during the District Conference on Aging, Monday, April 30th. at the Trinity Lutheran Parish House in Circleville. The 43-source people shared many ideas with us present and actively involved us in the sessions. To those of us who spent so many months in finding the "how to" for setting up a Meals on Wheels program, direct guidelines for program development was greatly appreciated. The 77 persons present from Fayette, Pickaway, and Fairfield Counties also had an opportunity to ask individual questions of representatives about volunteer services, social security, health, and consumer protection.

Prompt registration is needed for you to be included in the "Horizons for Women" continuing education program being sponsored May 16 and 17 on the Ohio Dominican College Campus, 1216 Sunbury Road, Columbus, Ohio.

Ohio State Extension and Ohio Dominican faculty members and other Central Ohio leaders will be speakers and panelists for the curriculum which lists ten classes including color for homes, today's foods, fashions, art judgement, consumer protection and women's changing role in the church. Cost for two classes and one of the five mini-lessons on grooming, furniture, wardrobes, sewing or food shopping is $10.00 which includes lunch both days. Call 335-1150 if you are interested. The cost for one day participation is $7.00.

ALL WORN OUT

On sunshiny days, it's easy to blame that tired feeling on spring fever! But perhaps you're really concerned about feeling so tired so often.

There are two kinds of fatigue. Are you so tired that it's hard just to stand up straight? Do you lie down often? Are you clumsy, uncoordinated? Perhaps there's a physical cause for your fatigue, sometimes called "tired blood". Do you feel anxious or worried? Can't concentrate? Uninterested in what's happening? Apt to be forgetful, nervous? Then you may have weakened motiviation or "tired spirit"!

Many factors play a part in fatigue — work, physical condition, stress, attitudes and environment. It's easy to see why overwork or a poor physical condition may cause fatigue. Some self-questioning may help you pinpoint other problems.

Do you feel competent, able to handle life's demands? Stress occurs when you feel unable to cope with demand and when you are afraid of failing. Do you suffer from "underload"? Work that is dull and boring may cause you to seek extra work! What about your working environment? External factors such as excessive noise may add to your tiredness.

A chronic feeling of fatigue does need attention. First, see a doctor to find out if there is any physical reason for that third feeling. Then, try these measures. Develop a daily work-rest cycle that fits your needs and activities. Get enough sleep, and establish a definite schedule of physical exercise or sports.

Most important, learn to know youself. Be alert to what causes your fatigue. Try to eliminate conditions that cause excessive stress, anxiety, or boredom. Some experts believe that fatigue is largely a result of internal conflict and frustration.

'Mothers of America' Comrades meeting topic

Comrades of the Second Mile met with Mrs. Willard Bitzer with Mrs. Darrell Coil, Mrs. Frank Slager, and Mrs. Richard Thompson assisting hostesses.

Mrs. Gilbert Biddle, president, read the poem "The Attic" for the opening.

The highlight of the evening was the program presented by Mrs. Donald Mossbarger whose topic was "Mothers of America." She chose mothers whose lives were "saved in action" such as the mothers of Orville and Wilbur Wright, J.C. Penney, Mayo brothers, Dwight Eisenhower and John Kennedy.

The "Around the World Picnic" planned for June 12 with Mrs. Rex Bloomer as hostess, was discussed. Recipes from other countries were distributed.

Members will attend a "Tecumseh Drama" production sometime this summer at Sugarloaf Mountain Amphitheater, Chillicothe, and reservations will be taken at the June meeting.

Others present were Mrs. Dale Thornton, Mrs. Hugh LaFollette, Mrs. Loren Noble, Mrs. Rex Bloomer, Mrs. Frank Allen, Mrs. W. P. Noble, Mrs. Dan Thompson, Mrs. Howard Foster, Mrs. Willard Bloomer, Mrs. Alice Cory, Mrs. Biddle, Mrs. Donald Denen and a guest, Miss Ruth A. LaFollette.

ESA dance attracts many

"The Wonderful World of Mexico" was the theme for the annual spring benefit dance held by Epsilon Sigma Alpha Chapters in the Mahan Building. Top Brass, of Columbus, played for dancing by the 300 guests.

All proceeds from the dance will go toward the purchase of a piece of equipment for Memorial Hospital.

The three chapters participating were Alpha Theta, Beta Omega and Delta Rho. Alpha Theta was in charge of decorations: Beta Omega, publicity, prizes, securing the place and the band; and Delta Rho publicity and refreshments.

Mahan Hall looked like Mexico throughout. The entrance had a cactus, rock garden and a bridge which guests used. All walls were decorated with Mexican signs and the tables held brightly colored Mexican flowers and candles. The bandstand was decorated also with large baskets of flowers.

During the intermission, prizes and pinatas were presented.

VFW Auxiliary holds meeting

Twelve members were present for the Burnett - Ducey Post 4964 and Auxiliary meeting held in the VFW Hall, W. Elm St., Monday. Mrs. Ambers Conley conducted the meeting in the absence of Mrs. John Hiser, who is a patient in Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Lela Campbell was acting chaplain.

Correspondence was read and the charter was draped for the late Mrs. Sarah Merriman. The Auxiliary expressed gratitude to all who purchased Buddy poppies from the last weekend. All proceeds go toward aiding the veterans.

Memorial Day services will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday, May 27, at Highlawn Memory Gardens by Post and Auxiliary members. The firing squad will consist of Post members. The speaker will be the Rev. Allen Puffenberger, associate pastor of Grace United Methodist Church.

The next meeting will be May 21 in the VFW Hall. Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Conley and Mrs. Cloyce Copley.

Mrs. Jess Whitmer and Mrs. Clark Rumer served refreshments and Mrs. Rumer won the door prize.

Homebuilders class

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hidy welcomed the Homebuilders Class of the Madison Mills United Methodist Church to their home for the meeting. Mrs. Dwight King presented two piano solos for the opening and Mrs. Ralph Hays conducted devotions. She read from "The Power of Positive Thinking" by Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, and three poems by Helen Steiner Rice entitled "Meditation," "What is a Mother?" and "Fathers are Wonderful People." Mrs. Lester Haines also read the 100th Psalm.

The birthday of Mrs. Leland Dorn was acknowledged, and Mrs. H.W. Melvin conducted a Bible quiz.

Mrs. Hys assisted Mrs. Hidy in serving refreshments to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barrett, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Benner, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Dorn, Mrs. A.E. Dawson, Mr. and Mrs. Haines, Mr. and Mrs. King, Mrs. Melvin, Mrs. Homer Wilson and the Rev. Frank A. White.

Small Business Week devoted to 'little man's' problems, solutions

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Attempting to improve an environment they feel should be more friendly, many businessmen next week observe Small Business Week, appropriately enough in Washington, close, they feel, to both problem and solution.

There are, by all reliable estimates, between five million and eight million small businesses in America today, employing 44 per cent of all employes and producing 37 per cent of the Gross National Product.

From their point of view, these small, independently owned businesses form the bacbone of many American towns and small cities, providing jobs, taxes, and leadership. They feel also that they are the spiritual guardians of innovation and invention.

You might also say that they keep their bigger cousins supplied. General Motors, largest manufacturer of all, depends upon 26,000 suppliers, 64 per cent of which employ less than 100 people, and 89 per cent less than 500.

But small business, so obvious to the eye wherever you go, is afraid of being perpetually eclipsed, shadowed by big business, which grows bigger and perhaps less representative of "business" each year.

What's good for big business isn't always so for smaller companies. In fact, says Lewis A. Shattuck, an especially clear articulator of its views, "there is some doubt that some businessmen ever would have gone into business if the same environment today existed 10 to 20 years ago."

Shattuck is executive vice president of the Smaller Business Association of New England, for 30 years one of the most active small-business groups, and formulator of a presentation to be presented to congressmen May 16.

Joining in the presentation this year are the Independent Business Association of Wisconsin, and the Smaller Manufacturers Council, Pittsburgh, and other groups from Ohio and New York. More are expected to join next year.

One of the four major proposals to be presented concerns paper, the usage of which once was supposed to suggest the advanced stage of society but which now threatens to clog government, the stock market, small business and other institutions.

"We ask for recognition of the fact that the paperwork requirement thrown on small business by the federal government is in some cases the extra margin that threatens to drive a small business under," SBANE states.

"The average small-businsss man spends some 200 hours a year completing forms, calculating and paying his taxes, and responding to various government questionaires," the presentation continues. The moral: Cut the paperwork.

Cut taxes, too say the small businessmen

"If a hypothetical small business earned exactly $100,000, its present taxes would amount to $41,500," the businessmen state, arguing that such a bite causes financing problems for businesses seeking to expand.

"If the surtax exemption were to be raised to $100,000," they continue, "that same small business would then pay income taxes of only $22,000, giving it a 33.5 per cent increase in after-tax income."

The businessmen support adoption of a proposal by Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., which would retain the present 22 per cent normal rate on pretax income up to $100,000, rather than raising it after the first $25,000.

The two other major issues on the minds of the businessmen as they prepare their visit to Washington are procurement and representation.

PROCUREMENT — Small business feels its position is eroding, and wants assurance that it will have a fair opportunity to bid on the $55 billion annual federal procurement budget.

REPRESENTATION — There is a strong feeling that small-business men must be more strongly represented in government's decision-making mechanisms, and that its talents should be more effectively utilized on task forces, advisory boards and the like.

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FRIDAY, MAY 11

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

A favorable day for routine affairs, but care needed in financial matters. Don't speculate or gamble in any way.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Job affairs are likely to conflict with personal desires, but accept the situation for the present. It will pay off later.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

A good day for consultations with influential persons, experts in all lines. But only consult. Sign nothing yet. More details will have to be straightened out.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Your judgment a bit "cloudy." Optimism may be coloring your outlook, so postpone making important decisions until a more propitious period.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

As with Cancer, some caution needed. Ambition could cause you to take unnecessary risks. Curb for the moment.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

A most fortunate day for personal plans and ambitions. Your intuition at a peak. Don't hesitate to back your hunches.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

A stimulating day, but don't let your enthusiasms cause you to take on more than you can handle. Easy does it!

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Curb inclinations toward extravagance. If you overspend on credit or impulse buying now, you'll regret it later.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Like Scorpio, you, too, should watch your wallet. Not only may you feel reckless, financially, but there are some who would take advantage of your innate generosity.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Good will built up in the past will prove an invaluable asset now. You gain added status and importance in several areas.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Your imagination stimulated, but don't go to extremes in anything. Be especially careful on the social front where you COULD overtax yourself.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

An inspiring day for romance and creative activities. In the latter connection, an avocation may prove to have remunerative value.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a wealth of talents and traits with which to lead a most successful and happy life. You are ideally suited to the fields of law, medicine, art, music, literature and horticulture. Also, with your inherent love of tradition, you could excel as an archeologist or historian; would also make an excellent teacher along these lines. If you do not choose art or music (at which you are particularly adept) as a career, either one, avocationally, could act as a fine outlet for your love of beauty, your imagination and idealism. Travel should please you immensely, but you are always happy to return home, where you find your greatest peace and spiritual fulfillment.

Ohio's TB Association approves change of name

The change of the name of the Ohio Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association to the Ohio Lung Association was authorized at the state association meeting this week in Columbus. The name corresponds to the new name of the national society from National Tuberculosis and Respiratory Association, which now is the National Lung Association.

The Fayette County Tuberculosis and Health Association name will not be changed at this time, it was said.

Joseph E. Peters, representative director of the county association, who attended the state meeting, reported that the change of names was one of the highlights of the session.

He said a panel discussion was held concerning services for patients. Dr. Robert G. Loudon, president of the Ohio Thoracic Society chaired this session. Problems were discussed from the beginning of the disease to rehabilitation — Social Security, public welfare and treatment in a general hospital.

Legislative goals, occupational health programs and air conservation programs were discussed in the afternoon. New programs in each of these fields were brought to the attention of the group.

12 Ohio counties eligible for loans

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Farmers Home Administration has declared 12 northwestern Ohio counties eligible for disaster loans, according to U.S. Rep. Delbert Latta, R-Ohio.

Latta said the loans will be given at five per cent interest and based on the damage to 1972 crops resulting from storms and weather conditions. He added that applications will be accepted at FHA offices through July 6.

In another announcement from the Congressman's Washington office, Latta said that Harley Hicks, a farmer from Continental, Ohio, in Putnam County was named executive director for the Ohio office of the Agriculture and Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Counterfeit bills flood Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Secret Service has confiscated about $100,000 in counterfeit $20 bills in the past month and a half and has warned the Cincinnati are to watch for the bogus bills.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Norbert A. Nadel said Wednesday a large quantity of the phony bills are still in circulation.

Agents have arrested Lowell Edward Warren, 34, of Cincinnati for passing a counterfeit $20 bill. They said he had two more bills in his possession.

The up-and-down Dollar!
It can cause currency exchange problems for overseas travelers.

The Savings Bank has the solution.

If you're going abroad this year, you will find it difficult to come out ahead exchanging the dollars you bring for local currencies. Or even break even. For that dollar rate can fluctuate. Many hotels, restaurants and shops will charge you extra to convert. The answer? Exchange those dollars for our Foreign Travelers Cheques before you leave. Your money will then be safe from loss, theft and further fluctuation. Ask for our special "Tip Packs," too. They contain small denominations of foreign currency that let you take care of tips, taxis and other immediate needs until you have time to cash some cheques. Their cost is just $10.50 each. Both cheques and packs are available in English Pounds, Swiss Francs, German Marks, French Francs and Canadian Dollars. So see us soon. We want you to enjoy your trip without day-to-day money worries. Additional "Tip Packs" available for: Japan; Mexico; Spain; Italy; Belgium; and Holland.

Circus billed Monday at Washington Square

Circus Williams, whose winter home is in Owensville, will present three performances Monday at the Washington Square Shopping Center.

Circus Williams is a three-ring show and claims to be America's finest family circus.

Circus Williams lays no claim to being the world's largest, greatest, most magnificent extraveganza, or any other of the superlatives that are generally applied to these vendors of childhood joy, but merely that this is probably more entertainment, for the money, than it is possible to purchase anywhere else.

Performances will be at 3 p.m., 6 p.m. and 8 p.m., each lasting one hour and 20 minutes. Seating capacity is 1,000.

FEATURED in the performance are several trained animals including ponies, dogs, goats, monkeys and birds.

Outstanding among the performers are the Whites, a troup of aerialists from India; the Conleys Troupe; Frank Knowl and Co., Western performers; Danny Carey and Co., equilibrists, illusionist Madame Zora; Circus Williams' Colony of Clowns, and America's smallest, scene-stealing pachyderm, Baby Anne.

Also featured with the show as midway attractions are a reptile show, Circus Williams' Zoo-A-Rama, pink cotton candy, sno-cones, and all the other goodies that usually come with the circus. There is no find with gambling, indecent shows, reserved seats or hidden charges.

Bargain coupons are available at all Washington Square Shopping Center stores, free of charge. Admission price, with coupon is 75 cents. Prices without coupons are $1.25 for children and $1.50 for adults.

CLOWN ALLEY — The "Colony of Clowns" will be one of the features of Circus Williams which will present three performances Monday at Washington Square Shopping Center.

Census Bureau to collect info on jobholding

How many American workers are holding more than one job? How many are working overtime and what is their overtime pay? What are workers' usual hours on their jobs?

Robert G. McWilliam, director of the Bureau of the Census Data Collection Center in Detroit, announces that information on these subjects will be collected during the week of May 14-18 from a sample of households in this area. The questions are in addition to the usual ones asked in the monthly survey on employment and unemployment conducted nationwide by the Bureau for the U.S. Department of Labor.

Results of the monthly survey provide a continuing measure of economic condition in the country. The March survey showed that employment rose sharply to 83.9 million, 700,000 more than in February. The overall jobless rate was 5 per cent, not materially different from 5.1 per cent in February, but substantially below the 5.9 per cent rate of March a year ago.

Facts supplied by individuals participating in the survey are kept strictly confidential by law, and results are used only to compile statistical totals.

Mary Lou Ward, Chillicothe, is the interviewer for this area.

Youth Activities

4-H PHYSICAL FITNESS

The 4-H Physical Fitness Club met to learn more wrestling techniques. Coach Wallace, head of the club, taught the boys new and better exercises and wrestling moves.

Donald Bunton collected dues for the 4-H teeshirts. The next meeting will be Tuesday.

CHIEF BLUEBIRDS

Indian Chief Bluebirds met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Edgington. Jenny Craig led the Pledge of Allegiance and Vicki Shepler led the Bluebird Wish Song. We made information sheets and permission slips for the trip to LeSourdsville Lake. We made name tags shaped like Bluebirds to wear.

Jenny Craig served refreshments.

Anne Tye, Scribe

ROSE AVE. ROSE PETALS

There have been two meetings of the Rose Avenue Rose Petals Bluebirds. The first meeting came to order by Mrs. Carrie Ferguson, leader. Sherrie Gorman was host for the day, and led the girls in the Pledge. She also led the Bluebird Wish. Roll was answered by naming favorite pets. Nancy McCoy was presented her fifth patch for TV stamps. The girls were urged to save more Kroger labels and Kool-aid packages. Sherrie served refreshments and the meeting was adjourned.

The second meeting had Brenda Greer as the host. The girls signed a thank you note for the Garden Club for the trees to plant at Camp Murdock for Arbor Day. An interesting discussion on how to display and show respect for the American Flag was enjoyed.

Brenda served refreshments and there will be no meeting next week due to the leaders meeting.

Jeff PTC, elects, hears reports

JEFFERSONVILLE — Officers were named and a report on the turkey and ham dinner was made at a Jeffersonville Parent-Teacher Club meeting this week.

Mrs. Harold Anderson was named president; Mrs. Fred St. Clair, first vice president; Mrs. Danny Synder III, second vice president; Principal Gordon McCarty, third vice president; Mrs. Lawrence Smith Jr., secretary; and Mrs. Tommy Sams, treasurer.

The treasurer's report by Mrs. Ray Bentley showed a balance of $3,383.76, that $649.99 was netted by the PTC on the ham and turkey supper and that 400 were served. Mrs. Richard Bonner expressed appreciation of the cooperation of the merchants who contributed to the dinner.

The projects approved include purchase of a piano, lockers for the classrooms and cleaning the drapes in the cafeteria. The group also agreed to help with the field trip to be taken by the eighth graders.

FOLLOWING the business session, the group was entertained by the first and second grade youngsters. The first graders gave a reading about dinosaurs and displayed a replica of a dinosaur made of paper mache by the pupils, assisted by the teachers, Mrs. Glenn Estep and Mrs. Glenn Merritt. The pupils also made up their own song about it.

The second graders, taught by Mrs. John Sheeley and Mrs. Elizabeth Fullerton, presented a skit based on a day in the life of a boy or girl. The story was told in song.

A "This Is Your Life" skit was presented by members of the PTC as a tribute to the teachers. Short summaries were read by Mrs. Anderson, and Mrs. Smith pinned a carnation on each teacher.

A dessert smorgasbord was served after adjournment by Mrs. Ruth Eltzroth, Mrs. Wilma Lower, Mrs. St. Clair and Mrs. John D. Blair.

Washington letter sold

NEW YORK (AP) — An anonymous Long Island bidder has paid a reported record $27,500 for a letter written by George Washington six years before he became president.

Sotheby Parke Bernet, which auctioned the 22½-page letter written when Washington retired in 1783 as commander of the Continental Army, said it was the most ever paid at auction for a Washington letter.

The letter, dated June 12, 1783, and addressed to the governor of New Jersey, William Livingston, expressed some of Washington's philosophy on government.

Essential to the nation, Washington wrote, were "a sacred regard to public justice," "the adoption of a proper national defense" and "a spirit of cooperation, and the suppression of local prejudices."

Colonial Stores dividend posted

NORFOLK, Va., — Directors of Colonial Stores Inc., 445-store Atlanta (Ga.) based food chain and parent of the Albers stores, has declared a regular quarterly cash dividend of 26 cents a share on common stock.

The regular quarterly cash dividend of 50 cents per share was declared on outstanding 4 per cent preferred stock. Both dividends are payable June 1, to stockholders of record on May 14.

A 10-ounce package of sliced frozen strawberries will make enough topping for a quart of ice cream. Sprinkle the ice with flaked coconut and call the dessert a sundae.

MAN FOR CHALLENGE — Astronaut Paul J. Weitz is a man who must have a challenge that requires much skill and ability. For the top Navy pilot that can only mean flying into space his "last frontier." A native of Erie, Pa., Weitz will spend 28 days orbiting the earth aboard Skylab 1, which is scheduled for launch on May 14.

Skylab crew to monitor resources

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Astronauts will play their first role as monitors of earth's natural resources when they board the Skylab space station.

They will use a $37 million array of six photosensors to evaluate actual and potential resources over a wide area of the globe.

A dozen countries have asked the astronauts to employ the sensors to scan farmlands, mountain ranges, river basins and watersheds in search of everything from minerals to crop disease.

The Skylab is scheduled to be launched May 14, with the three-man crew joining it the following day.

"The Skylab earth resources experiments offer an almost unlimited potential for near term benefits affecting man here on earth," reported astronaut Paul J. Weitz. He is the sensor expert on the Skylab 1 crew.

"During the five months the station will be manned by three crews, it will fly over 75 per cent of the earth's surface, including the entire United States except Alaska," Weitz said. "With this excellent view, data can be obtained applicable to mankind's most pressing problems, such as weather, food production, pollution, flooding, erosion and the depletion of natural resources."

Weitz emphasized the sensors are experimental, designed to determine which instruments can best be used by man in space and which can be operated on unmanned satellites.

"But," he said, "they could lead to a science in such things as mapping snow cover and assessing water runoff potentials; mapping air and water pollution and their sources; assessing diseased and healthy crops; timber volume estimate; locating arable land; determining sea status and fishing grounds, and locating hidden oil and mineral reserves."

More than 90 principal investigators from the United States and 20 from other nations are involved in Skylab's earth resources study, which involves the use of multispectral, optical, infrared and photographic sensors.

L.A. Times publisher talks at OU

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Los Angeles Times publisher Otis Chandler said Wednesday night that the Times' mail about the Watergate scandal "has changed dramatically" during the last few weeks.

Earlier, Chandler said, "most readers were not convinced that we (the press) were telling the truth about the seriousness of Watergate."

Chandler made the comments at Ohio University where he appeared during the university's Communication Week. He was presented the school's Carr Van Anda award, which cited him for making the Times "one of the greatest newspapers in the world."

On Watergate, Chandler warned journalists against too much jubilant self-congratulations saying, "It's still too early to tell whether we've changed the public's mind about the press and the public's right to know."

Chandler also expressed hope that the journalism profession can "get an absolute privilege law out of this Congress." A qualified privilege law, he said, could "be worse for us than no law at all."

4-H Roundup

The club demonstration: here's how they're done

By JACK SOMMERS
County Extension Agent, 4-H

Can you picture your name in the headlines — "County 4-H member named top demonstrator at the Ohio State Fair?" This 4-H member was not demonstrating by destroying property or blocking traffic but by presenting helpful information on the 4-H stage in a demonstration contest.

The experience of giving a demonstration, or illustrated talk, serves both to enlighten fellow club members on project skills as well as develop in the demonstrator the ability to speak before a group.

All 4-H'ers are familiar with the notorious animal known as the "demonstration." It's a wild, wicked, little creature in some people's eyes, yet can be caught and tamed. Many demonstrations suffocate before they live out their usefulness. Some are destined to die as infants. Why is the mortality rate for this delicate creature so high? Let us examine the life cycle of a healthy demonstration.

First, pick a topic — something that interests you about your 4-H project or something you want to know more about. It might be a subject that most everyone knows about. If handled correctly, it can be a pleasant learning experience for both you and your audience — a show-and-tell type of thing. Remember, there is always something new to learn.

Gather information about your demonstration. Make sure that it is accurate and that you know your reference sources.

Once you have an idea of how you would like to give your demonstration, write up a rough outline so you know, more-or-less, what you're going to say.

Next, work on your introduction. This is a very, very important part of a demonstration. It should be an interesting statement of purpose that arouses interest from your audience. That may sound like a pretty big order, but it's not. Use a catchy phrase or a current topic that your audience can relate to. Jump up and down and scream if you can work it into your demonstration.

Now you can get down to the nitty-gritty; working out the body of the demonstration.

AFTER YOUR INTRODUCTION, start at the beginning and move in a logical order. Work while you're talking. It usually helps if you have some sort of visual aids. They should clearly prove your point or add important information to your demonstration. You should have the right equipment and use it correctly. Any charts should be neat and easy to read.

Now you can say to yourself, "I'm done. I can work on my conclusion." Wait! Check over your demonstration. Is it complete? Have you done everything that you need to prove your point or complete your demonstration? If so, go on to your conclusion. Feature the finished product or review important points.

Now you know what you're going to say and what you're going to show in the end. That's fine, but you only have the skelton of the animal. You have to give it life.

For the first few times, just talk through your demonstration. Then you can work in your actions, the "showing" part of your demonstration. When you start working with your product, you might find something that doesn't fit in well or maybe you can think of some other detail that you should add. Whatever the case, the idea is to practice working and talking at the same time until your demonstration runs along pretty smoothly.

The animal is quickly approaching maturity. The poor thing will be labeled a social bore if you don't give it some type of personality.

Give your demonstration a good personality. Appear before your audience in appropriate clothing, be well groomed, have the correct posture, etc. Smile at your audience and show your enthusiasm! Before you know it, you'll have them eating out of the palm of your hand. Without thinking, you should use good grammar, speak clearly, and work quickly but in view of the audience. That's just good speaking form.

At last . . . mission accomplished! That illusive creature everyone knows as a demonstration has been captured and is in the process of being domesticated. It wasn't so hard, was it? You'll also discover the more demonstrations you give, the easier and the better they will become. You probably won't even remember that ugly little animal you once thought of as a demonstration!

New airplane in forced landing

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Pilot Mark Miller of Cleveland made a forced landing of a new small plane in a cornfield when the engine stopped minutes from Lunken Airport Wednesday night.

The plane, with only four hours logged on it, was scheduled to stop in Cincinnati for fuel on a ferrying flight from Cleveland to New Orleans, airport authorities said.

Miller, the lone occupant, said the engine conked out less than two miles from the runway at a height of 50-75 feet.

The plane suffered minor damage.

Eber musicians score well

Eighty Eber Junior High School students participated in the 14th annual music competition at Lebanon and, from the 11 events scheduled, they came back with six "superior," two "excellent" and three "very good" ratings.

Mrs. John E. Rhoads, the music teacher, said it is felt that the competition gives the groups and individuals an opportunity to perform before qualified judges and receive constructive criticism of their performances.

Individuals and groups from the Eber School participating included Kathy Edwards, Kathy Junk, Charles Haines, Cindy Grover, Donnie Pepper and Cheryl Blue, who sang vocal solos; Alisa Hughes, who played a piano solo; seventh grade boys ensemble; eighth grade girls triple trio; 17-voice chamber ensemble; and the Eber girls chorus of 60 voices.

Arrangements for the bus transportation were made by Principal Robert Creamer, and Donald Arnold was the faculty supervisor for the day. Accompanying the group were Mrs. Rhoads, Mrs. John Armentrout, Elsie Hill and Steve Anders.

URW and Goodrich to continue talks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The B. F. Goodrich Co. and the United Rubber Workers were scheduled to renew formal negotiations today in an attempt to end a three-day-old strike at the seven Goodrich plants across the country.

The talks were to resume amid URW charges that the other three major tire and rubber companies—Goodyear, Uniroyal and Firestone—scuttled a possible Goodrich settlement by interfering in the talks which preceded the strike.

Antioch talks continue

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP) — Talks continue at Antioch as students and the administration try and find a solution for ending the three-week-old student strike.

Do Not Overuse Laxatives

I have developed colitis. For the last 20 years I have been taking a mild laxative every night.

Could the laxative be responsible after so many years?

Mr. M.C.F., Ore.

Dear Mr. F.:

There are two distinct aspects of your letter that I will comment on.

The first is the overuse and, sometimes, the abuse of laxatives or purgatives.

There are people who go into a tailspin if they have one day's variation of their normal bowel habits. Too many people concentrate too much on their "regularity."

Some, like yourself, insist that "only with laxatives can I maintain regularity."

The result is a dependence on laxatives which often goes on for many years. The intestinal tract becomes sluggish and ceases to function without the stimulation of the laxative.

In most instances, a change in the diet regime, increasing foods with roughage and especially increasing the intake of water, again regulates the bowel activity.

It should be emphasized that different types of laxatives stimulate the bowel in different ways. It is therefore most important that the laxative, even for a very short time, be chosen by the doctor.

About the colitis. This is a general term that is applied to many disorders of the small and the large intestine.

It is conceivable that certain types of colitis may have been caused by prolonged irritation by laxatives of the delicate lining of the bowel. The approach to your problem is, of course, the treatment of the colitis and a re-establishment of bowel activity without the laxatives that you have become dependent on.

I have the most excruciating pain between my toes. I recall that my mother had the same thing at my age, which is 49.

Can there possibly be some inherited condition involved?

Mrs. E. T., Ind.

Dear Mrs. T.:

I doubt that there is a congenital or a familial disorder that accounts for your problem. Rather, I would speculate that this is coincidental. The condition certainly needs study, both clinically and by X-ray.

There is an unusual condition known as "Morton's Neuroma," or "Morton's Toe." A small tumor of one of the nerves of the foot, usually in the web space between the third and fourth toe, can cause such severe pain. This usually occurs on one foot and is thought to be due to injury to the nerve.

Many devices have been used, with foam rubber padding and other protective means, to take pressure off the nerve and the small nodule that is on it. If this is the cause of your problem, surgery is effective and brings total relief.

course, be ruled out before coming to the conclusion that you may have a "Morton's Toe."

FFA chapter building shelter

By LORA BROOKS

The Miami Trace FFA Chapter is now in the process of building a shelter house on the school grounds behind the football field. The MT chapter is one of 33 funded partially by an Ohio FFA foundation, Building Our Ohio communities, which stems from the national Building Our American Communities.

Besides the $1,000 granted by BOOC, almost $300 from the chapter's own treasury will be used to complete the shelter. This will be a three year program, and later a concrete floor will be put in and perhaps some picnic tables and a grill area.

Most of the construction is being executed by Mr. William Diley's building construction class. The students work during class time and study halls during school. The picnic tables will be built in Mr. Diley's welding class.

According to Mr. Charles Andrews, the frame of the 24 feet by 48 feet structure should be completed soon.

In addition to a learning experience for the students, the construction of the shelter house will provide a facility for community use.

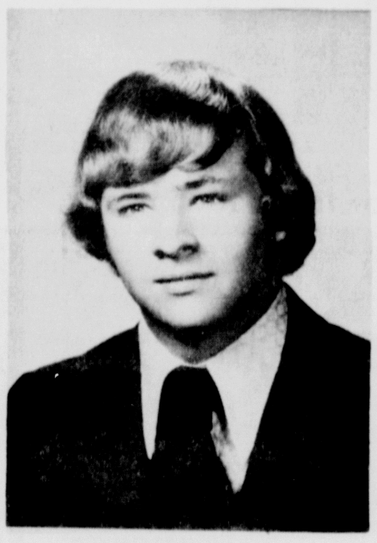
SHIRLEY MAYER



RICK COTTRILL

Seniors of week

Shirley Mayer will "miss her friends the most but is looking forward to graduation." Shirley is president of the GAA, a member of FHA, and a physical education gym assistant at Miami Trace. Senior homemaking is her favorite course this year. Shirley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Mayer, Rt. 1, Bloomingburg.

Shirley is a member of St. Colman's Catholic Church. Sewing and sports are two of her favorite hobbies. Her future plans are to attend Nationwide Beauty Academy. After graduation from there next spring, Shirley plans to get married and move to Illinois.

RICK COTTRILL, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cottrill, Rt. 1, New Holland, has played basketball for Miami Trace for all four of his high school years. He also belongs to the FFA and the Hi-Y Club. Business law is his favorite course this year.

His many hobbies include water skiing, playing softball, and motorcycle riding. Rick will miss "all his friends" after he graduates, when he plans to farm.

"It's a great feeling knowing that you have only a few days of school left!!" is Jim Woods' feelings on being a senior. Jim is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Woods, Rt. 1, Mount Sterling. His favorite course is American Government. He is a 4-H member and belongs to the Junior Leadership Club.

60 students comprise MT scholarship team

By SUSAN TOLLE

The Ohio Final Tests of Scholastic Achievement were given at Ohio State University on May 5. This testing session is held once a year; its purpose is to promote state-wide efforts to emphasize scholarship, to recognize academic excellence, and to motivate students to greater scholastic achievement.

Sixty students from Miami Trace had the honor of attending this session. There were 15 different tests taken by teams of four. The tests were scored with a group mark and an individual mark.

The following people participated in the testing, with the fifth-named the alternate:

Algebra: Sheryl Pendleton, Tarkio Chester, Jeff Schlichter, Jeff Happer, Kurt Klontz.

Chemistry: John Bryant, Dave Foster, Dave Persinger, Patty Persinger, Ginger Pendleton.

English 11: Kim Fleming, Barbara Marvin, Mariann Arnold, Marlene Braun, Kim McCoy.

French II: Carol Rex, Regina Roush, Diane Conley, Jane Kiger, Sandy McCoy.

Senior Social Studies: Diane Gerber, Sharryn Cory, Nelta Baker, Debbie Duff, Lynn Rapp.

American History: Phil Hannon, Lora Brooks, Gary Cobb, Elaine Houseman, Gary Bays.

English 9: Elaine Puckett, Denise Beoddy, James Ingram, Gretchen Krieger, Paula McClure.

English 12: Loren Puckett, Emily Beal, Debbie Krupla, Kathy Cottrill, Jill Fetters.

General Science: Steve Paisley, Brett Gundlach, Scott Gerber, Robert Spengler, William Williams.

Spanish I: Sharon A. Smith, Karmel Knedler, Mary Beth Deere, Danita Adams, John James.

Biology: Scott Tarbutton, Raymond Mick, Rhonda Hendricks, Patty Bick, Marilee Garner.

English 10: Kathy Frazier, Barbara Hill, Darla Krupla, Mark Spears, Donna Swigert.

French I: Carmen White, Diane Merritt, Vicki Patton, Lesa Shonkwiler, Kelly Campbell.

Geometry: David Hellyer, Ike Hixon, David Louis, Phil Skinner, Gail Jenkins.

280 receive tuberculin skin tests

Tuberculin skin tests were administered to 280 employes of food production industries during the first two days of the program, it was announced by Mrs. Robert Goodson, executive secretary of the Fayette County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Mrs. Doris Douglass, public tuberculosis health nurse, administered the tests to 35 employes at the Cudahy Packing Co.; 135 at the Pennington Bread Inc., bakery; 51 at the Avoset plant and to 51 at the Sugar Creek Packing Co. plant.

The skin testing program will be resumed Friday at the Union 76 Plaza at the U.S. 35-I-71 interchange. All employes in food handling places of business will be tested there between 9 and 11 a.m.

On Tuesday and Wednesday, May 15 and 16, tests will be available to the general public without charge from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. each day at the G.C. Murphy Co. store.

While the tests are offered to the general public, special emphasis is placed by the county TB and Health Association and the Health Department on the importance of the test to food handlers, especially those who will be working in food concessions at the Fair in July.

A positive reaction to the skin test means only that there are tuberculosis germs in the body and that further X-ray examinations by the personal physician are warranted.

The Ohio Department of Health's mobile, X-ray unit will be in the county on June 4, 5 and 6 to X-ray those persons who had a positive reaction to the skin test. Notices have been sent to those persons who should come to the unit for X-rays. Cards have been included with each notice for the person to present at the unit. The X-ray Unit will be open on Monday, June 4, Monday from 2 to 8 p.m.; on Tuesday, June 5, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.; and on Wednesday, June 6 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The tuberculin skin testing program and X-ray program are made possible by contributions to the Christmas Seal campaign and by the TB levy and the health levy.

Clerical help for the skin testing program is provided by members of Alpha Theta chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority. Those who helped during the first two days were Mrs. Donald Gibbs, Mrs. John Bernard, Mrs. John Morris, Mrs. John Skinner and Mrs. Tom Rankin.

153 registered for MT kindergartens

Parents have registered 153 children during the last two weeks for the eight Miami Trace District kindergartens next year, but Mrs. June Slaughter, district supervisor of elementary education, estimated that at least 50 have not been registered and that they will turn up at the opening of school next fall.

A total of 214 are enrolled this year in the kindergarten program.

Mrs. Slaughter explained that advance registration of pre-kindergarten and pre-first graders and new students is important for planning of classrooms and teacher assignments. In view of this, she said parents who did not attend a pre-school conference should call the Miami Trace business office.

Kindergarten registration to date includes: Bloomingburg 26; Chaffin 25; Jasper 15; Jeffersonville 20; Madison Mills 12; New Holland 19; Staunton 25 and Wayne 11.

Parents of these children presented health records to one of the county Health Department nurses, Mrs. Phyllis Richard or Mrs. Sherry Vrettos. The nurses outlined the services which they provide at the different schools. During the summer a speech therapist will provide diagnostic service for the children needing speech evaluation. The nurses also explained the care of illnesses, which a first-year student might have.

Mrs. Slaughter also explained the program in the auditory, visual, thinking and body management areas. Mrs. Nancy Chaney assisted in checking the birth certificates and addresses for assignment.

Arrangements also were made for visits to the kindergarten classrooms, and the school principal explained the rules and operations for the various kindergartens in the eight school buildings.

Alabama Junior Miss wins 2nd award in preliminaries

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Alabama's junior miss, Lisa Paden, 17, won for the second time Wednesday night in preliminary judging leading up to Friday's finals in the 1973 America's Junior Miss Pageant.

Miss Paden performed a ballet to win first place in the creative and performing arts category in the third round of competition. She had won a first prize in second round preliminaries Tuesday night for placing first in the youth fitness category.

Sue Murphy, 17, of Kailua, Hawaii, also won for a second time Wednesday night. She placed first in youth fitness to go with a first place finish in poise and appearance.

Other winners in the third round of preliminaries were Linda Rutledge, 18, of Fort Levenworth, Kan., for scholastic achievement, and Karen Heidkamp, 17, of Parkridge, Ill., for poise and appearance.

Preliminary winners received $1,000 each in scholarships to the colleges of their choice.

The winner of the title gets a $10,000 scholarship.

Winners Tuesday night, besides Miss Paden and Miss Murphy, were Kathy Bosko, 17, of Mansfield, Ohio, talent competition, and Judy Hembree, 17, of Newberry, S.C., scholastic achievement.

Winners Monday night were Margo Dodds, 17, Las Vegas, Nevtalent; Rebecca Jones, 18, Boise, Idaho, scholastic achievement; Yvette Nance, 18, Ro Frio, Tex., poise and appearance; and Betsy Callicott, 17, Memphis, Tenn., youth fitness.

Friday night finals will be televised on CBS. The reigning Junior Miss is Lydia Hodson of Lexington, Ky.

Man's mishap ends record

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— There was no doubt about the driving record of Carl D. Olson, 85, when he showed up in South Euclid Municipal Court this week on a traffic charge.

Olson brought along every driver license he's held since 1914—18 of them—and all unmarked by violations.

Olson had been charged with failure to yield the right of way after turning left from an intersection and colliding with another car.

"This is a fine collection," said Judge Jerome A. Klein, looking at the licenses, "and you certainly have a fine record."

"This is my first experience in court and my first accident," Olson said. "So I've decided to quit driving."

"You don't have to quit on my account," Klein said. "Your record is too good."

Then he fined Olson $30 and costs.

Argument ends in auto damage

An exchange of words between a Washington C.H. man and his estranged wife apparently resulted in an estimated $350 damage to his car Wednesday, police reported.

Officers said the car owned by Dennis Stepter, 6 Sunny Dr., was damaged when his wife rammed it twice with her car then drove from the scene. Stepter told officers the incident occurred after he refused to let her have the car to drive to work.

No charges were filed.

The Weeders Guide

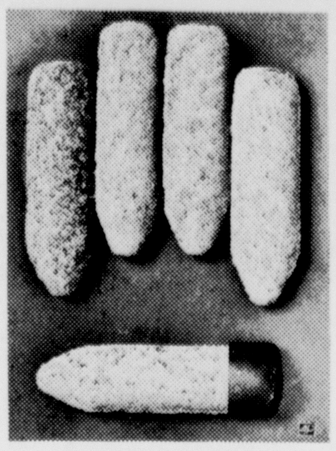
By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

A convenient concentrated tree fertilizer in a long-lasting form, easy to use, will make it simple to feed your landscape. The (Jobe's) Tree Food Spikes are compacted fertilizer in 16-8-8 analysis, approximately one-third of the nitrogen being in long-lasting ureaform.

With a reusable rubber cap on their heads, the spikes are pounded into the ground around the tree and the rain does the rest.

Purdue University reported the spikes were about three times faster to use than other methods of tree fertilization.



TREE FOOD SPIKES

Plant in Bottle

A bottle garden, more formally a terrarium, can provide a lot of enjoyment. Try one with a single plant.

John A. Wott, Purdue University home environment horticulturist suggests:

Take a glass container, either clear or tinted light blue or green. Wash it thoroughly with a solution of water and Clorox before using. Provide adequate drainage in the bottom of the container, using small gravel or chips for good results. Then add a planting mixture to two parts soil and one part coarse sand or perlite. A commercial potting mixture may be used.

Then select your plant — begonias, episcias, ferns, partridgeberry, baby's tears, or pile are some — knock it from its pot and remove excess soil. Prepare a depression in the planting mixture.

Slip the plant into the container, gently shaping it to fit. When the roots are in the depression, fill in the soil around them. Water the plant and wash down the sides of the container, gently rotating the bottle.

Invisible Bee Lure

Dried, pressed flowers undergo a chemical change and display the markings that guide bees to their nectar, according to Cornell scientists, who say it means that the "invisible" markings that lure bees to flowers may now be seen by man.

The explanation: Honeybees and some other insects are sentivie to the shorter ultraviolet waves of the light spectrum. These insects, unlike man, can see the ultraviolet markings on blossoms. Flowers that appear similar to the human eye, such as marsh marigolds, daisies and black-eyes susans, may in the ultraviolet be grossly different — and distinguishable to insects.

Until 1969, cumbersome photographic technique was needed by man to see these markings. A TV camera, equipped with an ultraviolet transmitting filter, acts as an "insect eye." The markings are most intense in relatively fresh plant material, but flowers more than 30 years old can show the pattern.

PLANNING a garden this summer? Experts who measure time and effort advise that it takes at least two hours per week to care care for a 20 by 50-foot garden.

And this does not include harvesting and planting. So don't dig up more than you can tend.

Ex-prisoners are trained in agriculture

MOGADISHU, Somalia (AP) — While thugs and robbers still suffer brutal punishments in many parts of Africa, Somalia, which already provides training and rehabilitation in prison, has taken another step forward with "after prison farm cooperatives."

At Lanta-bur, around 37 miles west of Mogadishu on the Shebelli river, 600 young ex-prisoners are learning farming. An initial squad of 140 set up a cooperative farm on a voluntary basis in the vicinity of the prison early last year after completing their sentences.

The Ministry of Agriculture provided them with a stretch of wild forest land, bulldozers, food, seed and know-how. More than 60 of them quit within the first three months, but 80 ex-convicts decided to put up with the hardships and make farming their role in society.

The first yield of the cooperative was around $6,300 and about 250 acres are now under cultivation. The cooperative provides tomatoes for a small processing factory nearby.

"It is a pilot project," says Gen. Ismail Ahmed Ismail, commander of the Prison Corps. "Its fate depends on successful expansion. If it succeeds, then it will be introduced to all the country's five agricultural regions."

Here's the Answer

Q. — One of the ceiling tiles in our finished attic is badly damaged. I would like to replace it, but do not know how to remove it so as to keep the tongue-and-groove arrangements intact. Also, how is the new tile put in place.

A. — Forget about installing the new tile the way it was done originally. You simply can't remove the old tile without cutting the tongues from it. To get down the old tile, cut around the edges of it with one of the cutters that has a razor blade or other type of blade in it.

When you have cut around all four edges, the tile will drop down. Take out all the staples or nails with which the tile was originally installed.

The new tile must then be cemeted in place, but not before you have cut off its tongues. The replacement tile may be noticeable for a while, especially if the ceiling has been up a long time, but it will get less conspicuous as the weeks go by.

Q. — We soon must get the toilet bowl in our downstairs bathroom replaced. At the same time, we would like to have installed one of the flushing setups that do not require a water tank. Can this be done?

A. — Yes, provided the water supply pipe to the house is at least 1¼ inches. Since there are other considerations involved, a plumber must make the final decision for you.

Q. — I once ready about how to run your fingers over a piece of wood after sanding to detect whether the finish is smooth. I would like to tell your readers about a little trick of mine that I have used for sometime.

After I sand wood and want to be certain that it is perfectly smooth, I place my hand in an old nylon stocking and then run my fingers over the wood. If there is any imperfections in the surface of the wood, there is an immediate snag in the nylon. It works every time.

A. — Thanks for everyone.

Q. — I recently ruined a cabinet I had finished with enamel. Well, maybe I didn't ruin it, but I sure had to re-enamel it. I had followed the instructions in a book about getting a smoother finishing by sanding the final coat, but when I did this, it scarred the enamel and looked terrible. What did I do wrong?

A. — You probably misread the instructions. Some types of clear finishes, such as varnish and shellac, may be sanded to remove irregularities, but not enamel.

However, enamel undercoats sometimes are sanded so that the succeeding coat or coats will grip properly and all surface blemishes will be eliminated.

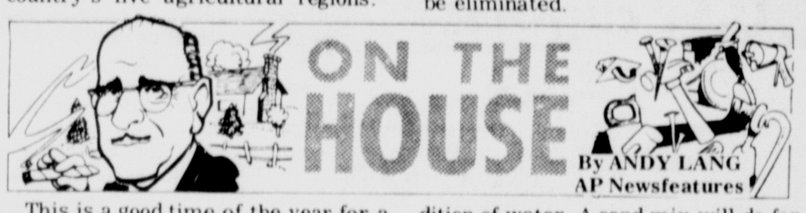
4 Lifetime* warranty against road hazard damage. Adjustment pro-rated on tread wear at retail price prevailing at time of adjustment.

*Lifetime refers to life of original tread.



This is a good time of the year for a checkup. Not you. Your house. Especially the outside.

Start with a pencil and piece of paper. As you walk around and observe, write down whatever it is that needs repairing. When the inspection tour is over, you'll have a short or a long list or, if your house is very exceptional, no list at all.

All this won't help you to make the necessary repairs, since the list might be put in a drawer and forgotten.

But if you're really serious about keeping the place shipshape, you can pull out the list and decide which items get priority whenever you have the time and the inclination to do a little work.

What it does is to prevent you from forgetting an important project while lesser tasks get your attention.

WHAT SHOULD be checked? Here are some reminders:

See if there are any openings in the sidewalls through which rain, wind and insects may be entering. Give particular notice to the areas around doors, window frames and where dissimilar materials are joined. If there are, caulking is in order.

Cracks and other gaps in the concrete patio floor, garage and walkway will get larger unless they are fixed.

Use one of the ready-mixed patching materials that require only the addition of water. A sand mix will do for most jobs; a concrete mix should be used where there is auto traffic.

Have any flagstones shifted or sunk a bit? You can pry up the lower ends and put more sand or gravel under them to provide even surfaces.

Deteriorating mortar between bricks in walls and chimneys should be removed and replaced.

Here again a ready-mix is suitable, but be sure it's a mortar mix rather than sand or concrete, the difference being that the mortar mixture has lime as one of its ingredients.

ARE the gutters and downspouts carrying away water as they should? If the water is collecting at one point along the gutter, it may be that one of the brackets needs retightening or replacing.

Another cause of a retarded flow is the accumulation of debris in either the gutters or the downspouts or both.

Is the fence in need of repairs? Is the flashing intact at the point where the chimney comes out of the roof? Do the window wells need a cleaning to facilitate better drainage? Is there any area where a black top patch is required?

And, a very important checkup point, is the outside ladder in good condition? Look for possible cracks in wooden ladders, loose bolts or other fastening devices in metal ladders.

Bench matches home run standard

★★★

Cincy star roughs up Carlton, sets stage for Concepcion's HR

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Johnny Bench is alive and well ... in Philadelphia, of all places.

"Maybe now this will remove all doubts about my operation," the Cincinnati strongboy said Wednesday night after driving in seven runs as he blasted three homers off Cy Young Award winner Steve Carlton and, counting a homer his last time at bat Tuesday night, equaled the major league record of four in a row.

"Personally," he added, "I don't pay any attention to it any more."

The 25-year-old catcher, twice the National League's Most Valuable Player, underwent lung surgery last December for removal of a benign lesion.

Despite his record-matching slugging Wednesday night, the Reds needed a tie-breaking two-run homer by Dave Concepcion in the ninth inning to beat the Phillies 9-7.

Elsewhere, St. Louis defeated San Francisco 3-1, Los Angeles held off Pittsburgh 8-5, the Chicago Cubs whipped San Diego 9-2 and the New York Mets trounced Atlanta 8-1. The Houston-Montreal game was rained out.

It was the second threehomer, seven-RBI game in Bench's career. The other time came on July 26, 1970 against St. Louis and Carlton, then with the Cardinals, was the victim that time, too.

"I got him good tonight," said Bench, who homered to center field with a man aboard in the first inning, walked in the third, hit a three-run homer to right field in the fifth and a two-run shot to left in the seventh.

"But he's got me easy a lot of days. He's a good pitcher. They don't have to worry about him. Remember, he's under a lot of pressure to have another good year."

Rookie Ken Reitz socked his first major league home run as St. Louis ended its latest losing streak at a mere four games by shading San Francisco. It was only the sixth victory in 26 starts for the low-flying Cardinals.

Willie Crawford doubled in two runs to highlight a five-run fifth inning as Los Angeles defeated Pittsburgh. The Pirates pounded out 14 hits against Claude Osteen, George Culver and Jim Brewer, including tworun homers by Manny Sanguillen and Bob Robertson, giving the Bucs 10 in the three-game set with the Dodgers. The loss was still Pittsburgh's 10th in the last 14 games.

Rick Monday hit a three-run homer and Billy Williams and Randy Hundley slammed two-run shots to power the Cubs over San Diego and into first place in the NL East by one game over Pittsburgh. Burt Hooton scattered six San Diego hits, including a home run by Fred Hilton.

Unbeaten Jerry Koosman fired a five-hitter for his fifth triumph and Rusty Staub homered as the Mets chased Carl Morton with four runs in the first two innings and beat Atlanta. Koosman held the Braves hitless until Oscar Brown doubled with two out in the sixth. Cincinnati's Jack Billingham is the league's only other five-game winner.

Bench feels Cincy ready to make move in NL West

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— Johnny Bench has just about forgotten about the operation he underwent over the winter and has now convinced everyone else to do likewise.

The Cincinnati Reds' star catcher tied a major league record Wednesday night with three—giving him four on consecutive at bats counting one Tuesday, to lead his teammates to a 9-7 victory Wednesday night over the Philadelphia Phillies.

"Maybe now this will remove all doubts about my operation," said Bench, who had a tumor removed from his chest. "Personally I don't pay any attention to it anymore."

Actually it was a two-run shot by Dave Concepcion following a fourth single by Pete Rose that won it for reliever Tom Hall. But it was Bench who accounted for all the first seven runs.

The big catcher looked perfectly healthy as he teed off on lefty Steve Carlton for all three home runs, repeating a performance of July 26, 1970 when he connected three times off Carlton in Riverfront Stadium.

"I got him good tonight," said Bench. "But he's got me easy a lot of days. He's a good pitcher, they don't have to worry about him...remember, he's under a lot of pressure here to have another good year."

"I feel I'm pitching well," said Carlton, "I had him set up twice...he just went out and got the ball."

"This is a great park to hit in," said Bench, who had a double and a home run Tuesday while driving in four runs.

"The lights are good, I see the ball good, and I just like to hit here."

"I've always been a slow starter, I get better as it gets warmer. I don't feel confortable until the weather gets hot."

Bench, who now has nine home runs and 26 rbis, feels the Reds are about ready to make their move in the division race.

"We're about to put it together," he said.

Manager Sparky Anderson agreed. "He can carry the club a couple of weeks himself," said the skipper. "He's that kind of a streak hitter."

Rose, who scored four times on home runs, said he never was concerned about Bench.

"I knew he'd hit 35 home runs just as sure as I knew the leaves would turn brown in the winter," said Pete. "Heck, the only thing wrong tonight is my hands...they are sore from beating on Bench and Concepcion."

"But hey, give the Phillies some credit," Rose added, "they kept fighting back tonight."

In the third, two-run home runs by Willie Montanez and Bill Lobinson knocked out starter Don Gullett and in the fifth Mike Anderson doubled home a run to make it 5-5.

Larry Bowa singled to put the Phillies in front 6-5 and after Bench made it 7-6 in the seventh pinch hitter Del Unser connected for his first National League home run to tie it at 7-7.

Reliever Barry Lersch came on to pitch the ninth and served up a single to Rose and got a slider too high against Concepcion, who connected for his fifth homer of the season.

"I'm not strong," said Concepcion, "I can't hit many home runs. I have to hit them early in the season before I get tired."

One SCOL vacancy filled

Young Miami product new Greenfield coach

GREENFIELD — One of three South Central Ohio League football coaching vacancies has been filled as the league's revolving door has started to move again at full speed.

Fred Brisker, a young Miami University product, has been named head football coach at Greenfield McClain, filling the vacancy created by the resignation of Jay Knierim.

Two other SCOL teams have yet to name new head coaches. Miami Trace is searching for a head coach to replace Fred Bernier, who has accepted the head job at Covington (Ky.) Catholic High School. Dale Ambos, head football coach at Hillsboro the past four seasons, also resigned following the 1972 campaign.

BRISKER, a 1968 graduate of Minford High School where he was a three-sport star, has served as a graduate assistant in Miami's football program. He graduated from Miami University in 1972 with a bachelor of science degree in physical education.

The 22-year-old Portsmouth native lettered two seasons at Miami University and landed All-Mid American Conference honorable mention honors as a guard his senior year.

The 6-foot-1, 220-pounder earned seven letters at Minford High School; three as a guard and linebacker in football, three as an infielder in baseball and one in track. Brisker also received all-conference, All-District and All-Ohio honorable mention accolades in his schoolboy career.

Soviets top U.S. cagers; win 72-64

BALTIMORE (AP) — Bob Cousy sat on a storage locker and shook his head.

"That was the weirdest basketball game I've ever seen," lamented the U.S. coach after his squad lost to Russia 72-64 in the final game of a six-city American tour Wednesday. "You might say they out-mayhemed us."

The series, won by the United States 4-2, was characterized by rugged, elbow swinging play, and the finale followed that pattern.

The referees whistled 41 personal fouls against the Soviets, 40 against the Americans Wednesday. Three U.S. players and six Russians fouled out, including the visitors' Aleksandr Shalnev, who picked up his fifth personal with 6:02 remaining in the first half.

In addition, Swen Nater, the backup center from UCLA, was ejected from the game late in the second half for striking a Russian player.

"I don't think that's basketball we played out there tonight," Ron Behagen, the Minesota forward who was himself thrown out of an earlier game for fighting, said in the locker room. "It may be their game, but it's not ours. Somebody could get hurt out there if they're not careful."

Perfecta pays heavily at Lebanon raceway

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—A Perfecta paid $459.90 on a 7-4 combination Wednesday night to send a crowd of 1,609 home buzzing from Lebanon Raceway.

Alpine Royal won the $1,000 feature race by less than a length to return $5, $4.20 and $4.60. Gail Diller was second at $4 and $3. Miss Lynn Adios showed at $4.80.

River Downs opens 48th racing season

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — River Downs opens its 48th racing season today.

The horse racing track plans to mark the 100-date opening with "Old Time Day," which means reduced prices for an expected crowd of 6,000.

Ten races are scheduled with the featured ninth race offering a $4,000 purse.

Wednesday golfers open summer slate

The Reds, Titleists and Staffs opened action in the Wednesday Night Golf League with victories at the Washington Country Club.

Hayward Johnson, the captain of the Reds quintet, carded a 44 which was the lowest score of the evening in leading the Reds to a 12½ to 7½ win over Maxfli.

In other action, Jim Wilson's 47 paced the Titleists to a 10½ to 9½ decision over the Tourneys, and the Staffs got a 46 from Don Morrow to whip the Dots by a 13½ to 6½ count.

THE RESULTS

REDS — Hayward Johnson 44-3; Roger Osborne 49-3½; Paul Thornhill 55-1; Don Gibbs 56-4; Hargis Ramey 55-1; Total 12½.

Offys remain supreme at Indy

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Sixty-one of the 83 cars entered in this year's Indianapolis 500-mile race are powered by tiny four-cylinder engines smaller than the power plants in many compact passenger cars.

But these sophisticated Offenhauser engines, which also have carried the Miller and Mayer & Drake mark for half a century, have been refined in the laboratory of auto racing.

Herb Porter, an engineering consultant for Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., says the Offy engine is the most powerful, inch for inch, in history. Porter conducts the company's tire and engine testing on a fulltime basis.

But Porter, sometimes referred to as the father of the modern Offenhauser engine, notes the basic engine is not all that powerful.

In a 1,500-pound race car, the four-cylinder, 160-cubic-inch engine could only manage about 125 miles an hour, Porter said. Horsepower would be near 200.

But throw on a supercharger and a fuel injection system, and instantly you have about 800 horsepower and the potential to register a 200-mile-an-hour lap, he said.

Swede Savage, running with one of Porter's engines, has turned in a 197.802 lap, the fastest so far this month at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. Savage recorded a 192.5 lap in practice Wednesday for the May 28 race.

"We get about five horsepower per cubic inch," Porter said. "If you've got that kind of horsepower out of your average passenger car with a 327 cubic inch engine, you would have about 1,600 horsepower. We get more horsepower per cubic inch now than any other car in the history of the world.

"While we could still get a lot more power, it would be a less reliable engine. More power is available for this year's race than last year's with a greater degree or reliability."

Winning at Indianapolis, he said, depends on the combination of "the power you can get, the power you can use and stay together" and the ability to complete the race on the amount of fuel allotted.

MATINEE ENTRY — H.M. Jets, a two-year-old filly pacer, will be one of nearly 90-100 entries expected for the annual matinee races sponsored by the Fayette County Harness Horsemen's Association Sunday afternoon at the Fairgrounds track. H. M. Jets, sired by Butler's Dream, is pictured with owner-trainer Terry Richard, of Sabina. Richard is an elementary teacher at Jeffersonville School and coaches the Miami Trace freshman basketball team.

Grooms, Jones pace late MT eruption

Tony Grooms and Pete Jones provided plenty of offensive fireworks as Miami Trace performed some late heroics in drubbing Clinton Massie 11-8 in non-league action Wednesday night at the Falcon diamond.

Head coach Dave Pellior's Panthers, bunched together a total of 11 runs in the final three innings, to erase a comfortable 7-0 bulge Clinton Massie had constructed early in the contest.

Jones sparked the late Miami Trace surge with a double, a triple, two singles and four runs-batted-in, and Grooms cracked a double, two singles and also chased home four runners.

The two seniors combined for seven of Miami Trace's 15 total hits and the Panthers increased their all-games record to a neat 8-3-1 level.

CLINTON MASSIE scored five runs in the opening inning on the basis of two hits, four errors, a walk and a wild pitch and then added two more in the second frame to grab a 7-0 lead.

The Panthers were held scoreless until the fifth inning when they erupted for four runs on five hits, punched out four more hits in the sixth to account for a total of five runs and capped the late fireworks with a pair of runs in the seventh inning.

Dan Jones, Dave Arnold and Tom Riley provided plenty of support in Miami Trace's attack with two hits apiece.

Arnold, the third of four Miami Trace hurlers, picked up his second win of the season. Arnold worked two innings, allowing one run on four hits and fanned four batters.

Junior Jeff King started for Miami Trace and was roughed up for seven runs on four hits in one and two-thirds innings. He was relieved by Randy Kirk who pitched two and two-thirds innings, permitting only two hits while fanning two batters. Pete Jones finished the mound chores for Miami Trace and chalked up three strikeouts in an inning of duty.

The Panthers, now 8-3-1 on the spring season, will entertain East Clinton Friday.

Cavaliers top Lion linksters

Always-tough Chillicothe, a power in the Central Ohio League, downed Washington C.H.'s young golf team by a 9½ to 1½ count Wednesday night at the Washington Country Club.

David Garringer turned in a 43 score to pace head coach Gary Shaffer's Lion linksters, but sophomore Rob Harris managed to score the only points for Washington C.H. as he carded a 44. Jeff Brown also shot a 44.

Tom Howison was the medalist of the dual match, carding a two-over-par 38 for the Cavaliers.

The Lions will be competing in the Class AA sectional golf tournament Friday at Pine Hills Golf Club in Carroll.

THE RESULTS

WASHINGTON C.H. — David Garringer 43-0; Jeff Brown 44-0; Rob Harris 44-1½; Steve Pommert 49-0; David Butterfield 49-0; Total 229-1½.

CHILLICOTHE — Tom Howison 38-2; Ed Bunstine 42-2; David Holmes 45-½; Gale Notestone 41-2; Dan Wiltshire 46-2; Total 203-9½.

Friday Night golf loop set to open

Golfers in the Friday Night League at the Washington Country Club will be launching their annual summer schedule this week.

Loren Noble, chairman of the Friday Night League, said there will be six teams again this year and the teams are comprised of five players apiece.

The teams are the Yankees, Pirates, Mets, Reds, Dodgers and Cubs.

Here are the lineups for the Friday league:

YANKEES — Douglas Dye, Irvin Reeves, Richard Wintringham, Chester Brown and Charles Sheridan.

PIRATES — James Conley, Robert Sanderson, Charles Wallace, Milbourne Flee and H. R. Heckaman.

METS — Glen Helmick, Roger Miller, Phil Morrow, Ralph Tate and Howard Wright.

REDS — James Vess, Paul Johnson, Bart Mahoney, Bernie Light and Dick Stevenson.

CUBS — John Scott, Tom Brude, Warren Pollock, Dr. Joseph Herbert and Loren Noble.

Lakers chief still predicts cage victory

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Coach Bill Sharman of the Los Angeles Lakers maintains his National Basketball Association club has the ability to crack the odds barrier and overcome the New York Knicks starting tonight.

The odds are against him since the Knickerbockers of the East go into the sellout contest of the Forum with a 3-1 edge in the best-of-7 final playoff series and need only one more victory to take the crown from the 1972 champions.

"This team is capable of winning the next three games," Sharman says of his Lakers, who took the measure of New York 4-1 a year ago.

"But we must minimize our mistakes and turnovers and do better on the boards."

Sharman has his prayer and hopefully he'll also have Jerry West although the All-Star guard aggravated a right hamstring strain in the Tuesday night 103-98 loss at New York in the fourth game.

Both of West's hamstrings ache but he vows to be ready to start in the Lakers' do-or-die contest.

New York appears in strong physical shape with Willis Reed playing his best of three seasons—he was the most-valuable in the final playoffs of 1970.

Lion frosh cop honors in meet

Washington C.H.'s freshman track team picked up its seventh win of the season Wednesday night while the seventh and eighth grade team faltered in a triangular meet with Chillicothe Smith and Chillicothe Mt. Logan at Gardner Park.

Doug Phillips hurled the shot put 48 feet, seven inches to set a new record and Randy Gardner won the high jump and 440-yard dash as Coach Carl Anders' Lions pumped their record to 7-6.

Joe Cox won the long jump and placed second in the 100-yard dash and David Stackhouse and Greg Marti tied for first in the low hurdles. Jeff Dewees won the 880.

Joe Melvin won the pole vault for the eighth graders and seventh grader Terry Wilson took the hurdles in 17.1.

The Lion Cubs will travel to Lancaster Saturday for the Gene Cole Relays.

Opening lead - king of diamonds.

"What can defeat me?" is a dominant theme in the play of many hands. Here is a striking example of how the principle is applied.

South got to four spades and West led the king of diamonds. Declarer covered with the ace, ruffed by East, and East returned a club, won by South with the ace.

After drawing two rounds of trumps, South played a low heart to dummy's queen, hoping to find West with the king. In that case, South would have been able to discard one of dummy's clubs on the ace of hearts.

But the queen lost to the king and South had to go down one, losing a heart, a diamond, a diamond ruff and a club.

South would have made the contract had he applied the "What can defeat me?" principle. He should have ducked the king of diamonds lead, realizing that East was probably void of diamonds in the light of the bidding. He could then also afford to duck the queen, as well as the jack, if West persisted with the suit.

By ducking the first three leads, South would have preserved the ten winners he could see before him at the start of the hand. All he really had to do was recognize that he might go down by playing the diamond ace from dummy at trick one, and that he couldn't go down if he withheld the ace until it could be played at a more propitious moment later on.

Had he ducked the diamond lead, South's only losers would have been two diamonds and a heart, for he would have been able to ruff a heart later in dummy and discard his club loser on the ace of diamonds.

New buildings in violation at Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Four of Cincinnati's newest high rise buildings have been cited for a total of 54 building code violations following recent reinspections.

William Ahlert, city building commissioner, issued the orders after the Ohio Board of Building Standards (OBBS) complained of fire hazards.

OBBS threatened to decertify the city Building Department, which is on probation, after citing the code violations in February.

The buildings cited are Sanders Hall at the University of Cincinnati, the Holiday Inn on West Eighth Street, Page Towers and the Fifth-Race Tower.

Ahlert estimated it would cost more than $100,000 to correct the deficiencies.

City Manager E. Robert Turner, reporting to city council, said those responsible for the four buildings have indicated "complete willingness to cooperate in securing buildings that are completely fire safe."

Suspension lifted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio Commerce Director Dennis Shaul Wednesday said that his department's Division of Securities has lifted an order suspending Circle Credit Union, Inc., Cleveland.

"State of siege" law bars whistle stops

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — There are no Harry Truman-like whistle stop campaigns in Argentina's elections in 1973.

The Interior Ministry said the reasons range from the State of Siege Law to neutrality of the state-owned railroads.

The State of Siege Law bars public assemblies, so politicians can only meet with their supporters behind closed doors.

The Interior Ministry said railroad stations are public places and the State of Siege prohibits rallies in public places. And it said the government could not compromise its neutrality by permitting candidates to use state railroads.

Fayette Cancer unit has new executive head

The resignation of Mrs. Stanley Graumlich, who has served the Fayette County unit of the American Cancer Society as its executive director for nearly five years, was accepted with regret by the board Wednesday night, and Mrs. William Heinz, 503 W. Circle Ave., was appointed to succeed her in the $1,555-a-year parttime position.

The resignation did not come as a complete surprise, and the selection of her successor was no more than routine. Mrs. Heinz, it was pointed out, was secretary of the unit from 1958 through 1962 and has been a member of the board and active in the cancer program ever since.

In her resignation, Mrs. Graumlich explained that she and her husband have purchased a farm in Madison County, near Sedalia, and will move there within the next few weeks.

The appointment of Mrs. Heinz becomes effective July 1. Meanwhile, she will attend three workshops sponsored by the Ohio and American Cancer Societies.

MRS. GRAUMLICH has agreed to remain until the 1973 Cancer Crusade details are wrapped up and help Mrs. Heinz familiarize herself with the details of the executive director's responsibilities.

James Vess, chairman of the Crusade this year, told the board at its meeting in the First Presbyterian Church Wednesday night that a total of $5,494 has been contributed this far. He explained, however, that less than half of the Crusade reports have been made and that most of those which had been made are only partial. Only two of the 10 rural townships have reported, he said. Still lagging in the city are reports from the central business district, professional people and the residential area.

On the brighter side, Vess said that the reports which have been received indicate that the response has been more generous than last year when contributions totaled $12,260.

Driver cited in mishap

One driver was cited by city police in two traffic accidents investigated Tuesday.

Police said Orville Myers, 22, of 621 S. North St., was charged with driving without an operator's license after a two-car collision at the intersection of Delaware Street and Rose Avenue at 8:02 p.m.

The accident occurred when the eastbound Myers car collided with the left rear of a car driven by Marion P. Lightle. 31, of 1428 Pearl St., turning left from Rose onto Delaware, officers said. Damage was moderate.

A car driven by Milton A. Oliver, 74, Jamestown was involved in a minor collision with a horse trailer, towed by a truck driven by Don B. Morris, 20, Rt. 2, at 1:06 p.m. The accident occurred on Court Street in front of the First Federal Building and tied up traffic on the busy street for several minutes.

Neither driver was cited and property was listed as moderate.

Landslide blocks U. S. 52 at Ripley

RIPLEY, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Highway Department closed U.S. 52 a mile west of here today when a mudslide threatened to push the roadway into the Ohio River.

The Ohio Highway Patrol reported a three-foot wide crack developed in the pavement and the highway department closed the road at 4:15 a.m.

Lebanese troops battle guerrillas

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Lebanese troops battled Palestinian guerrillas from Syria into the early hours today along a 55-mile front in the eastern Bekaa Valley near the border, a senior army officer said.

He said the fighting stretched from the army's main garrison town of Marjayoun in the south to the vicinity of Baalbeck, in the northeast.

In many areas, including the towns of Hasbaya and Rachaya, villagers took to the hills armed with World War II rifles to support army jets and artillery attempting to repulse "a massive influx" of guerrilla reinforcements from across the Syrian border, the officer said.

At one point the infiltrators set up rocket and mortar positions on hills overlooking Rayack air base near the border. Air force jets flew 20 sorties against the invaders late Wednesday afternoon, then returned at midnight and bombed the positions from which the guerrillas were shelling the airfield.

The army said 13 of its men were killed, 65 wounded and six were missing in the fighting in the valley Wednesday.

Beirut was generally calm and both the army and the guerrillas pulled back from forward positions in the vicinity of the refugee camps around the city.

Guerrilla leader Yasir Arafat appealed indirectly to the Syrian government to halt the infiltration of guerrillas across the border, saying: "In spite of our human and material losses we have bandaged our wounds and accepted a cease-fire in order to reestablish mutual confidence with sister Lebanon."

Yasir Arafat, the titular leader of all the Palestinian forces, made an indirect appeal from his headquarters in Beirut to the Syrian government to pull the invaders back.

Claim FBI agents spied on meets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Undercover FBI agents were among the planners of demonstrations at the national political conventions last summer, according to a Justice Department source.

Reports from the agents and FBI informers who infiltrated most of the convention protest groups were discussed at closed Justice Department meetings persided over by Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst, the source said.

Robert C. Mardian, former head of the department's Internal Security Division but by last summer a staff member of President Nixon's reelection committee, was a regular participant at the sessions, the source said.

Twister kills one, hurts 9 in Minnesota

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms rumbled across scattered areas from the Pacific Northwest to New England and Florida today, but most of the nation enjoyed fair and mild weather.

Winds were clocked at 60 miles per hour at Omaha, Neb., and 35 at West Palm Beach, Fla., during thunderstorms Wednesday night.

A twister that ripped through a trailer park in a suburb south of Minneapolis-St. Paul Wednesday caused the death of a 5-year-old boy and injured his mother critically.

Nine were injured as the tornado destroyed 12 of 70 trailers in the park and damaged others. Two other funnel clouds were sighted in central Minnesota.

Rain was generally less than an inch wherever thunderstorms broke out.

In Santa Fe, N.M., state highway crews worked Wednesday to rechannel a stretch of the Rio Grande to relieve water erosion of a dike in the north section of the city.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 33 at Missoula, Mont., to 85 at Needles, Calif.

The Mississippi River north of St. Louis, Mo., has begun to recede after reaching crests far below the records established late last month.

The lower crests were attributed by a National Weather Service spokesman to less runoff from flooded land than had been expected.

The weather service predicted that the Mississippi would crest — for the fourth time this year — at St. Louis at 38.5 feet on Saturday. Earlier it said the crest would hit 39 feet. Flood stage at St. Louis is 30 feet.

Farther south, Army engineers said dry weather has caused them to lower their backwater flood predictions in the Vicksburg, Miss., area.

Some 12 million acres of land remain under water from south of the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico. As many as 39,000 persons are still unable to return to their homes. Damage has been estimated at $410 million.

Army engineer officials said the absence of heavy rain this week in the Yazoo basin in Mississippi will keep the backwaters from rising, but flood water will probably remain in the area for at least six weeks after the Mississippi's crest passes Vicksburg this weekend.

In Louisiana, shy wild deer were reported starving at some points along 230 miles of the state's levees. Sheriff Bill Poe of Tensas Parish asked for state aid for feeding about 2,500 deer driven out of their usual bottomland haunts by the floods.

Council continues salary hike plans

City Council proceeded with action during its regular session Wednesday night to increase the salaries of new Council members, but an amendment to the original plan is being proposed to reduce the amount of the increase.

Council also heard a request from Walter Driesbach, owner of the former Fayette Elevator building on E. Court Street, for additional time to comply with an order to improve or remove the building and named a member to the Zoning Board of Appeals.

The pay raise ordinance, proposing salaries of $100 per month for Council members and $150 per month for the chairman, was placed on first reading. An amendment, proposed by Councilman John E. Rhoads to reduce the increases to $60 for councilmen and $90 for the chairman, became tangled in the rules of procedure and on the advice of Acting City Solicitor Dennis Ulrich was delayed until the May 23 session.

BEFORE offering the amendment Rhoads commented that $100 per month is a very little amount of pay for the amount of work. Councilman Joe O'Brien also commented that during the past year he had worked an average of 30 hours a week on city business.

O'Brien and Council Chairman Billie Wilson both pointed out that the proposed increase would not become effective until Jan. 1 and would only apply to the four members to be elected in November. Members whose terms do not expire this year will not receive the increase.

Council members are currently paid $360 per year, and the Council chairman receives $720 per year.

DRIESBACH, in reference to a notice from building inspector Glenn Tatman declaring the former elevator building a public nuisance, asked Council for an extension of time to comply with the order. He said he is under contract with a Realtor for the sale of the property. He told Council that if the building is not sold in 90 days it will be torn down.

Driesbach also promised that open doors and windows would be closed, possibly today. He said this has been done before, but vandals had opened the building and a rear door had been stolen. He also criticized city officials for not contacting him before making a public announcement concerning the building and "going to the cussed newspapers". He said he had never been contacted about the condition of the building until he received the notice from the building inspector.

City Manager Dan Wolford pointed out that city officials did not make an announcement to the news media. Wolford said the building situation was discussed by Council at a regular meeting and was "picked up by the media."

Council took no action on the request but agreed to grant the building owner a hearing within 60 days, as required by city ordinance.

Three other properties, one on Lakeview Avenue and two double houses in the 100 block of W. Paint St., were also discussed as public nuisances.

ALL 11-MEMBER parking commission for the purpose of fostering additional downtown parking was named by Wilson. Selected for the committee were: Larry Solden, Dale Wade, Ray Downing, Richard Whiteside, James Ward, Albert Bryant, Robert Lee, along with alternates Al C. Heer and Jack Alkire, Councilmen Hugh Patton and O'Brien, and industry representative Jack Brennan.

Horace L. Jacobs, 123 Clearview Rd., was appointed to the Zoning Board of Appeals. He will replace Glenn Tatman who is now the building inspector.

During the "Call to Council period", Councilman Ralph Cook asked that two-hour parking be established on

More Watergate questions raised

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, in a speech to the party faithful and financial backers, promises that "the guilty will be brought to justice" in the Watergate scandal. But Senate testimony about high-level involvement in clandestine operations has raised new questions about the strange goings-on.

In a Watergate development earlier in the day, the director of the Central Intelligence Agency told senators that a trusted Nixon adviser, John D. Ehrlichman, smoothed the way for E. Howard Hunt to obtain CIA materials later used in an office burglary.

CIA Chief James L. Schlesinger said the agency didn't know what Hunt's mission was but that giving him the aid was ill-advised, even though Ehrlichman, who gave up his White House post last week, was said to have asked that Hunt receive agency assistance.

Hunt, a one-time CIA employe, has testified he took part in the September 1971 burglary of a Los Angeles psychiatrist's office in an attempt to photograph the doctor's files on Daniel Ellsberg, a defendant in the Pentagon papers trial.

At the time, Hunt was working for the White House as a "security-affairs consultant." Nine months later, he was arrested in the break-in at Democratic headquarters in the Watergate here.

Shortly after the Watergate arrests, Schlesinger said, the CIA gave an account of its dealings with Hunt to top Justice Department officials and Earl J. Silbert, chief prosecutor in the Watergate case.

It is not clear what was done with the information before the CIA's involvement was disclosed by The New York Times this week.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said "it is clear and shocking" that the agency violated the 1947 National Security Act by allowing itself to be used as a "costume house" by White House officials involved in domestic, covert operations.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, indicated he may expand his probe into the affair.

In another development related to the 1972 election, The New York Times today quoted sources as saying a New York grand jury is expected to return indictments today against two former members of Nixon's Cabinet.

The Times said the indictments would be returned against former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, who for a time headed the 1972 Nixon campaign, and former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans, the President's chief fund-raiser.

Senate to delay Richardson vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee appears unlikely to act on Elliot L. Richardson's nomination to be attorney general until he announces his choice as special Watergate prosecutor.

One of the Republican members, Sen. Marlow Cook of Kentucky, said Wednesday "that seems to be the sense of the committee."

The panel continues its questioning of Richardson today.

Richardson, now secretary of defense, told the committee he could name a Watergate prosecutor.

But Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott, also a committee member, said he expects Richardson's choice will be made known before a vote is taken on his nomination.

At the windup of the committee's first day of hearings, the subject had shifted to the break-in at the Los Angeles office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist. Ellsberg is on trial in Los Angeles for releasing the Pentagon papers.

Under questioning by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., Richardson testified that President Nixon never suggested to him that the Justice Department not provide information about the break-in to the California court.

Richardson said the only conversation he had with the President on the subject was a week ago Sunday when Nixon told him he had decided information about the break-in should be made available to the court.

Kennedy's questioning was prompted by a news story that Nixon had urged Richardson and Deputy Atty. Gen. Henry E. Petersen not to provide the information because it might adversely affect national security.

Richardson said this was not so, testifying "no suggestion ever came to me that disclosure should not be made."

Egil Krogh Jr., a former White House aide who headed an operation to try to plug leaks of what was regarded as national-security information, has taken responsibility for directing the break-in in which two convicted Watergate defendants participated.

Schlesinger to become defense chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon picked CIA Director James S. Schlesinger as defense secretary today and added John Connally to his White House staff as a special adviser in moves to plug holes left by the Watergate scandal.

Nixon also abandoned his "super-Cabinet" concept of counselors; promoted William E. Colby to CIA director, and named Pentagon general counsel J. Fred Buzhardt Jr. to his White House staff as a special counsel with "full responsibility in matters relating to the Watergate investigation."

The series of actions to bolster his beleaguered administration were disclosed first by Nixon at a Cabinet meeting, then announced by press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler at a White House news briefing.

The presidential decisions came 10 days after Nixon's closest aides—H. R. Haldeman and John Ehrlichman—and Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst resigned amid a swirl of Watergate developments.

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — Ohio residents may soon get their own taste of Watergate.

Gov. John J. Gilligan says he's been asked to approve a new line of bourbon, vodka and gin for sale at state liquor stores. The brand name is Watergate.

Gilligan says he's not sure how successful the new brand would be, because he hears it causes hangovers.

Scandal dampens GOP fund-raiser

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a personal bid to keep wavering Republicans in line, President Nixon has promised to get to the bottom of the Watergate scandal and continue fighting for his second-term programs.

"I didn't get where I am by ducking tough issues," Nixon told a crowd which paid $1,000 a plate for filet mignon and the President's most spirited defense yet of his embattled administration.

However, planners of the fund-raising affair conceded the proceeds and attendance were far below par and blamed the widening scandal for cooling off donors who chipped in record campaign chests last year.

Nixon warmly praised those who did turn out Wednesday night, and said he and the GOP are still winners.

"This nation, Republicans, Democrats, independents, all Americans, can have confidence in the fact that the new nominee for attorney general, Elliot Richardson, and the special prosecutor he will appoint will have total cooperation from the executive and will get to the bottom of it (the Watergate case) and see to it that all of those who are guilty will be prosecuted and brought to justice," Nixon said.

"We are not going to allow this deplorable incident to deter or detract us from going ahead and achieving the great goals the overwhelming number of Americans elected us to achieve in 1972," he said.

The dinner, which raised money for next year's Republican congressional campaigns, had been expected to bring in $2 million, but the official estimate was that it would "barely scrape by $1 million."

However, committee officials confided privately that the paying attendance might have produced no more than $750,000 to $800,000 gross and as little as $600,000 campaign cash.

This would compare to the $1.3-million minimum raised at past off-year events, and the $6 million raised in one night last fall when Nixon addressed a multi-city hookup of dinners by closed-circuit television.

"I shall always remember this group tonight," Nixon said, "remember that when the going got tough, you hung in there, when the challenge was greatest, you didn't lose your faith.

Model legislature begins in Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The 22nd annual Model Legislature sponsored by the Ohio YMCA began here today.

About 400 teenagers were expected to participate in the mock legislative session, which will deal with questions ranging from euthanasia to year-around utilization of schools and teachers.

U. S. 35 segment to close Monday for bridge repair

The Ohio Department of Transportation announced Thursday that a section of U.S. 35 just south of Washington C.H. will be closed for part of next week beginning Monday.

The bridge over Paint Creek will be getting a new deck, and the refurbishing is expected to take approximately three days. The bride is a mile southeast of the city.

The working will be done by a crew from the Fayette County Ohio Department of Transportation garage under the supervision of Gene Fitzpatric.

One possible detour will be to take U.S. 22 to Old Chillicothe Road (entrance to the industrial park) to U.S. 35 south of the repair site.

Ohio House gets lottery commission bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Senate-passed bill which would establish a state lottery commission to draw up a report on conducting a lottery made its way to the floor of the House today.

The House Rules Committee wasted no time Wednesday in putting the bill on the calendar after voters Tuesday approved a constitutional amendment removing a ban on state-run lotteries.

The Senate bill had been in the Rules Committee since April 5. It passed the Senate on March 1 by a 25-1 vote.

Rep. Tom Fries, D-35 Dayton, is expected to handle the bill on the House floor. The sponsor of the lottery bill in the Senate was Sen. Ronald M. Mottl, D-24 Parma. The bill creates a nine-man commission to study lottery operations and to make a recommendation.

Mottl believes that Ohio can be operating a lottery by November now that voters have voiced their approval.

In Wednesday floor sessions the house approved seven bills and sent them to the Senate. Among the bills was one that would grant furloughs to "trustworthy" prison inmates, upon promise to return.

Rep. William L. Mallory, D-23 Cincinnati, sponsor of the measure said, "this bill by no means extends the privilege to every prisoner in the state."

Among the stipulations for a leave is a requirement that a prisoner must have served at least six months of his term, except in the case of a family funeral or fatal illness.

Mallory noted that present law provides for furloughs if the inmate is accompanied by a guard. But experience in other states has shown that inmates properly screened will return to serve out their terms, he said. In the event a prisoner fails to return, he would be charged as an escapee, he added.

Without significant opposition, the House approved proposals to increase the monetary jurisdiction of small claims courts from $150 to $300, require school superintendent certification of claims for state school foundation payments, revise laws for school district transfers and consolidations, excuse delinquent taxes of churches which filed to apply for their exemption, ease requirements for a surviving spouse to claim an estate, and authorize the sale of school and ministerial lands for education financing.

In Senate actions two bills were passed and sent to the House. A bill allowing administrators of workmen's compensation funds to make short-term commercial investments passed by a vote of 30-0.

After some debate the Senate approved 31-1 a bill to allow the state's extension service program to increase its demonstration farms from 15 to 100.

Several urban area representatives objected to the $500,000 to $700,000 expected costs of the program until a member of their own ranks, Sen. Harry Meshel, D-66 Youngstown, took the floor.

"As we have supported measures for urban areas, so should we support similar programs for rural areas," Meshel said. Meshel was one of the bill's sponsors.

Deaths, Funerals

William C. Reese

SABINA — William C. Reese, 87, of Sabina, died at 5:50 p.m. Wednesday in Fayette Memorial Hospital where he had been a patient five days.

A retired farmer, he had resided in Sabina most of his life. His wife, the former Edith Grooms, preceded him in death.

Survivors include five sons, Harley and James of Sabina, Roy of Rt. 1, Sabina, Raymond of Rt. 4, Wilmington, and Paul of Quinton, Va.; nine grandchildren; seven great-grandchildren; a sister and two brothers.

Mr. Reese was a member of the Sabina House of Prayer.

Services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Littleton Funeral Home with the Rev. Dale Watson, officiating. Burial will be in Sabina Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home from 3 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. Friday.

NELLIE O. WENTZ — Services for Miss Nellie O. Wentz, 75, of 310 McElwain St., were held at 1 p.m. Wednesday in the Gerstner - Kinzer Funeral Home with the Rev. Cloyce Copley officiating. Miss Wentz died Sunday.

MRS. FLORENCE FAWCETT — Services for Mrs. Florence McNeil Fawcett, 74, of Rt. 3, were held at 3 p.m. Wednesday in the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home with the Rev. Cloyce Copley officiating. Mrs. Fawcett, the widow of Willard Fawcett, died Monday.

Pallbearers for burial in Sabina Cemetery were Ron, Richard and David Purtell, Dennis Anschutz, Loren McNeil and Elton Jenkins.

Dean claims efforts made to stifle him

WASHINGTON (AP) — John W. Dean III said today there is "an ongoing effort to limit or prevent" his testifying fully and freely in the Watergate case and to discredit him personally.

"I have learned from several good friends that there is a concerted effort to 'get me,'" Dean said in a statement issued through an intermediary.

A report published in the New York Times today quoted unnamed Senate and federal investigators as saying the ousted White House counsel has no evidence to link President Nixon to the Watergate affair or its cover-up.

Dean said he was issuing his statement because of the news stories.

"The information contained in these stories is neither complete nor accurate. I have not, and will not, leak my testimony to the media," the statement said.

Dean said "blatant efforts have been made to publicly intimidate me.

"Efforts have been made to prevent me from obtaining relevant information and records; attempts have been made to influence the handling of my testimony by the prosecutors; restrictions have been placed on the scope of my testimony as it relates to the White House."

Last Friday, Dean sent the keys to a bank safe deposit to U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica, saying he had placed classified documents in the box, fearing they would be destroyed.

The White House asked the court Wednesday to return the papers, while retaining copies.

"I seek to get no one, rather I seek to get only the truth," Dean said. "This infamous matter has already lingered too long and done too much damage to the processes of government. It will only end when the truth is told."

Svetlana divorced

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The marriage of Svetlana Stalin to William Wesley Peters has ended in a divorce by default.

Superior Court Judge Lawrence Doyle issued the divorce Tuesday after Mrs. Peters, daughter of the late Russian dictator Joseph Stalin, failed to appear in court.

Community education survey contemplated

A group of local citizens who are interested in a community education program in Washington C. H. met Wednesday to further organize their ideas on the feasibility of such an undertaking.

The group previously had approached the school board to determine whether school facilities might be available for evening classes.

The board at its April 16 meeting had stated that school property could be used if a local group could organize and present a workable program.

The purpose of the meeting Wednesday was to discuss the prospects and potential of such a program and to decide upon a means of determining whether or not there would be sufficient interest throughout the community.

Although it was shown that community education has been a huge success in other areas, it was argued that the assembled group had no way to measure local response.

KAYE F. BARTLETT, Area Extenstion Agent for Community Resource Development and spokesman for the group, said that he would begin to contact persons who have expressed interest in the past to get their feelings on the subject. He hopes that at least some of these will be interested in forming a committee to determine the amount the community support evening classses might receive.

If there is sufficient interest he would like to see this committee draft a plan for implementing the program to be offered to the community as well as to the school board.

In addition to those persons he knows and contacts, Bartlett said he will be interested in hearing from other local residents who are willing to serve on the committee or attend meetings to offer suggestions or opinions A specific meeting time has not been set, but further information may be obtained by contacting Bartlett at the Area Extension Center (335-2755), 317 S. Fayette St.

Superintendent of Schools Edwin Nestor, who was asked to attend the meeting, offered, as encouragement, the response to courses presented by the Dale Carnegie program in recent years. He said the turnout for these courses has been quite good even though the tuition was 10-20 times higher than those anticipated for community classes.

Gary Casey, manager of the Holt-House of Furniture, who attended the most recent Carnegie class, reported that there were 20-25 persons in attendance for the 10-week course to help individuals overcome difficulties in talking to groups. He said that some people who were shy and reserved when the course began were talking freely to the group by the end of the 10 weeks.

Federal strike force joins Commerce agency probe

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The U.S. Justice Department's Cleveland-based organized crime strike force has entered the investigation of the alleged stock sale payoff case related to the Ohio Commerce Department.

David Margolis, attorney in charge of the strike force, said that one attorney has been assigned directly to investigate and another has been assigned to the Columbus U.S. attorney's office because of the complication of the case.

The move was made because of the possibility that public officials were involved in the case.

Margolis said that the investigation had not determined that the alleged bribe was a violation of federal law. He said that must be determined before any evidence will go to the grand jury.

The alleged bribe involves Anthony P. LaFatch and the National Realty Corp., which was seeking approval of a $10 million stock sale by the Ohio Department of Commerce.

LaFatch's Miami, Fla., home was raided by FBI agents April 27 and $50,000 in cash and checks were seized. The Commerce Department approved the sale the same day. LaFatch, who also has a home in Akron, Ohio, has not been charged.

Officials of the National Realty Corp. said they paid the $50,000 to LaFatch in order to get approval of the stock sale.

LaFatch was a minor contributor to Commerce Director Dennis Shaul's unsuccessful campaign in 1971 for mayor of Akron.

Shaul later admitted that he had discussed the stock sale with LaFatch. But added, that he thought at that time that LaFatch was probably interested as a potential investor.

Farm plan puts help on escalator

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Agriculture Committee has approved a farm bill that would cut farm costs to the government when the market is high but boost subsidies when the market is low.

The bill, approved Wednesday, works this way:

It sets an "established price" for wheat, feed grain and cotton amounting to 70 per cent of parity. For dairy products, it would be 80 per cent.

As long as the market price remains at the established price, farmers would get no cash from the government. But if the established price falls below the market price, the government would make up the difference.

The established prices, set at $2.28 a bushel for wheat, $1.53 per bushel for corn and 43 cents per pound for cotton, would be adjusted annually for five years. The set dairy price, which varies for products, will be in effect for only one year.

Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., committee chairman, said the plan would give the administration "the benefit of the doubt."

"If the predictions we have heard about expanded foreign and domestic markets for agriculture come true, it won't cost the taxpayers one thin dime for supplemental payments. However, if the experts miss their predictions, then the government, which would have the major hand in creating any possible crop surpluses, would share the cost of the error with the farmers," Talmadge said.

House votes on war funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House decides today whether to authorize money for U.S. bombing of Cambodia. President Nixon's supporters said the showdown could result in the first House antiwar vote of the Indochina conflict.

Rep. Joe D. Waggonner, D-La., a leader of Southern Democrats who in the past have joined Republicans in support of presidents' war policies, said the coalition favoring the Nixon stand was about five votes short late Wednesday.

"If we were voting right now I think we'd lose," Waggonner said.

The vote was on Nixon's request in a $2.8-billion supplemental money bill for authority to transfer $430 million for military spending, including $150 million for the bombing and other Indochina activities.

Secretary of Defense Elliot L. Richardson said Monday the bombing will continue in an effort to force a Cambodia ceasefire even if Congress rejects the transfer authority.

Democratic leaders of the House and Senate pressed for its rejection anyway, contending it could be construed as approval not only of the Cambodian bombing but of future U.S. steps to try to force a cease-fire.

"I don't want to declare another war with ambiguous language in an appropriation bill," House Speaker Carl Albert said last week.

World grain inadequate

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The world's reserves of grain are reported so low that some areas may face starvation if the coming harvest is poor.

Stocks of wheat and other food grains no longer provide an adequate buffer against crop failure, the Food and Agriculture Organization told the Economic Committee of the U.N. Economic and Social Council on Wednesday.

As a result, FAO is drafting a "minimum world food security" program in which major consuming countries would share with grain-growing countries the responsibility for emergency stockpiling. Director-General Addeke H. Boerma is to unveil the program at the agency's annual meeting in Rome next month.

Ambassador I.A. Akbun of Pakistan said such a program would make maintenance of grain stocks a global responsibility instead of something left to the producing countries and market conditions.

In past years, needy countries have been able to count on huge surpluses in producing countries, mainly the United States and Canada, but FAO Asst. Director-General E.M. Ojala said these surpluses have now disappeared.

"The governments concerned have developed new techniques for adjusting production to demand," he told the economic committee.

He said that even if surpluses reappear, "they will be temporary and undependable as the world's central food reserve in moments of crisis."

Dismissal sought in Ellsberg case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Attorneys for Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo conclude their last arguments today on why they think the charges against their clients should be dismissed before the Pentagon papers trial, now tightly enmeshed with the Watergate scandal, goes to the jury.

U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne has promised that sometime during the day he would make a decision on the defense motion for dismissal based on Watergate and White House involvements in the case.

The defense has been pressing for dismissal ever since it was first revealed that Watergate conspirators E. Howard Hunt and G. Gordon Liddy had masterminded a burglary of the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

Attorneys for Ellsberg and Russo contend government activities uncovered by the judge's two-week probe of tha matter have shown that the defendants' rights to a fair trial were violated.

Asst. U.S. Atty. David Nissen said nothing from the burglary was used by the Justice Department in prosecuting Ellsberg and Russo and that the government's evidence against them has not been tainted. He opposes dismissal of the charges.

But the defense team says it will not be satisfied until it has explanations of all government actions in the matter—including the 10-day delay between the time Watergate prosecutor Earl J. Silbert reported the burglary information and the day it was reported to Byrne.

Four Justice Department officials, including Nissen, filed affidavits with Byrne Wednesday saying they knew nothing about the burglary until the Silbert memo on April 16. But none of the statements mentioned why it took until April 26 to tell Byrne.

The defense team said it considered the affidavits "entirely insufficient" and would keep pressing for a full scale hearing with testimony. Defense attorneys have said they are "actively considering" trying to allege that President Nixon impeded delivery of the memo to the judge.

More scattered showers and thunderstorms can be expected over Ohio today as another cold front moves across the state. The showers are expected to end gradually with temperatures climbing into the 70s again today.

The National Weather Service added that a little cooler weather is likely tonight in most sections with lows ranging from the upper 40s in the extreme northwest to the low 60s in the southeast.

There were some showers and thunderstorms in the state again Wednesday night but most rainfall amounts were light, a quarter inch or less. A brief period of heavy rain at the Canton-Akron Airport was accompanied by wind gusts to 50 m.p.h.

Mild weather is continuing with temperatures at dawn ranging from the upper 50s to the mid 60s. The morning weather chart showed the low pressure centered over Lake Superior with the cold front from Lake Huron through northern Indiana to central Missouri.

This is the front which will move eastward to a line from western New York through southeastern Ohio to western Tennessee by Thursday evening and pushing on east by Friday morning.

As the front continues out of the area mostly sunny weather on Friday will see temperatures a little lower, ranging from the mid and upper 60s in the north to mostly the low 70s in the south.

Stock list goes lower

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices edged lower again today, as Wall Street worried over Mideast oil talks, important labor negotiations and rising steel prices.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 2.76 to 946.27 at noon.

Analysts called the slide a continuation of Wednesday's decline, when the Dow lost nearly 6 points after talks between Western oil companies and Mideast oil countries ended in failure. The halt of crude oil shipments from Lebanon because of fighting there also depressed stock prices.

They were dealt a fresh jolt today when U.S. Steel said it was raising some of its prices by almost 5 per cent.

Compromise REA bill OKd

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has approved a compromise rural electrification and telephone loan bill.

The bill's floor manager, Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., and Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., said after its passage 93-3 Wednesday that they were certain President Nixon would sign it.

Nixon abruptly halted last December the program that permitted rural co-ops to borrow money at 2 per cent interest for electrification and telephone projects.

Under terms of the compromise measure, a limited number of 2 per cent loans would be made available, but most of the loans would carry 5 per cent interest rates.

The bill would make $758 million in insured loans available annually, $618 million for electrification projects and $140 for telephones. Of this amount, $105 million would be for 2 per cent loans in needy cases, and the rest at 5 per cent.

EPA seeks plans for wastewater

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Environmental Protection Agency has ordered the Ohio Power Co. to submit plans of wastewater facilities at the company's Gavin plant within 60 days or face loss of certification for state and federal tax exemptions.

Ohio EPA Director Dr. Ira L. Whitman has sent a letter to the company asking for the wastewater plans and seven additional reports concerning the Gallia County facility's projected effect on air pollution.

Wheat estimates expected to rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department is scheduled to publish today (3 p.m. EDT May 10) an estimate of U.S. winter wheat production this year, including the outlook for per acre yields as of May 1.

Although the first official field estimates for 1973 output of spring-planted wheat are not due until July, the winter wheat figure will give a idea how this year's over-all crop is shaping up.

Last March, when USDA published farm planting intentions for various crops, wheat production this year was projected at a record of 1.732 billion bushels, 12 per cent more than farmers harvested last year and 7 per cent more than the previous high of 1.618 billion in 1971.

The March figure included a winter wheat estimate—actually made last December—of 1.278 billion bushels, which also would be a new high. Projected in March on the basis of expected acreage and yield trends, the 1973 crops of durum and other spring wheat were put at around 454 million bushels.

If in the proportion of 1.7 billion bushels or larger, the 1973 crop of all types of wheat would go a long way in replenishing U.S. supplies. Those reserves, drained off by record exports, are expected to be the lowest in six years when the new crop year begins July 1.

Total exports for the fiscal year ending June 30 are currently put at 1.150 billion bushels, including the sale in 1972 of 440 million to the Soviet Union. Looking ahead to next fiscal year, officials say wheat exports could run about 950 million bushels.

The record exports, topping the old mark of 867 million bushels in 1965-66, will leave a July 1 reserve estimate now at no more than 441 million bushels. A year ago the stockpile was 863 million bushels.

Although Russia is not expected to repeat its big 1972 wheat order from U.S. farmers, administration officials do think the Soviets will continue to buy substantial amounts on the world market.

OMSA names new officers, eyes abortion

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio State Medical Association passed a resolution recommending standards for abortions and elected new officers on the last day of its annual meeting Wednesday.

Dr. James Henry of Grove City was elected president-elect of the organization. Dr. William Wells of Newark will serve as secretary-treasurer for the next year.

Dr. Oscar Clarke of Gallipolis was installed as president of the 10,000-member group at the end of the final meeting.

Clarke is a trustee of the Holzer Hospital Foundation in Gallipolis and has represented his area on the organization's council for the past seven years.

OSMA was founded in 1835 and is made up of 88 county medical societies.

A spokesman for the association said the group has never condoned abortions except when the mother's life was in danger.

He added, however, that in view of the recent Supreme Court ruling, which makes Ohio's anti-abortion law invalid, the association is setting up standards for the operations.

COON DOG — Two 6-week-old raccoons have been adopted by a terrier dog owned by Orval Lunsford of New Holland. The mother of the infants was also owned by Lunsford as a pet, and was killed shortly after the baby raccoons were born. The dog assumed the duties of mother.

Legion election Monday

A list of 24 nominees has been sent to members of Paul H. Hughey Post 25, American Legion, from which they will select 11 for the post's executive committee at an election Monday.

The new executive committee will organize within a few days after the election — possibly that night — to name a post commander and other officers. Ed Warning is the present commander; Hargis Ramey is the adjutant.

Terms of office for the new executive committee and post officers begin with the first regular meeting in June.

Of the 24 nominees, only one, R. Burris Tharp, is a veteran of World War I; 13 of them, William Jaeckels, Norman Moore Sr., Malcolm Jette, Emrum Lynch, Clarence Cash, Weldon Starr, Hargis Ramey, Fred Allen Sr., Roy Sword, Chester Hamulak, Gene Hatfield, George Countryman and Phil Ford, are World War II veterans; and 10, Herb Jones, H. B. Dixon, Danny K. Bell, Gerald Wright, Larry Sword, Kenneth Shaver, Ronald Batson, Fred Osborne, Mike Flynn and Roger Taylor, are veterans of the Korean War.

The polls will be open from 2:30 to 9 p.m. Monday in the Legion Home, 212 N. Fayette St.

Boy Scouts in 'rescue'

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Ohio (AP) — John had been playing in the park and failed to come home. The news interrupted a Boy Scout "Fun Night" at the park and led quickly to a search.

A fire truck, siren blaring, rolled up, and firemen joined the hunt.

Scouts of Troop 72, began combing the park. Firemen were joined by police.

The search was extended to more than a mile from the starting point. Twenty-five minutes later, Tim Haswell and Larry and Ted Newton were shouting, "We found him."

Only then did the Scouts learn that John was only a dummy of stuffed clothing which had been propped against a tree earlier in the day by Scoutmaster David Keppler and his assistants, Tom Yenny and Don Kelly.

The search was exercise to help Scouts learn.

The founder and first president of Trinity College in Hartford, Conn., was Thomas Church Brownell, then Episcopal Bishop of Connecticut.

School bus service stops

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — School bus service came to a halt Wednesday at two Cincinnati junior high schools after bus drivers complained of unruly students.

"The students have backed us against the wall, and we're not going to take any more," said Eugene Metz, president of the Amalgamated Transit Union.

"I don't know how they got home today and care less," he said.

Vandalism also reportedly was a factor in discontinuance of service.

Herman V. Bryant, principal of Merry Junior High, said the stoppage came "by mutual agreement between the Cincinnati Transit Co. and the Board of Education."

A tall-l-l tower

The architect who designed the newly "topped out" Sears tower in Chicago thinks of it in lofty terms. "It's part of the history of Chicago architecture," said Bruce J. Graham the other day, "to make poetry out of tall buildings."

Whether or not the Sears tower qualifies as poetry is a matter of taste. No one can deny that it is tall. It is taller than any other structure ever raised by humankind - 104 feet taller than the newly erected twin towers of the World Trade Center of New York, 204 feet taller than that city's famed Empire State Building. Moreover, a couple of 305-foot television antennae will extend its reach into the blue.

This has occasioned a certain amount of civic jubilation in the Windy City, which has long suffered from a bit of an inferiority complex vis a vis what O. Henry called Baghdad on the Hudson.

We're not quite sure jubilation is warranted by this continuance of the skyscraper phenomenon. Sometimes it seems there ought to be a better way of progress than deepening urban stone canyons. But the Sears tower is mighty impressive, granted; there's no getting around that.

Finding sense in Watergate

Practically every commentator who has had anything to say about the Watergate case has remarked on its stupidity. I have done so myself, referring to E. Howard Hunt, James W. McCord, George Gordon Liddy and the rest as political cretins who could only have succeeded in turning up worthless information by bugging the Democratic Party headquarters.

But the alleged connection of the CIA with the burglary of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist, which could have had an intelligent motive, makes one wonder.

Gen. Robert E. Cushman Jr., who, as a CIA employe back in 1971 is supposed to have authorized the use of the agency's equipment and research in the job of lifting the Ellsberg records, cannot by any manner of means be described as stupid.

He was Vice President Nixon's adviser on national security for four years. He served with distinction in Vietnam before Nixon, as President, called him back to Washington to become deputy director of the CIA.

The CIA's charter gives the agency no authority to mix in domestic affairs, but it could be argued that the Pentagon Papers, which Ellsberg had conveniently tossed over the transom of the New York Times, had "foreign" implications.

Conceivably Hanoi might have been waiting with bated breath to read them. CIA complicity in getting a look-see at anything involving the leaking of the papers could have been justified as part of its mandate to protect "intelligence methods and sources from unauthorized disclosure."

E. HOWARD HUNT, one of the ex-CIA members of the Watergate team, had access to a scrambled telephone linked with the CIA. Cushman supposedly made everything easy for Hunt and his accomplice Liddy to deal with the CIA. The whole business makes a sinister but understandable sense: it could have been an instance of the government trying to keep its security tight at a time when Nixon was maneuvering to make deals with the Red Chinese and the Soviet Union to get us out of the Vietnam War.

Richard Helms, who was head of the CIA before Nixon tapped him to serve as ambassador to Iran, has denied that his old agency had anything to do with Watergate. But Hunt and James McCord, as ex-CIA employes, could have regarded themselves as continuing captains of a CIA "spin-off" operation.

Four members of their Watergate team actually thought they were engaged in a CIA fishing expedition. What would justify fishing at the Watergate? Only the supposition that a foreign angle was involved.

The four underlings — and Hunt, McCord and Liddy at the top — could have been listening in to catch attempted foreign manipulation of a major American political party.

This is no excuse for breaking and entry, for burglary, or for conducting electronic espionage at the expense of U.S. citizens without a warrant. But the supposition that Watergate was undertaken as part of a continuing Cold War effort to protect the American republic against the possible connivings of the Communist powers gives it at least a measure of dignity. It supplies an intelligent motive for doing a thing that, on the surface, was a nonsensical act.

HUNT, who served the CIA for 20 years, couldn't have been in the business of the Watergate just to get early access to George McGovern's speaking engagements in Boston or Peoria. He had played his part in the Bay of Pigs abortive invasion of Cuba and in the operation that kept the Communists from taking over the government of Guatemala in 1954.

A veteran of the Cold War, he must have considered himself a silent partner of the CIA when he went to the White House in 1971 to become one of the "plumbers" charged with preventing security leaks. He has said that he "worked closely with the CIA" in trying to stop leaks that had endangered the SALT talks and had "resulted in the extermination of one of our agents in Asia."

If the CIA had anything to do with Watergate, Hunt, as a patriot, could not possibly squeal on his old buddies. That would prejudice our whole intelligence operation.

Regardless of whether there were any formal ties with the CIA or not, Hunt, in his own mind, could have considered that, in the Watergate business, he was doing work he had been trained to do: i.e., counter-intelligence. The only justification for bugging the Watergate would have been to find out what foreign agents were doing to influence an American election.

Few Chinese aware of Watergate

PEKING — President Nixon's finest hour was when he came to Peking in February 1972 to end 20 years of isolation from the world's most populous nation.

A spectacular performance on television, it was meant not as an end in itself but as the first step in a renewal of the close relationship that had once existed. In short, it was a new turn in the long love affair between the United States and China.

That is important to recall in light of the disaster to the Nixon Administration. For the Chinese, in receiving the President and reversing the propaganda so long targeted on the wicked imperialist, put a far greater stake on the ultimate outcome than did the United States.

My wife and I had been in China for 36 hours before we learned of the President's dramatic appeal to the nation and the housecleaning of top officials. Then we got the news from a fellow American who had still been in Hong Kong when the story broke.

Not a word in any Chinese newspaper or on the state radio, it was a striking commentary on the difference between the two social orders.

AT THE VERY top, to be sure, the full text of the President's address came by short-wave shortly after it was delivered. Excerpts from the address and a report of the events of that dramatic night were contained in a private semi-official letter going out to the cadres in the provincial capitals throughout the country.

This would have a circulation of something more than five million. Add another several million with transistor radios capable of picking up short-wave broadcasts on BBC or the Voice of America and the total would be perhaps one per cent of the 800 million Chinese.

For that one per cent the future of an administration in Washington with 3½ years still in office is supremely important. This is not alone for the mutual benefits that can flow between the two countries but for the peace of the entire world.

THE NIXON-KISSINGER structure of peace is three-cornered. China, the United States and the Soviet Union are in relationship of tension eased by common compromise. The American weight in this three-cornered structure is essential in view of the deep-seated hostility between the People's Republic and the Soviet Union. Without that weight the structure of peace would be jeopardized if indeed it would not fall.

The Nixon promise of a generation of peace is in question. The credibility of the government in Washington is essential to carry through the great undertaking in foreign policy that was the achievement of the first four Nixon years. To lose this in a prolonged and venomous domestic quarrel would be the ultimate tragedy.

Fortunately, there is ongoing movement. The arrival of David K.E. Bruce, America's most distinguished diplomat, next week to open a liaison mission will mark the beginning of a new phase in the rebuilding of confidence between the two powers.

PEKING, in turn, is sending their No. 1 diplomat, Huang Chang, until recently ambassador to France, to Washington. A delegation of Chinese journalists will shortly go to the United States. They will be accompanied by officials of the information division of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and presumably their impressions will be recorded in the carefully controlled official press.

Trade negotiations between Washington and Peking are very much to the fore. The visitor arriving in the immediate aftermath of the Watergate upheaval is invariably asked what effect it will have on American policy. Will America now go isolationist?

These questions are understandable in a country where the cultural revolution produced a trauma accentuated by the overthrow of Mao Tse-tung's heir apparent, Lin Piao, and the "unmasking" of the traitorous Liu Shao-chih. The Chinese have endured so much of shock and upheaval that they can hardly be surprised that disasters occur even in the seat of government of one of the superpowers.

Onions rise in status

By JOY STILLEY

Editor's Note: Hal Boyle is ill.

NEW YORK (AP) — I have always cried when I peel onions.

These days I cry when I buy them.

That once lowly vegetable, scribbled nonchalantly on the grocery list and thrown carelessly into the shopping cart, is now a major purchase, to be budgeted for along with next winter's coat.

With its sudden rise in price the onion has also undergone a rise in status.

Talk around the afternoon bridge table is no longer confined to a discussion of the latest couturier creation picked up at that expensive boutique. A casually dropped mention that it's time to go home and fix onion soup for supper is what really wins instant respect.

So what if the customer ahead of you in the supermarket checkout line ostentatiously places a pound package of ground chuck on the counter with an extravagant shrug? You can practice one-upmanship by arranging the groceries so that the three-pound bag of onions proclaims who is really in the affluent class.

On second thought, maybe you should forget the pretentious display of solvency and strike up a friendship with a view to matrimony — the joining of both your purchase in a heavenly union of hamburger with onion.

After spending a lifetime munching on breath mints and talking with my mouth closed to make certain nobody knows I've been eating onions, I suddenly find it's an ego trip to make sure everyone within nose-shot is aware that I have the sweet smell of financial success.

Where in the past a pound of the little bulbs would last so long that they started sprouting tiny green shoots and rotting forlornly away from lack of attention, now every recipe I tackle contains onions as one of its main ingredients.

Whatever the variety of onion — yellow, white, red, purple — they're all worth their weight in gold.

No matter that there's a run in my last pair of stockings. Who cares if the landlord mutters threateningly about overdue rent? Forget about the good movie I've been wanting to see at the corner theater.

Man does not live by bread alone. I'm going to have steak and onions with mine — I just got my paycheck.

Ex-head bookkeeper named in charges

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The former head bookkeeper at the Portage National Bank in Kent was arrested Wednesday and charged with embezzling about $22,000, according to the FBI.

Dorothy Faith Parks, 34, allegedly embezzled the money from May, 1968, to March 1973, according to Frederick C. Fehl, special agent in charge of the Cleveland FBI office.

3 new lakes open for Ohio fishermen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Three new lakes will be opened this month to be used exclusively for fishing, the Division of Wildlife announced Wednesday.

They are Snowden Lake in Athens County, opening May 12, Kokosing Lake in Knox County, May 23, and Beaver Creek Reservoir in Seneca County, May 24.

Dear Abby:

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Don't take a vote to evade responsibility

DEAR ABBY: My mother has been a very sick woman for a year and a half. Her doctor says she could last another year, or die tomorrow. Half the time she doesn't even know me.

My husband and I have put off taking any kind of vacation ever since mother's illness, and we really must get away. My question: Should we go? I'm afraid if we go, mother might die, and we'll have to turn around and rush home.

I've asked our minister and he said we should go — but not too far. I've asked my mother-in-law and she said we shouldn't go at all. My best friend, who's a registered nurse, said we should go and take our chances. The doctor refuses to give me a yes or no. My husband says it's up to me.

What do you say, Abby?

HAVE A PROBLEM

DEAR HAVE: You have another problem: You want someone else to make the decision and accept the responsibility for it. So far you've polled the doctor, your minister, your mother-on-law, your best friend, you husband-and now me. Make your own decision, and accept full responsibility for it.

DEAR ABBY: I have been going around with this man for 6½ years. At one time we talked of marriage, but he asked that we postpone it because his mother was going through a divorce and he was quite upset about it.

Now, he tells me he thinks he is also in love with someone he met at work. He says he has never gone out with her, but they've had coffee a few times.

I love this man and want to marry him, but I can't think clearly now. How do you figure this?

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: I figure that 6½ years is long enough for him to make up his mind about marrying you. And if he could fall in love with a girl he's had only coffee with a few times, I'd like to know what kind of coffee it was. Tell him to get lost before he tells you to, which is probably what he has in mind.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 24-year-old college student. I'm also an alcoholic.

I just want to let kids know that they don't have to be over 30 and on skid row to qualify as an alcoholic. Alcoholicism is a disease that makes no distinctions in a person's age.

If teen-agers or young adults think they have a drinking problem and want to help themselves, please tell them to contact Alcoholic Anonymous. It is a wonderful organization of marvelous, understanding people who try to help each other.

Since I became a member two years ago it has helped me tremendously. Not only am I sober, I have been able to help others. It has been a lifesaving experience for me. Thank you for letting me share this.

YOUNG ALCOHOLIC

DEAR YOUNG: And thanks for wanting to.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MY READERS: Remember your mother next Sunday with a bouquet of flowers. (And if you're adopted, send her TWO bouquets.)

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, May 10, the 130th day of 1973. There are 235 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1869, a golden spike was driven at Ogden, Utah, marking the completion of the first railroad across the United States.

On this date—

In 1479, the Italian navigator, Amerigo Vespucci, sailed on his first voyage to the new world.

In 1775, Ethan Allen and a company of Vermont militiamen — the Green Mountain Boys — captured Ft. Ticonderoga, in New York, from the British.

In 1865, during the Civil War, Union forces captured Confederate President Jefferson Davis at Irwinville, Ga.

In 1871, France ceded Alsace-Lorraine to Germany after the Franco-Prussian War.

In 1940, during World War II, German forces invaded Belgium, Holland and Luxemburg.

In 1941, the Nazi leader, Rudolf Hess, parachuted into Scotland in a private attempt to make peace in World War II.

Ten years ago: Pope John XXIII accepted the Balzan Peace Prize. It was the first time that a Roman Catholic pontiff had received a peace award.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Advertising Federation, whose members include national advertisers and ad agencies, thinks CBS News gave the business of TV commercials a bad image—and right on television, too.

So now it's asking the network to "consider an appropriate vehicle in which to present points of view that balance those expressed" April 26 in a CBS-TV documentary called "You and the Commercial."

The AAF made the request in a two-page letter its president, Howard Bell, sent to Richard Salant, president of CBS News.

In the letter, the AAF said there was a "lack of fairness and objectivity" in the show's study of TV commercials; it also complained that the "general treatment and emphasis of the program was to portray advertising as a con game."

It said that although advertising spokesmen were interviewed on the show, "there was no opportunity to respond to the one-sided opinions expressed by others on such critical matters as counter-advertising, social impact and economic value."

Salant, who said he got the letter Monday, declined to publicly comment right now on its charges. He said he felt that Bell, "as an old friend of mine, is entitled to first word of my reply."

He said he would write Bell this week and respond both to the letter's complaints and request for time to "balance" what the AAF considered to be "one-sided opinions" expressed on the unsponsored show.

The two-page letter nowhere asked for the time under the Federal Communications Commission's "fairness doctrine."

"We haven't faced that yet," said Jonah Gitlitz, executive vice president of the Washington-based AAF. "We're waiting to see what kind of response we get."

Gitlitz, whose group has a total membership of 450 major advertisers, advertising agencies and media companies, said the AAF wasn't specifying how CBS should let the ad industry express its views.

CBS' unprecedented documentary about TV commercials drew a few disgruntled harrumphs from advertising agency officials right after it was broadcast, but no official complaints until the AAF's letter.

A CBS spokesman this week said there still have been no formal gripes about the show from either advertisers or ad agencies. He said none have threatened to withdraw their advertising from CBS, either.

Until the AAF's letter, the strongest industry growl had been a bitter editorial in the April 30 edition of "Advertising Age," a magazine widely read by advertising men and women.

The editorial described "You and the Commercial" as "as unfair and slanted as any program we have seen in a long time. Not a single 'good' commercial was shown...."

Human guinea pig enjoys work

SEATTLE (AP) — David Cargo, 22, is a University of Washington senior in mathematics. He works as a computer operator. And he's one of the most popular human guinea pigs around.

In the past two years, he has popped pills, smoked marijuana, swallowed lengths of rubber tubing and been poked, pinched, prodded and examined—all for about $500.

"It was fairly easy money. It helped pay the rent," he said

Another reason is curiosity, he said. And as a fringe benefit, "for most of the past couple of years, I've had one doctor or another looking over my health very, very carefully."

His first experiment paid $5 and was required for credit in a beginning psychology class. He had to maneuver a ball through a tilting maze, estimating before each attempt how far he thought he could get the ball to go.

His next job was drinking dissolved sugar at 30-minute intervals over a two-hour period while researchers took blood samples to see how fast the sugar was being absorbed by his body. He got $30 for that.

But what really sold him on selling himself as a guinea pig was when he was paid $20 for smoking a single marijuana cigarette.

"They did have people in the study who had been stoned before," Cargo said. "They wanted to test whether having one person who had been stoned before affected the people smoking the dope."

Another project paid $111 for Cargo to wear "nylon-like underwear, just like the Apollo astronauts used" to control his skin temperature while he was inside a device that forced his blood into his legs.

The purpose was to find out if "you should cover a shock victim and keep him warm," he said.

He now is taking four colchicine pills daily in a test to see if the compound, long used in treating gout, is effective as a male contraceptive.

The grackle, a long-tailed bird, is widely known as the crow blackbird.

Medical services plan proposed

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A new medical profession to provide services between nursing and full medical care is contemplated in a bill pending in the Ohio House.

Rep. Patrick J. Sweeney, D-6 Cleveland, introduced the bill on his own, he said, in an effort to make medical services more readily available and to cut spiraling costs.

"I think this bill offers at least a partial solution to a very serious problem," he said. "The idea is to authorize something like the paramedics in the military—people who can perform a task like putting on a split without charging something like $200."

The Clevelander's bill calls for the new professionals to be licensed by the State Medical Board. Standards would include one year's education under a physician's supervision.

The board would adopt standards to assure that the "health and welfare" of patients would not be endangered.

The board also would be required to formulate guidelines for physicians to follow in the employment of an "interceptor"—the term used in the legislation to define an applicant for an assistant physician's license.

The bill demands that an applicant must be 21 years old and "of good character." Sweeney said he anticipated that the program would attract paramedics leaving military service.

No physician could employ more than two interceptors at a time for training to do specific jobs in the fields of pediatrics, internal medicine, surgery, obstetrics, general practice, and "such others that might be approved by the board."

Sweeney said the legislation creates a Health Manpower Advisory Commission to give examinations for an assistant physician's license. The board would include a broad cross section of medical services representatives.

They would include representatives of the medical board, the Department of Health, and the Department of Education along with one doctor, one registered nurse, and one physician's assistant when at least 10 have been employed.

Sweeney said he still is sounding out various medical professionals. The Ohio State Medical Association is one that he had not contacted.

"I'm still doing my research," he said.

Charles Edgar, public relations official of the OSMA, said "we're aware of the bill. We're studying it."

Vehicle inspections slated here Friday

'India's women's wear' Lutheran M-D dinner theme

Mrs. Jane Richardson, of Cleveland, a free-lance writer, lecturer and photographer, presented a most interesting program following a carry-in dinner held in Good Shepherd Lutheran Church Tuesday evening.

The program centered around "India's women's wear" and featured authentic costumes which she brought to the United States from India to represent the many geographical areas of that country. Mothers and daughters modeled the costumes in the Style Show.

Mrs. Richardson showed outstanding movies of India following the Style Show, showing the mud huts to palaces which she has visited.

Those modeling were Mrs. Donna Cotner, a Rajastani (summer sari); Mrs. James Carter, Rajastani (winter sari); Mrs. Ed Bramblett, Manipuri; Mrs. Ralph Gebhart, Tibetan baku; Mrs. Diane Murphy, Lombardi; Gloria Angus, Katak; Linda Burrall, Kashmir; Elaine Puckett, Punjabi; and Leora Burge, Bharata Hatyam.

Tables were centered with miniature bud vases with strawberries, with matching napkins and the program booklets featured strawberries on the covers. Mrs. Cotner, Mrs. Jack Ferguson and Mrs. Stanley Graumlich were on the committee.

Mrs. Hilbert Meyer gave the welcome and devotions and a tribute to Mothers and Daughters was made by Mrs. James Puckett and Miss Elaine Puckett. Mrs. Elmer Burrall was chairman of the program and the executive committee were hostesses.

Awards were presented by Mrs. Graumlich to Mrs. Elvina Meyer, for being the oldest mother present; to Mrs. Dick Borrison for having the most daughters and the youngest daughter present; Mrs. Meyer and Mrs. C. E. Wright, for having the most grandchildren; and Mrs. Cora Fennig, who wore lavender.

There were approximately 75 present.

Conchemco, Inc. dinner dance well attended

The LaFayette Inn formed the setting for a dinner-dance held by Conchemco Inc. of Sabina, Friday evening. Guests enjoyed a cocktail hour and a smorgasbord dinner before dancing to the music of Bill Smith Sound Trio from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Immediately following the dinner, Don Bailey, general manager, introduced special guests: Don Techentien, president of Conchemco's Homes Group, and Bill Warrick, regional vice-president for the Homes Group. Mr. Bailey expressed his deep appreciation to the department heads, production foreman, salesmen, and office personnel for a great team effort in the past 12 months. Because of this effort the Sabina plant achieved one million dollars in sales for the month of April. This is a tremendous accomplishment for any plant but especially for one as new as the Sabina operation. The department heads and wives were then introduced. They are: Mr. and Mrs. Ken Calendine, controller) Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gentry, production manager; Mr. and Mrs. Ron Hoxsie, materials manager; and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Stoughton, sales manager.

Mr. Stoughton then introduced representatives of Dannies Mobile Homes and expressed thanks for their support in the million dollar effort. Present were: Mr. and Mrs. Dannie DeVol, president and chairman of the Board of Dannies; Mr. John DeVol, executive vice-president; and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ferguson, vice-president of sales in Ohio, Indiana, and Kentucky. Other members of the Dannies group included: Mrs. Paul Newman, Mr. and Mrs. Al Honald, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hill.

Mr. Ferguson told the group of his faith in the outstanding quality of the Nashua and Governor lines and expressed gratitude for the fine product produced at the Conchemco plant.

Mr. Bailey then presented tokens commemorating the million dollar month to the department heads, foreman, salesmen, and office personnel. Plaques were presented to Mr. DeVol for the Dannies Home Office in Lancaster. Mr. Techentien in turn presented the Sabina plant a plaque which will serve as a remembrance of the fact that the Sabina plant was the first in the history of the company to have a million dollar sales month.

Salesmen and wives present were: Mr. and Mrs. Bill Atsalis, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Lichtenberger, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Forbes, Chuck Winkle and date Miss Mary Lou Adams, King Carter and Mike Collins. Production foremen and wives present were: Mr. and Mrs. Archie Tudor, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Pauley, and Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard Hicks; quality control supervisor, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Magary; secretaries and husbands or dates: Mrs. Carolyn McFadden and husband Larry, Miss Cathy Newbrey and Rick Henson, Miss Sandy Pleasant and Curt Shanks; and assistant to the materials manager, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Stanley. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Appel, Mr. and Mrs. Bob McCarn, and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Barker.

'International smorgasbord' Welcome Wagon Club theme

"International Smorgasborg" was the theme chosen for the Welcome Wagon Club installation dinner, held Tuesday evening in Grace United Methodist Church.

Miss Claudia Becht, AFS student from West Germany, was the guest speaker for the evening. She gave a very informative talk about her country and its traditions. She also showed slides of her hometown and resort places nearby. She said if she could take one particular thing from the U.S. back to her country, it would be the popular hamburger quick-service restaurants. Miss Becht was then presented a gift from the club.

The dinner was in keeping with an international theme. Prior to the dinner, Mr. Ron Pohlman gave the devotions. Each member brought a covered dish from another country. Some of the recipes represented were: Lasagna, Swedish meatballs and cabbage rolls, German potatoe salad, cake. The centerpiece for the table was a collection of German mugs and an arrangement of fresh cut flowers.

Miss Callender completes wedding plans

Final plans have been made for the open-church wedding of Miss Myckki Lynn Callender and Thomas Ray Parsley. The Rev. Donald Baker will perform the double-ring ceremony at 2:30 p.m. Saturday in First Christian Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold R. Callender, Dennis St., are the parents of the bride-elect. Mr. Parsley is the son of Mrs. Walter C. Parsley, 505 Van Deman St., and the late Mr. Parsley.

A half-hour of nuptial music will precede the wedding ceremony with Mrs. Wayne Spengler, organist.

Miss Callender has asked Miss Cathy Ann Massie to be maid of honor. Bridesmaids will be Mrs. Terry Kelso, of Cannonsburg, Pa., sister of the prospective groom, and the Misses Jeri Maust, of Takoma Park, Md., Rebecca Joy Callender, a sister of the bride-elect, and Robin Page Brakeall.

The flower girls will be little Stacy Beth Kelso and Samantha Jayne Bennett, cousins of the couple.

Christopher Todd Callender, brother of the bride-elect will be the ringbearer. Bret Douglas and Brian Dorsey Longberry will light the candles.

Walter L. Parsley, of Indianapolis, Ind., will serve as best man for his brother. Seating the wedding guests will be Terry Kelso, Dennis Caplinger, of Columbus, and Douglas Alan White, of Washington C. H.

Hostesses for the reception in the social room of the church following the ceremony will be Mrs. Robert Maust, Mrs. Buckner Burbage and Mrs. David Lee Williams, all of Washington C. H., and Mrs. Walter L. Parsley and Mrs. Thomas Hixon, of Greenfield, Miss Linda Spengler, of Bloomingburg, Miss Joyce Armintrout and Miss Terri Wright.

Miss Jane Callender, a cousin, will preside at the guest book.

Mary Guild holds meeting

Ten members of the Mary Guild of First Christian Church assembled at the church for a meeting, and each present name her favorite poem.

Devotions were presented by Mrs. Orpha Willia, who spoke of Mary, mother of James and Joses. Mrs. Milbourne Flee gave the Lesson Study of Bathsheba, from The Women of the Bible. She also read the Books of the Bible, Second Samuel, Pslams and Kings.

Cheercards were signed to the ill. Mrs. Zoe Follis and Mrs. Esther Edwards presented reports.

A donation was made to the Sunlight Chorus of the church.

During the social hour Mrs. Allen Sells and Mrs. Clark Gossard were hostesses.

Following the dinner, the new officers for 1973 were installed by Mrs. Gary Casey, Welcome Wagon hostess, and Mrs. George Spilker, assistant hostess. Each new officer lighted a pastel-colored candle symbolic of her office. As a memento from the club, the new officers presented the out-going officers with an engraved charm for the service they rendered. Mrs. Lyle Paul, past president, bestowed Mrs. Ron Hall with the presidential gavel. Other new officers are: Mrs. Mike Bailo, first vice president; Mrs. Larry Moran, second vice president; Mrs. Kenneth Shaver, recording secretary; Mrs. Jack Marti, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Larry Forbes, treasurer; and Mrs. Larry Joseph, historian. Past officers were: Mrs. Robert Engle, Mrs. Mike Bailo, Mrs. Ron Pohlman, Mrs. Charles Edwards, Mrs. Charles Bowersox, and Mrs. Ron Kemplin.

Mrs. Spilker gave Mrs. Casey a "thank you" gift in appreciation for her work this past year as hostess.

Those members and husbands present were: Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Paul, Mr. and Mrs. George Spilker, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Pohlman, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Casey, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Kemplin, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Joseph, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Le Van, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Rich, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Moran, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Bailo, Mr. and Mrs. John Gruber, Mrs. Larry Forbes, Mrs. Russell Whiting, Mrs. Charles Edwards, Mrs. Kenneth Shaver, and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Polson.

Engaged

MISS KRIS CROSS

Mr. and Mrs. Cris Cross, of New Holland, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Kristi Ann to Philip Loren Sannes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence R. Sannes, of North Canton.

Miss Cross is a graduate of Miami Trace High School and attended Bowling Green State University. She is presently enrolled at Ohio State University, majoring in dance performance.

Mr. Sannes, a graduate of North Canton Hoover High School and of Ohio State University. He is now working on his doctorate degree in antatomy in the College of Medicine at OSU.

The wedding will be an event of Sept. 8.

WELCOME WAGON PRESIDENT — Mrs. Ronald Hall, right, was installed as the new president of the Welcome Wagon Club at the organization's international smorgasbord Tuesday night in Grace United Methodist Church. Presenting the gavel is Mrs. Lyle Paul, immediate past president.

THANKS FOR YOUR SUPPORT

Our Spring Clothing Training was a great success thanks to those of you who traveled to McDowell School near Circleville for this Pickaway, Ross, and Fayette County event. Over 175 persons had the opportunity to hear the latest fashion and fabric news from our Extension Clothing Specialist, Norma Deyo. Our own Lynda Purcell of the Sew-Sew Shop did a very professional job in demonstrating the Chanel Knit Trim. Other construction demonstrations included Invisible Zippers and Fusible Interfacings.

AGING CONFERENCE

Virginia Essman, Lillian Schneider, Ruth Smith, Edith Howard, Edna Naylor and myself actively involved ourselves in the workshops on meals, housing, center programs, and transportation during the District Conference on Aging, Monday, April 30th. at the Trinity Lutheran Parish House in Circleville. The 43-source people shared many ideas with us present and actively involved us in the sessions. To those of us who spent so many months in finding the "how to" for setting up a Meals on Wheels program, direct guidelines for program development was greatly appreciated. The 77 persons present from Fayette, Pickaway, and Fairfield Counties also had an opportunity to ask individual questions of representatives about volunteer services, social security, health, and consumer protection.

Prompt registration is needed for you to be included in the "Horizons for Women" continuing education program being sponsored May 16 and 17 on the Ohio Dominican College Campus, 1216 Sunbury Road, Columbus, Ohio.

Ohio State Extension and Ohio Dominican faculty members and other Central Ohio leaders will be speakers and panelists for the curriculum which lists ten classes including color for homes, today's foods, fashions, art judgement, consumer protection and women's changing role in the church. Cost for two classes and one of the five mini-lessons on grooming, furniture, wardrobes, sewing or food shopping is $10.00 which includes lunch both days. Call 335-1150 if you are interested. The cost for one day participation is $7.00.

ALL WORN OUT

On sunshiny days, it's easy to blame that tired feeling on spring fever! But perhaps you're really concerned about feeling so tired so often.

There are two kinds of fatigue. Are you so tired that it's hard just to stand up straight? Do you lie down often? Are you clumsy, uncoordinated? Perhaps there's a physical cause for your fatigue, sometimes called "tired blood". Do you feel anxious or worried? Can't concentrate? Uninterested in what's happening? Apt to be forgetful, nervous? Then you may have weakened motiviation or "tired spirit"!

Many factors play a part in fatigue — work, physical condition, stress, attitudes and environment. It's easy to see why overwork or a poor physical condition may cause fatigue. Some self-questioning may help you pinpoint other problems.

Do you feel competent, able to handle life's demands? Stress occurs when you feel unable to cope with demand and when you are afraid of failing. Do you suffer from "underload"? Work that is dull and boring may cause you to seek extra work! What about your working environment? External factors such as excessive noise may add to your tiredness.

A chronic feeling of fatigue does need attention. First, see a doctor to find out if there is any physical reason for that third feeling. Then, try these measures. Develop a daily work-rest cycle that fits your needs and activities. Get enough sleep, and establish a definite schedule of physical exercise or sports.

Most important, learn to know youself. Be alert to what causes your fatigue. Try to eliminate conditions that cause excessive stress, anxiety, or boredom. Some experts believe that fatigue is largely a result of internal conflict and frustration.

'Mothers of America' Comrades meeting topic

Comrades of the Second Mile met with Mrs. Willard Bitzer with Mrs. Darrell Coil, Mrs. Frank Slager, and Mrs. Richard Thompson assisting hostesses.

Mrs. Gilbert Biddle, president, read the poem "The Attic" for the opening.

The highlight of the evening was the program presented by Mrs. Donald Mossbarger whose topic was "Mothers of America." She chose mothers whose lives were "saved in action" such as the mothers of Orville and Wilbur Wright, J.C. Penney, Mayo brothers, Dwight Eisenhower and John Kennedy.

The "Around the World Picnic" planned for June 12 with Mrs. Rex Bloomer as hostess, was discussed. Recipes from other countries were distributed.

Members will attend a "Tecumseh Drama" production sometime this summer at Sugarloaf Mountain Amphitheater, Chillicothe, and reservations will be taken at the June meeting.

Others present were Mrs. Dale Thornton, Mrs. Hugh LaFollette, Mrs. Loren Noble, Mrs. Rex Bloomer, Mrs. Frank Allen, Mrs. W. P. Noble, Mrs. Dan Thompson, Mrs. Howard Foster, Mrs. Willard Bloomer, Mrs. Alice Cory, Mrs. Biddle, Mrs. Donald Denen and a guest, Miss Ruth A. LaFollette.

ESA dance attracts many

"The Wonderful World of Mexico" was the theme for the annual spring benefit dance held by Epsilon Sigma Alpha Chapters in the Mahan Building. Top Brass, of Columbus, played for dancing by the 300 guests.

All proceeds from the dance will go toward the purchase of a piece of equipment for Memorial Hospital.

The three chapters participating were Alpha Theta, Beta Omega and Delta Rho. Alpha Theta was in charge of decorations: Beta Omega, publicity, prizes, securing the place and the band; and Delta Rho publicity and refreshments.

Mahan Hall looked like Mexico throughout. The entrance had a cactus, rock garden and a bridge which guests used. All walls were decorated with Mexican signs and the tables held brightly colored Mexican flowers and candles. The bandstand was decorated also with large baskets of flowers.

During the intermission, prizes and pinatas were presented.

In the mid-1960s about 195 million bushels of Canadian grain were exported through Pacific Coast ports.

The commercial cultivation of grapes in Canada is limited to the Okanagan Valley of British Columbia and the Niagara Peninsula of Ontario.

Great Bear Lake, in Canada's Northwest Territories, has an area of 12,000 square miles.

VFW Auxiliary holds meeting

Twelve members were present for the Burnett - Ducey Post 4964 and Auxiliary meeting held in the VFW Hall, W. Elm St., Monday. Mrs. Ambers Conley conducted the meeting in the absence of Mrs. John Hiser, who is a patient in Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Lela Campbell was acting chaplain.

Correspondence was read and the charter was draped for the late Mrs. Sarah Merriman. The Auxiliary expressed gratitude to all who purchased Buddy poppies from the last weekend. All proceeds go toward aiding the veterans.

Memorial Day services will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday, May 27, at Highlawn Memory Gardens by Post and Auxiliary members. The firing squad will consist of Post members. The speaker will be the Rev. Allen Puffenberger, associate pastor of Grace United Methodist Church.

The next meeting will be May 21 in the VFW Hall. Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Conley and Mrs. Cloyce Copley.

Mrs. Jess Whitmer and Mrs. Clark Rumer served refreshments and Mrs. Rumer won the door prize.

Homebuilders class

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hidy welcomed the Homebuilders Class of the Madison Mills United Methodist Church to their home for the meeting. Mrs. Dwight King presented two piano solos for the opening and Mrs. Ralph Hays conducted devotions. She read from "The Power of Positive Thinking" by Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, and three poems by Helen Steiner Rice entitled "Meditation," "What is a Mother?" and "Fathers are Wonderful People." Mrs. Lester Haines also read the 100th Psalm.

The birthday of Mrs. Leland Dorn was acknowledged, and Mrs. H.W. Melvin conducted a Bible quiz.

Mrs. Hys assisted Mrs. Hidy in serving refreshments to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barrett, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Benner, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Dorn, Mrs. A.E. Dawson, Mr. and Mrs. Haines, Mr. and Mrs. King, Mrs. Melvin, Mrs. Homer Wilson and the Rev. Frank A. White.

Small Business Week devoted to 'little man's' problems, solutions

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Attempting to improve an environment they feel should be more friendly, many businessmen next week observe Small Business Week, appropriately enough in Washington, close, they feel, to both problem and solution.

There are, by all reliable estimates, between five million and eight million small businesses in America today, employing 44 per cent of all employes and producing 37 per cent of the Gross National Product.

From their point of view, these small, independently owned businesses form the bacbone of many American towns and small cities, providing jobs, taxes, and leadership. They feel also that they are the spiritual guardians of innovation and invention.

You might also say that they keep their bigger cousins supplied. General Motors, largest manufacturer of all, depends upon 26,000 suppliers, 64 per cent of which employ less than 100 people, and 89 per cent less than 500.

But small business, so obvious to the eye wherever you go, is afraid of being perpetually eclipsed, shadowed by big business, which grows bigger and perhaps less representative of "business" each year.

What's good for big business isn't always so for smaller companies. In fact, says Lewis A. Shattuck, an especially clear articulator of its views, "there is some doubt that some businessmen ever would have gone into business if the same environment today existed 10 to 20 years ago."

Shattuck is executive vice president of the Smaller Business Association of New England, for 30 years one of the most active small-business groups, and formulator of a presentation to be presented to congressmen May 16.

Joining in the presentation this year are the Independent Business Association of Wisconsin, and the Smaller Manufacturers Council, Pittsburgh, and other groups from Ohio and New York. More are expected to join next year.

One of the four major proposals to be presented concerns paper, the usage of which once was supposed to suggest the advanced stage of society but which now threatens to clog government, the stock market, small business and other institutions.

"We ask for recognition of the fact that the paperwork requirement thrown on small business by the federal government is in some cases the extra margin that threatens to drive a small business under," SBANE states.

"The average small-businsss man spends some 200 hours a year completing forms, calculating and paying his taxes, and responding to various government questionaires," the presentation continues. The moral: Cut the paperwork.

Cut taxes, too say the small businessmen

"If a hypothetical small business earned exactly $100,000, its present taxes would amount to $41,500," the businessmen state, arguing that such a bite causes financing problems for businesses seeking to expand.

"If the surtax exemption were to be raised to $100,000," they continue, "that same small business would then pay income taxes of only $22,000, giving it a 33.5 per cent increase in after-tax income."

The businessmen support adoption of a proposal by Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., which would retain the present 22 per cent normal rate on pretax income up to $100,000, rather than raising it after the first $25,000.

The two other major issues on the minds of the businessmen as they prepare their visit to Washington are procurement and representation.

PROCUREMENT — Small business feels its position is eroding, and wants assurance that it will have a fair opportunity to bid on the $55 billion annual federal procurement budget.

REPRESENTATION — There is a strong feeling that small-business men must be more strongly represented in government's decision-making mechanisms, and that its talents should be more effectively utilized on task forces, advisory boards and the like.

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FRIDAY, MAY 11

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

A favorable day for routine affairs, but care needed in financial matters. Don't speculate or gamble in any way.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Job affairs are likely to conflict with personal desires, but accept the situation for the present. It will pay off later.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

A good day for consultations with influential persons, experts in all lines. But only consult. Sign nothing yet. More details will have to be straightened out.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Your judgment a bit "cloudy." Optimism may be coloring your outlook, so postpone making important decisions until a more propitious period.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

As with Cancer, some caution needed. Ambition could cause you to take unnecessary risks. Curb for the moment.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

A most fortunate day for personal plans and ambitions. Your intuition at a peak. Don't hesitate to back your hunches.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

A stimulating day, but don't let your enthusiasms cause you to take on more than you can handle. Easy does it!

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Curb inclinations toward extravagance. If you overspend on credit or impulse buying now, you'll regret it later.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Like Scorpio, you, too, should watch your wallet. Not only may you feel reckless, financially, but there are some who would take advantage of your innate generosity.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Good will built up in the past will prove an invaluable asset now. You gain added status and importance in several areas.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Your imagination stimulated, but don't go to extremes in anything. Be especially careful on the social front where you COULD overtax yourself.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

An inspiring day for romance and creative activities. In the latter connection, an avocation may prove to have remunerative value.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a wealth of talents and traits with which to lead a most successful and happy life. You are ideally suited to the fields of law, medicine, art, music, literature and horticulture. Also, with your inherent love of tradition, you could excel as an archeologist or historian; would also make an excellent teacher along these lines. If you do not choose art or music (at which you are particularly adept) as a career, either one, avocationally, could act as a fine outlet for your love of beauty, your imagination and idealism. Travel should please you immensely, but you are always happy to return home, where you find your greatest peace and spiritual fulfillment.

12 Ohio counties eligible for loans

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Farmers Home Administration has declared 12 northwestern Ohio counties eligible for disaster loans, according to U.S. Rep. Delbert Latta, R-Ohio.

Latta said the loans will be given at five per cent interest and based on the damage to 1972 crops resulting from storms and weather conditions. He added that applications will be accepted at FHA offices through July 6.

In another announcement from the Congressman's Washington office, Latta said that Harley Hicks, a farmer from Continental, Ohio, in Putnam County was named executive director for the Ohio office of the Agriculture and Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Counterfeit bills flood Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Secret Service has confiscated about $100,000 in counterfeit $20 bills in the past month and a half and has warned the Cincinnati are to watch for the bogus bills.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Norbert A. Nadel said Wednesday a large quantity of the phony bills are still in circulation.

Agents have arrested Lowell Edward Warren, 34, of Cincinnati for passing a counterfeit $20 bill. They said he had two more bills in his possession.

Ohio's TB Association approves change of name

The change of the name of the Ohio Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association to the Ohio Lung Association was authorized at the state association meeting this week in Columbus. The name corresponds to the new name of the national society from National Tuberculosis and Respiratory Association, which now is the National Lung Association.

The Fayette County Tuberculosis and Health Association name will not be changed at this time, it was said.

Joseph E. Peters, representative director of the county association, who attended the state meeting, reported that the change of names was one of the highlights of the session.

He said a panel discussion was held concerning services for patients. Dr. Robert G. Loudon, president of the Ohio Thoracic Society chaired this session. Problems were discussed from the beginning of the disease to rehabilitation — Social Security, public welfare and treatment in a general hospital.

Legislative goals, occupational health programs and air conservation programs were discussed in the afternoon. New programs in each of these fields were brought to the attention of the group.

Circus billed Monday at Washington Square

Circus Williams, whose winter home is in Owensville, will present three performances Monday at the Washington Square Shopping Center.

Circus Williams is a three-ring show and claims to be America's finest family circus.

Circus Williams lays no claim to being the world's largest, greatest, most magnificent extraveganza, or any other of the superlatives that are generally applied to these vendors of childhood joy, but merely that this is probably more entertainment, for the money, than it is possible to purchase anywhere else.

Performances will be at 3 p.m., 6 p.m. and 8 p.m., each lasting one hour and 20 minutes. Seating capacity is 1,000.

FEATURED in the performance are several trained animals including ponies, dogs, goats, monkeys and birds.

Outstanding among the performers are the Whites, a troup of aerialists from India; the Conleys Troupe; Frank Knowl and Co., Western performers; Danny Carey and Co., equilibrists, illusionist Madame Zora; Circus Williams' Colony of Clowns, and America's smallest, scene-stealing pachyderm, Baby Anne.

Also featured with the show as midway attractions are a reptile show, Circus Williams' Zoo-A-Rama, pink cotton candy, sno-cones, and all the other goodies that usually come with the circus. There is no find with gambling, indecent shows, reserved seats or hidden charges.

Bargain coupons are available at all Washington Square Shopping Center stores, free of charge. Admission price, with coupon is 75 cents. Prices without coupons are $1.25 for children and $1.50 for adults.

CLOWN ALLEY — The "Colony of Clowns" will be one of the features of Circus Williams which will present three performances Monday at Washington Square Shopping Center.

Census Bureau to collect info on jobholding

How many American workers are holding more than one job? How many are working overtime and what is their overtime pay? What are workers' usual hours on their jobs?

Robert G. McWilliam, director of the Bureau of the Census Data Collection Center in Detroit, announces that information on these subjects will be collected during the week of May 14-18 from a sample of households in this area. The questions are in addition to the usual ones asked in the monthly survey on employment and unemployment conducted nationwide by the Bureau for the U.S. Department of Labor.

Results of the monthly survey provide a continuing measure of economic condition in the country. The March survey showed that employment rose sharply to 83.9 million, 700,000 more than in February. The overall jobless rate was 5 per cent, not materially different from 5.1 per cent in February, but substantially below the 5.9 per cent rate of March a year ago.

Facts supplied by individuals participating in the survey are kept strictly confidential by law, and results are used only to compile statistical totals.

Mary Lou Ward, Chillicothe, is the interviewer for this area.

Youth Activities

4-H PHYSICAL FITNESS

The 4-H Physical Fitness Club met to learn more wrestling techniques. Coach Wallace, head of the club, taught the boys new and better exercises and wrestling moves.

Donald Bunton collected dues for the 4-H teeshirts. The next meeting will be Tuesday.

CHIEF BLUEBIRDS

Indian Chief Bluebirds met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Edgington. Jenny Craig led the Pledge of Allegiance and Vicki Shepler led the Bluebird Wish Song. We made information sheets and permission slips for the trip to LeSourdsville Lake. We made name tags shaped like Bluebirds to wear.

Jenny Craig served refreshments.

ROSE AVE. ROSE PETALS

There have been two meetings of the Rose Avenue Rose Petals Bluebirds. The first meeting came to order by Mrs. Carrie Ferguson, leader. Sherrie Gorman was host for the day, and led the girls in the Pledge. She also led the Bluebird Wish. Roll was answered by naming favorite pets. Nancy McCoy was presented her fifth patch for TV stamps. The girls were urged to save more Kroger labels and Kool-aid packages. Sherrie served refreshments and the meeting was adjourned.

The second meeting had Brenda Greer as the host. The girls signed a thank you note for the Garden Club for the trees to plant at Camp Murdock for Arbor Day. An interesting discussion on how to display and show respect for the American Flag was enjoyed.

Brenda served refreshments and there will be no meeting next week due to the leaders meeting.

Jeff PTC, elects, hears reports

JEFFERSONVILLE — Officers were named and a report on the turkey and ham dinner was made at a Jeffersonville Parent-Teacher Club meeting this week.

Mrs. Harold Anderson was named president; Mrs. Fred St. Clair, first vice president; Mrs. Danny Synder III, second vice president; Principal Gordon McCarty, third vice president; Mrs. Lawrence Smith Jr., secretary; and Mrs. Tommy Sams, treasurer.

The treasurer's report by Mrs. Ray Bentley showed a balance of $3,383.76, that $649.99 was netted by the PTC on the ham and turkey supper and that 400 were served. Mrs. Richard Bonner expressed appreciation of the cooperation of the merchants who contributed to the dinner.

The projects approved include purchase of a piano, lockers for the classrooms and cleaning the drapes in the cafeteria. The group also agreed to help with the field trip to be taken by the eighth graders.

FOLLOWING the business session, the group was entertained by the first and second grade youngsters. The first graders gave a reading about dinosaurs and displayed a replica of a dinosaur made of paper mache by the pupils, assisted by the teachers, Mrs. Glenn Estep and Mrs. Glenn Merritt. The pupils also made up their own song about it.

The second graders, taught by Mrs. John Sheeley and Mrs. Elizabeth Fullerton, presented a skit based on a day in the life of a boy or girl. The story was told in song.

A "This Is Your Life" skit was presented by members of the PTC as a tribute to the teachers. Short summaries were read by Mrs. Anderson, and Mrs. Smith pinned a carnation on each teacher.

A dessert smorgasbord was served after adjournment by Mrs. Ruth Eltzroth, Mrs. Wilma Lower, Mrs. St. Clair and Mrs. John D. Blair.

Washington letter sold

NEW YORK (AP) — An anonymous Long Island bidder has paid a reported record $27,500 for a letter written by George Washington six years before he became president.

Sotheby Parke Bernet, which auctioned the 22½-page letter written when Washington retired in 1783 as commander of the Continental Army, said it was the most ever paid at auction for a Washington letter.

The letter, dated June 12, 1783, and addressed to the governor of New Jersey, William Livingston, expressed some of Washington's philosophy on government.

Essential to the nation, Washington wrote, were "a sacred regard to public justice," "the adoption of a proper national defense" and "a spirit of cooperation, and the suppression of local prejudices."

Colonial Stores dividend posted

NORFOLK, Va., — Directors of Colonial Stores Inc., 445-store Atlanta (Ga.) based food chain and parent of the Albers stores, has declared a regular quarterly cash dividend of 26 cents a share on common stock.

The regular quarterly cash dividend of 50 cents per share was declared on outstanding 4 per cent preferred stock. Both dividends are payable June 1, to stockholders of record on May 14.

A 10-ounce package of sliced frozen strawberries will make enough topping for a quart of ice cream. Sprinkle the ice with flaked coconut and call the dessert a sundae.

MAN FOR CHALLENGE — Astronaut Paul J. Weitz is a man who must have a challenge that requires much skill and ability. For the top Navy pilot that can only mean flying into space his "last frontier." A native of Erie, Pa., Weitz will spend 28 days orbiting the earth aboard Skylab 1, which is scheduled for launch on May 14.

Skylab crew to monitor resources

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Astronauts will play their first role as monitors of earth's natural resources when they board the Skylab space station.

They will use a $37 million array of six photosensors to evaluate actual and potential resources over a wide area of the globe.

A dozen countries have asked the astronauts to employ the sensors to scan farmlands, mountain ranges, river basins and watersheds in search of everything from minerals to crop disease.

The Skylab is scheduled to be launched May 14, with the three-man crew joining it the following day.

"The Skylab earth resources experiments offer an almost unlimited potential for near term benefits affecting man here on earth," reported astronaut Paul J. Weitz. He is the sensor expert on the Skylab 1 crew.

"During the five months the station will be manned by three crews, it will fly over 75 per cent of the earth's surface, including the entire United States except Alaska," Weitz said. "With this excellent view, data can be obtained applicable to mankind's most pressing problems, such as weather, food production, pollution, flooding, erosion and the depletion of natural resources."

Weitz emphasized the sensors are experimental, designed to determine which instruments can best be used by man in space and which can be operated on unmanned satellites.

"But," he said, "they could lead to a science in such things as mapping snow cover and assessing water runoff potentials; mapping air and water pollution and their sources; assessing diseased and healthy crops; timber volume estimate; locating arable land; determining sea status and fishing grounds, and locating hidden oil and mineral reserves."

More than 90 principal investigators from the United States and 20 from other nations are involved in Skylab's earth resources study, which involves the use of multispectral, optical, infrared and photographic sensors.

L.A. Times publisher talks at OU

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Los Angeles Times publisher Otis Chandler said Wednesday night that the Times' mail about the Watergate scandal "has changed dramatically" during the last few weeks.

Earlier, Chandler said, "most readers were not convinced that we (the press) were telling the truth about the seriousness of Watergate."

Chandler made the comments at Ohio University where he appeared during the university's Communication Week. He was presented the school's Carr Van Anda award, which cited him for making the Times "one of the greatest newspapers in the world."

On Watergate, Chandler warned journalists against too much jubilant self-congratulations saying, "It's still too early to tell whether we've changed the public's mind about the press and the public's right to know."

Chandler also expressed hope that the journalism profession can "get an absolute privilege law out of this Congress." A qualified privilege law, he said, could "be worse for us than no law at all."

4-H Roundup

The club demonstration: here's how they're done

By JACK SOMMERS
County Extension Agent, 4-H

Can you picture your name in the headlines — "County 4-H member named top demonstrator at the Ohio State Fair?" This 4-H member was not demonstrating by destroying property or blocking traffic but by presenting helpful information on the 4-H stage in a demonstration contest.

The experience of giving a demonstration, or illustrated talk, serves both to enlighten fellow club members on project skills as well as develop in the demonstrator the ability to speak before a group.

All 4-H'ers are familiar with the notorious animal known as the "demonstration." It's a wild, wicked, little creature in some people's eyes, yet can be caught and tamed. Many demonstrations suffocate before they live out their usefulness. Some are destined to die as infants. Why is the mortality rate for this delicate creature so high? Let us examine the life cycle of a healthy demonstration.

First, pick a topic — something that interests you about your 4-H project or something you want to know more about. It might be a subject that most everyone knows about. If handled correctly, it can be a pleasant learning experience for both you and your audience — a show-and-tell type of thing. Remember, there is always something new to learn.

Gather information about your demonstration. Make sure that it is accurate and that you know your reference sources.

Once you have an idea of how you would like to give your demonstration, write up a rough outline so you know, more-or-less, what you're going to say.

Next, work on your introduction. This is a very, very important part of a demonstration. It should be an interesting statement of purpose that arouses interest from your audience. That may sound like a pretty big order, but it's not. Use a catchy phrase or a current topic that your audience can relate to. Jump up and down and scream if you can work it into your demonstration.

Now you can get down to the nitty-gritty; working out the body of the demonstration.

AFTER YOUR INTRODUCTION, start at the beginning and move in a logical order. Work while you're talking. It usually helps if you have some sort of visual aids. They should clearly prove your point or add important information to your demonstration. You should have the right equipment and use it correctly. Any charts should be neat and easy to read.

Now you can say to yourself, "I'm done. I can work on my conclusion." Wait! Check over your demonstration. Is it complete? Have you done everything that you need to prove your point or complete your demonstration? If so, go on to your conclusion. Feature the finished product or review important points.

Now you know what you're going to say and what you're going to show in the end. That's fine, but you only have the skelton of the animal. You have to give it life.

For the first few times, just talk through your demonstration. Then you can work in your actions, the "showing" part of your demonstration. When you start working with your product, you might find something that doesn't fit in well or maybe you can think of some other detail that you should add. Whatever the case, the idea is to practice working and talking at the same time until your demonstration runs along pretty smoothly.

The animal is quickly approaching maturity. The poor thing will be labeled a social bore if you don't give it some type of personality.

Give your demonstration a good personality. Appear before your audience in appropriate clothing, be well groomed, have the correct posture, etc. Smile at your audience and show your enthusiasm! Before you know it, you'll have them eating out of the palm of your hand. Without thinking, you should use good grammar, speak clearly, and work quickly but in view of the audience. That's just good speaking form.

At last . . . mission accomplished! That illusive creature everyone knows as a demonstration has been captured and is in the process of being domesticated. It wasn't so hard, was it? You'll also discover the more demonstrations you give, the easier and the better they will become. You probably won't even remember that ugly little animal you once thought of as a demonstration!

New airplane in forced landing

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Pilot Mark Miller of Cleveland made a forced landing of a new small plane in a cornfield when the engine stopped minutes from Lunken Airport Wednesday night.

The plane, with only four hours logged on it, was scheduled to stop in Cincinnati for fuel on a ferrying flight from Cleveland to New Orleans, airport authorities said.

Miller, the lone occupant, said the engine conked out less than two miles from the runway at a height of 50-75 feet.

The plane suffered minor damage.

Eber musicians score well

Eighty Eber Junior High School students participated in the 14th annual music competition at Lebanon and, from the 11 events scheduled, they came back with six "superior," two "excellent" and three "very good" ratings.

Mrs. John E. Rhoads, the music teacher, said it is felt that the competition gives the groups and individuals an opportunity to perform before qualified judges and receive constructive criticism of their performances.

Individuals and groups from the Eber School participating included Kathy Edwards, Kathy Junk, Charles Haines, Cindy Grover, Donnie Pepper and Cheryl Blue, who sang vocal solos; Alisa Hughes, who played a piano solo; seventh grade boys ensemble; eighth grade girls triple trio; 17-voice chamber ensemble; and the Eber girls chorus of 60 voices.

Arrangements for the bus transportation were made by Principal Robert Creamer, and Donald Arnold was the faculty supervisor for the day. Accompanying the group were Mrs. Rhoads, Mrs. John Armentrout, Elsie Hill and Steve Anders.

URW and Goodrich to continue talks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The B. F. Goodrich Co. and the United Rubber Workers were scheduled to renew formal negotiations today in an attempt to end a three-day-old strike at the seven Goodrich plants across the country.

The talks were to resume amid URW charges that the other three major tire and rubber companies—Goodyear, Uniroyal and Firestone—scuttled a possible Goodrich settlement by interfering in the talks which preceded the strike.

Antioch talks continue

Do Not Overuse Laxatives

I have developed colitis. For the last 20 years I have been taking a mild laxative every night.

Could the laxative be responsible after so many years?

Mr. M.C.F., Ore.

Dear Mr. F.:

There are two distinct aspects of your letter that I will comment on.

The first is the overuse and, sometimes, the abuse of laxatives or purgatives.

There are people who go into a tailspin if they have one day's variation of their normal bowel habits. Too many people concentrate too much on their "regularity."

Some, like yourself, insist that "only with laxatives can I maintain regularity."

The result is a dependence on laxatives which often goes on for many years. The intestinal tract becomes sluggish and ceases to function without the stimulation of the laxative.

In most instances, a change in the diet regime, increasing foods with roughage and especially increasing the intake of water, again regulates the bowel activity.

It should be emphasized that different types of laxatives stimulate the bowel in different ways. It is therefore most important that the laxative, even for a very short time, be chosen by the doctor.

About the colitis. This is a general term that is applied to many disorders of the small and the large intestine.

It is conceivable that certain types of colitis may have been caused by prolonged irritation by laxatives of the delicate lining of the bowel. The approach to your problem is, of course, the treatment of the colitis and a re-establishment of bowel activity without the laxatives that you have become dependent on.

I have the most excruciating pain between my toes. I recall that my mother had the same thing at my age, which is 49.

Can there possibly be some inherited condition involved?

Mrs. E. T., Ind.

Dear Mrs. T.:

I doubt that there is a congenital or a familial disorder that accounts for your problem. Rather, I would speculate that this is coincidental. The condition certainly needs study, both clinically and by X-ray.

There is an unusual condition known as "Morton's Neuroma," or "Morton's Toe." A small tumor of one of the nerves of the foot, usually in the web space between the third and fourth toe, can cause such severe pain. This usually occurs on one foot and is thought to be due to injury to the nerve.

Many devices have been used, with foam rubber padding and other protective means, to take pressure off the nerve and the small nodule that is on it. If this is the cause of your problem, surgery is effective and brings total relief.

course, be ruled out before coming to the conclusion that you may have a "Morton's Toe."

Add minced chives to eggs that are going to be scrambled: then just before the eggs are ready, fold in cottage cheese. Delicious for a weekend brunch.

FFA chapter building shelter

By LORA BROOKS

The Miami Trace FFA Chapter is now in the process of building a shelter house on the school grounds behind the football field. The MT chapter is one of 33 funded partially by an Ohio FFA foundation, Building Our Ohio communities, which stems from the national Building Our American Communities.

Besides the $1,000 granted by BOOC, almost $300 from the chapter's own treasury will be used to complete the shelter. This will be a three year program, and later a concrete floor will be put in and perhaps some picnic tables and a grill area.

Most of the construction is being executed by Mr. William Diley's building construction class. The students work during class time and study halls during school. The picnic tables will be built in Mr. Diley's welding class.

According to Mr. Charles Andrews, the frame of the 24 feet by 48 feet structure should be completed soon.

In addition to a learning experience for the students, the construction of the shelter house will provide a facility for community use.

60 students comprise MT scholarship team

By SUSAN TOLLE

The Ohio Final Tests of Scholastic Achievement were given at Ohio State University on May 5. This testing session is held once a year; its purpose is to promote state-wide efforts to emphasize scholarship, to recognize academic excellence, and to motivate students to greater scholastic achievement.

Sixty students from Miami Trace had the honor of attending this session. There were 15 different tests taken by teams of four. The tests were scored with a group mark and an individual mark.

The following people participated in the testing, with the fifth-named the alternate:

Algebra: Sheryl Pendleton, Tarkio Chester, Jeff Schlichter, Jeff Happer, Kurt Klontz.

Chemistry: John Bryant, Dave Foster, Dave Persinger, Patty Persinger, Ginger Pendleton.

English 11: Kim Fleming, Barbara Marvin, Mariann Arnold, Marlene Braun, Kim McCoy.

French II: Carol Rex, Regina Roush, Diane Conley, Jane Kiger, Sandy McCoy.

Senior Social Studies: Diane Gerber, Sharryn Cory, Nelta Baker, Debbie Duff, Lynn Rapp.

American History: Phil Hannon, Lora Brooks, Gary Cobb, Elaine Houseman, Gary Bays.

English 9: Elaine Puckett, Denise Beoddy, James Ingram, Gretchen Krieger, Paula McClure.

English 12: Loren Puckett, Emily Beal, Debbie Krupla, Kathy Cottrill, Jill Fetters.

General Science: Steve Paisley, Brett Gundlach, Scott Gerber, Robert Spengler, William Williams.

Spanish I: Sharon A. Smith, Karmel Knedler, Mary Beth Deere, Danita Adams, John James.

Biology: Scott Tarbutton, Raymond Mick, Rhonda Hendricks, Patty Bick, Marilee Garner.

English 10: Kathy Frazier, Barbara Hill, Darla Krupla, Mark Spears, Donna Swigert.

French I: Carmen White, Diane Merritt, Vicki Patton, Lesa Shonkwiler, Kelly Campbell.

Geometry: David Hellyer, Ike Hixon, David Louis, Phil Skinner, Gail Jenkins.

Spanish II: Judy Whiting, Cindy Roark, Tony McCoy, Katie Hamilton, Denise From.

RICK COTTRILL

Seniors of week

Shirley Mayer will "miss her friends the most but is looking forward to graduation." Shirley is president of the GAA, a member of FHA, and a physical education gym assistant at Miami Trace. Senior homemaking is her favorite course this year. Shirley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Mayer, Rt. 1, Bloomingburg.

Shirley is a member of St. Colman's Catholic Church. Sewing and sports are two of her favorite hobbies. Her future plans are to attend Nationwide Beauty Academy. After graduation from there next spring, Shirley plans to get married and move to Illinois.

RICK COTTRILL, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cottrill, Rt. 1, New Holland, has played basketball for Miami Trace for all four of his high school years. He also belongs to the FFA and the Hi-Y Club. Business law is his favorite course this year.

His many hobbies include water skiing, playing softball, and motorcycle riding. Rick will miss "all his friends" after he graduates, when he plans to farm.

"It's a great feeling knowing that you have only a few days of school left!!" is Jim Woods' feelings on being a senior. Jim is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Woods, Rt. 1, Mount Sterling. His favorite course is American Government. He is a 4-H member and belongs to the Junior Leadership Club.

280 receive tuberculin skin tests

Tuberculin skin tests were administered to 280 employes of food production industries during the first two days of the program, it was announced by Mrs. Robert Goodson, executive secretary of the Fayette County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Mrs. Doris Douglass, public tuberculosis health nurse, administered the tests to 35 employes at the Cudahy Packing Co.; 135 at the Pennington Bread Inc., bakery; 51 at the Avoset plant and to 51 at the Sugar Creek Packing Co. plant.

The skin testing program will be resumed Friday at the Union 76 Plaza at the U.S. 35-I-71 interchange. All employes in food handling places of business will be tested there between 9 and 11 a.m.

On Tuesday and Wednesday, May 15 and 16, tests will be available to the general public without charge from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. each day at the G.C. Murphy Co. store.

While the tests are offered to the general public, special emphasis is placed by the county TB and Health Association and the Health Department on the importance of the test to food handlers, especially those who will be working in food concessions at the Fair in July.

A positive reaction to the skin test means only that there are tuberculosis germs in the body and that further X-ray examinations by the personal physician are warranted.

The Ohio Department of Health's mobile, X-ray unit will be in the county on June 4, 5 and 6 to X-ray those persons who had a positive reaction to the skin test. Notices have been sent to those persons who should come to the unit for X-rays. Cards have been included with each notice for the person to present at the unit. The X-ray Unit will be open on Monday, June 4, Monday from 2 to 8 p.m.; on Tuesday, June 5, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.; and on Wednesday, June 6 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The tuberculin skin testing program and X-ray program are made possible by contributions to the Christmas Seal campaign and by the TB levy and the health levy.

Clerical help for the skin testing program is provided by members of Alpha Theta chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority. Those who helped during the first two days were Mrs. Donald Gibbs, Mrs. John Bernard, Mrs. John Morris, Mrs. John Skinner and Mrs. Tom Rankin.

153 registered for MT kindergartens

Parents have registered 153 children during the last two weeks for the eight Miami Trace District kindergartens next year, but Mrs. June Slaughter, district supervisor of elementary education, estimated that at least 50 have not been registered and that they will turn up at the opening of school next fall.

A total of 214 are enrolled this year in the kindergarten program.

Mrs. Slaughter explained that advance registration of pre-kindergarten and pre-first graders and new students is important for planning of classrooms and teacher assignments. In view of this, she said parents who did not attend a pre-school conference should call the Miami Trace business office.

Kindergarten registration to date includes: Bloomingburg 26; Chaffin 25; Jasper 15; Jeffersonville 20; Madison Mills 12; New Holland 19; Staunton 25 and Wayne 11.

Parents of these children presented health records to one of the county Health Department nurses, Mrs. Phyllis Richard or Mrs. Sherry Vrettos. The nurses outlined the services which they provide at the different schools. During the summer a speech therapist will provide diagnostic service for the children needing speech evaluation. The nurses also explained the care of illnesses, which a first-year student might have.

Mrs. Slaughter also explained the program in the auditory, visual, thinking and body management areas. Mrs. Nancy Chaney assisted in checking the birth certificates and addresses for assignment.

Arrangements also were made for visits to the kindergarten classrooms, and the school principal explained the rules and operations for the various kindergartens in the eight school buildings.

Alabama Junior Miss wins 2nd award in preliminaries

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Alabama's junior miss, Lisa Paden, 17, won for the second time Wednesday night in preliminary judging leading up to Friday's finals in the 1973 America's Junior Miss Pageant.

Miss Paden performed a ballet to win first place in the creative and performing arts category in the third round of competition. She had won a first prize in second round preliminaries Tuesday night for placing first in the youth fitness category.

Sue Murphy, 17, of Kailua, Hawaii, also won for a second time Wednesday night. She placed first in youth fitness to go with a first place finish in poise and appearance.

Other winners in the third round of preliminaries were Linda Rutledge, 18, of Fort Levenworth, Kan., for scholastic achievement, and Karen Heidkamp, 17, of Parkridge, Ill., for poise and appearance.

Preliminary winners received $1,000 each in scholarships to the colleges of their choice.

The winner of the title gets a $10,000 scholarship.

Winners Tuesday night, besides Miss Paden and Miss Murphy, were Kathy Bosko, 17, of Mansfield, Ohio, talent competition, and Judy Hembree, 17, of Newberry, S.C., scholastic achievement.

Winners Monday night were Margo Dodds, 17, Las Vegas, Nevtalent; Rebecca Jones, 18, Boise, Idaho, scholastic achievement; Yvette Nance, 18, Ro Frio, Tex., poise and appearance; and Betsy Callicott, 17, Memphis, Tenn., youth fitness.

Friday night finals will be televised on CBS. The reigning Junior Miss is Lydia Hodson of Lexington, Ky.

Man's mishap ends record

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— There was no doubt about the driving record of Carl D. Olson, 85, when he showed up in South Euclid Municipal Court this week on a traffic charge.

Olson brought along every driver license he's held since 1914—18 of them—and all unmarked by violations.

Olson had been charged with failure to yield the right of way after turning left from an intersection and colliding with another car.

"This is a fine collection," said Judge Jerome A. Klein, looking at the licenses, "and you certainly have a fine record."

"This is my first experience in court and my first accident," Olson said. "So I've decided to quit driving."

"You don't have to quit on my account," Klein said. "Your record is too good."

Then he fined Olson $30 and costs.

Argument ends in auto damage

An exchange of words between a Washington C.H. man and his estranged wife apparently resulted in an estimated $350 damage to his car Wednesday, police reported.

Officers said the car owned by Dennis Stepter, 6 Sunny Dr., was damaged when his wife rammed it twice with her car then drove from the scene. Stepter told officers the incident occurred after he refused to let her have the car to drive to work.

No charges were filed.

The Weeders Guide

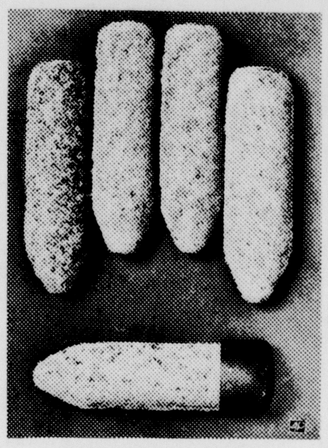
By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

A convenient concentrated tree fertilizer in a long-lasting form, easy to use, will make it simple to feed your landscape. The (Jobe's) Tree Food Spikes are compacted fertilizer in 16-8-8 analysis, approximately one-third of the nitrogen being in long-lasting ureaform.

With a reusable rubber cap on their heads, the spikes are pounded into the ground around the tree and the rain does the rest.

Purdue University reported the spikes were about three times faster to use than other methods of tree fertilization.



TREE FOOD SPIKES

Plant in Bottle

A bottle garden, more formally a terrarium, can provide a lot of enjoyment. Try one with a single plant.

John A. Wott, Purdue University home environment horticulturist suggests:

Take a glass container, either clear or tinted light blue or green. Wash it thoroughly with a solution of water and Clorox before using. Provide adequate drainage in the bottom of the container, using small gravel or chips for good results. Then add a planting mixture to two parts soil and one part coarse sand or perlite. A commercial potting mixture may be used.

Then select your plant — begonias, episcias, ferns, partridgeberry, baby's tears, or pile are some — knock it from its pot and remove excess soil. Prepare a depression in the planting mixture.

Slip the plant into the container, gently shaping it to fit. When the roots are in the depression, fill in the soil around them. Water the plant and wash down the sides of the container, gently rotating the bottle.

Invisible Bee Lure

Dried, pressed flowers undergo a chemical change and display the markings that guide bees to their nectar, according to Cornell scientists, who say it means that the "invisible" markings that lure bees to flowers may now be seen by man.

The explanation: Honeybees and some other insects are sentivie to the shorter ultraviolet waves of the light spectrum. These insects, unlike man, can see the ultraviolet markings on blossoms. Flowers that appear similar to the human eye, such as marsh marigolds, daisies and black-eyes susans, may in the ultraviolet be grossly different — and distinguishable to insects.

Until 1969, cumbersome photographic technique was needed by man to see these markings. A TV camera, equipped with an ultraviolet transmitting filter, acts as an "insect eye." The markings are most intense in relatively fresh plant material, but flowers more than 30 years old can show the pattern.

PLANNING a garden this summer? Experts who measure time and effort advise that it takes at least two hours per week to care care for a 20 by 50-foot garden.

And this does not include harvesting and planting. So don't dig up more than you can tend.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

THIS GAMBREL EXPANSION farmhouse has five bedrooms with three baths and a service lavatory. Special features are the dropped living room, and optional dropped family room. The basic plan is comfortable and spacious and the optional areas behind the garage and on the partial second floor offer flexibility — if family needs require more room. Plan HA778S — the basic plan — has 1,745 square feet on the first floor. It was designed by Herbert Struppmann, Room 704, 48 W. 48th St., New York, N.Y. 10036.

Ex-prisoners are trained in agriculture

MOGADISHU, Somalia (AP) — While thugs and robbers still suffer brutal punishments in many parts of Africa, Somalia, which already provides training and rehabilitation in prison, has taken another step forward with "after prison farm cooperatives."

At Lanta-bur, around 37 miles west of Mogadishu on the Shebelli river, 600 young ex-prisoners are learning farming. An initial squad of 140 set up a cooperative farm on a voluntary basis in the vicinity of the prison early last year after completing their sentences.

The Ministry of Agriculture provided them with a stretch of wild forest land, bulldozers, food, seed and know-how. More than 60 of them quit within the first three months, but 80 ex-convicts decided to put up with the hardships and make farming their role in society.

The first yield of the cooperative was around $6,300 and about 250 acres are now under cultivation. The cooperative provides tomatoes for a small processing factory nearby.

"It is a pilot project," says Gen. Ismail Ahmed Ismail, commander of the Prison Corps. "Its fate depends on successful expansion. If it succeeds, then it will be introduced to all the country's five agricultural regions."

Here's the Answer

Q. — One of the ceiling tiles in our finished attic is badly damaged. I would like to replace it, but do not know how to remove it so as to keep the tongue-and-groove arrangements intact. Also, how is the new tile put in place.

A. — Forget about installing the new tile the way it was done originally. You simply can't remove the old tile without cutting the tongues from it. To get down the old tile, cut around the edges of it with one of the cutters that has a razor blade or other type of blade in it.

When you have cut around all four edges, the tile will drop down. Take out all the staples or nails with which the tile was originally installed.

The new tile must then be cemeted in place, but not before you have cut off its tongues. The replacement tile may be noticeable for a while, especially if the ceiling has been up a long time, but it will get less conspicuous as the weeks go by.

Q. — We soon must get the toilet bowl in our downstairs bathroom replaced. At the same time, we would like to have installed one of the flushing setups that do not require a water tank. Can this be done?

A. — Yes, provided the water supply pipe to the house is at least 1¼ inches. Since there are other considerations involved, a plumber must make the final decision for you.

Q. — I once ready about how to run your fingers over a piece of wood after sanding to detect whether the finish is smooth. I would like to tell your readers about a little trick of mine that I have used for sometime.

After I sand wood and want to be certain that it is perfectly smooth, I place my hand in an old nylon stocking and then run my fingers over the wood. If there is any imperfections in the surface of the wood, there is an immediate snag in the nylon. It works every time.

A. — Thanks for everyone.

Q. — I recently ruined a cabinet I had finished with enamel. Well, maybe I didn't ruin it, but I sure had to re-enamel it. I had followed the instructions in a book about getting a smoother finishing by sanding the final coat, but when I did this, it scarred the enamel and looked terrible. What did I do wrong?

A. — You probably misread the instructions. Some types of clear finishes, such as varnish and shellac, may be sanded to remove irregularities, but not enamel.

However, enamel undercoats sometimes are sanded so that the succeeding coat or coats will grip properly and all surface blemishes will be eliminated.

This is a good time of the year for a checkup. Not you. Your house. Especially the outside.

Start with a pencil and piece of paper. As you walk around and observe, write down whatever it is that needs repairing. When the inspection tour is over, you'll have a short or a long list or, if your house is very exceptional, no list at all.

All this won't help you to make the necessary repairs, since the list might be put in a drawer and forgotten.

But if you're really serious about keeping the place shipshape, you can pull out the list and decide which items get priority whenever you have the time and the inclination to do a little work.

What it does is to prevent you from forgetting an important project while lesser tasks get your attention.

WHAT SHOULD be checked? Here are some reminders:

See if there are any openings in the sidewalls through which rain, wind and insects may be entering. Give particular notice to the areas around doors, window frames and where dissimilar materials are joined. If there are, caulking is in order.

Cracks and other gaps in the concrete patio floor, garage and walkway will get larger unless they are fixed.

Use one of the ready-mixed patching materials that require only the addition of water. A sand mix will do for most jobs; a concrete mix should be used where there is auto traffic.

Have any flagstones shifted or sunk a bit? You can pry up the lower ends and put more sand or gravel under them to provide even surfaces.

Deteriorating mortar between bricks in walls and chimneys should be removed and replaced.

Here again a ready-mix is suitable, but be sure it's a mortar mix rather than sand or concrete, the difference being that the mortar mixture has lime as one of its ingredients.

ARE the gutters and downspouts carrying away water as they should? If the water is collecting at one point along the gutter, it may be that one of the brackets needs retightening or replacing.

Another cause of a retarded flow is the accumulation of debris in either the gutters or the downspouts or both.

Is the fence in need of repairs? Is the flashing intact at the point where the chimney comes out of the roof? Do the window wells need a cleaning to facilitate better drainage? Is there any area where a black top patch is required?

And, a very important checkup point, is the outside ladder in good condition? Look for possible cracks in wooden ladders, loose bolts or other fastening devices in metal ladders.

Bench matches home run standard

★★★

Cincy star roughs up Carlton, sets stage for Concepcion's HR

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Johnny Bench is alive and well ... in Philadelphia, of all places.

"Maybe now this will remove all doubts about my operation," the Cincinnati strongboy said Wednesday night after driving in seven runs as he blasted three homers off Cy Young Award winner Steve Carlton and, counting a homer his last time at bat Tuesday night, equaled the major league record of four in a row.

"Personally," he added, "I don't pay any attention to it any more."

The 25-year-old catcher, twice the National League's Most Valuable Player, underwent lung surgery last December for removal of a benign lesion.

Despite his record-matching slugging Wednesday night, the Reds needed a tie-breaking two-run homer by Dave Concepcion in the ninth inning to beat the Phillies 9-7.

Elsewhere, St. Louis defeated San Francisco 3-1, Los Angeles held off Pittsburgh 8-5, the Chicago Cubs whipped San Diego 9-2 and the New York Mets trounced Atlanta 8-1. The Houston-Montreal game was rained out.

It was the second threehomer, seven-RBI game in Bench's career. The other time came on July 26, 1970 against St. Louis and Carlton, then with the Cardinals, was the victim that time, too.

"I got him good tonight," said Bench, who homered to center field with a man aboard in the first inning, walked in the third, hit a three-run homer to right field in the fifth and a two-run shot to left in the seventh.

"But he's got me easy a lot of days. He's a good pitcher. They don't have to worry about him. Remember, he's under a lot of pressure to have another good year."

Rookie Ken Reitz socked his first major league home run as St. Louis ended its latest losing streak at a mere four games by shading San Francisco. It was only the sixth victory in 26 starts for the low-flying Cardinals.

Willie Crawford doubled in two runs to highlight a five-run fifth inning as Los Angeles defeated Pittsburgh. The Pirates pounded out 14 hits against Claude Osteen, George Culver and Jim Brewer, including tworun homers by Manny Sanguillen and Bob Robertson, giving the Bucs 10 in the three-game set with the Dodgers. The loss was still Pittsburgh's 10th in the last 14 games.

Rick Monday hit a three-run homer and Billy Williams and Randy Hundley slammed two-run shots to power the Cubs over San Diego and into first place in the NL East by one game over Pittsburgh. Burt Hooton scattered six San Diego hits, including a home run by Fred Hilton.

Unbeaten Jerry Koosman fired a five-hitter for his fifth triumph and Rusty Staub homered as the Mets chased Carl Morton with four runs in the first two innings and beat Atlanta. Koosman held the Braves hitless until Oscar Brown doubled with two out in the sixth. Cincinnati's Jack Billingham is the league's only other five-game winner.

Bench feels Cincy ready to make move in NL West

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— Johnny Bench has just about forgotten about the operation he underwent over the winter and has now convinced everyone else to do likewise.

The Cincinnati Reds' star catcher tied a major league record Wednesday night with three—giving him four on consecutive at bats counting one Tuesday, to lead his teammates to a 9-7 victory Wednesday night over the Philadelphia Phillies.

"Maybe now this will remove all doubts about my operation," said Bench, who had a tumor removed from his chest. "Personally I don't pay any attention to it anymore."

Actually it was a two-run shot by Dave Concepcion following a fourth single by Pete Rose that won it for reliever Tom Hall. But it was Bench who accounted for all the first seven runs.

The big catcher looked perfectly healthy as he teed off on lefty Steve Carlton for all three home runs, repeating a performance of July 26, 1970 when he connected three times off Carlton in Riverfront Stadium.

"I got him good tonight," said Bench. "But he's got me easy a lot of days. He's a good pitcher, they don't have to worry about him...remember, he's under a lot of pressure here to have another good year."

"I feel I'm pitching well," said Carlton, "I had him set up twice...he just went out and got the ball."

"This is a great park to hit in," said Bench, who had a double and a home run Tuesday while driving in four runs.

"The lights are good, I see the ball good, and I just like to hit here."

"I've always been a slow starter, I get better as it gets warmer. I don't feel confortable until the weather gets hot."

Bench, who now has nine home runs and 26 rbis, feels the Reds are about ready to make their move in the division race.

"We're about to put it together," he said.

Manager Sparky Anderson agreed. "He can carry the club a couple of weeks himself," said the skipper. "He's that kind of a streak hitter."

Rose, who scored four times on home runs, said he never was concerned about Bench.

"I knew he'd hit 35 home runs just as sure as I knew the leaves would turn brown in the winter," said Pete. "Heck, the only thing wrong tonight is my hands...they are sore from beating on Bench and Concepcion."

"But hey, give the Phillies some credit," Rose added, "they kept fighting back tonight."

In the third, two-run home runs by Willie Montanez and Bill Lobinson knocked out starter Don Gullett and in the fifth Mike Anderson doubled home a run to make it 5-5.

Larry Bowa singled to put the Phillies in front 6-5 and after Bench made it 7-6 in the seventh pinch hitter Del Unser connected for his first National League home run to tie it at 7-7.

Reliever Barry Lersch came on to pitch the ninth and served up a single to Rose and got a slider too high against Concepcion, who connected for his fifth homer of the season.

"I'm not strong," said Concepcion, "I can't hit many home runs. I have to hit them early in the season before I get tired."

One SCOL vacancy filled

Young Miami product new Greenfield coach

GREENFIELD — One of three South Central Ohio League football coaching vacancies has been filled as the league's revolving door has started to move again at full speed.

Fred Brisker, a young Miami University product, has been named head football coach at Greenfield McClain, filling the vacancy created by the resignation of Jay Knierim.

Two other SCOL teams have yet to name new head coaches. Miami Trace is searching for a head coach to replace Fred Bernier, who has accepted the head job at Covington (Ky.) Catholic High School. Dale Ambos, head football coach at Hillsboro the past four seasons, also resigned following the 1972 campaign.

BRISKER, a 1968 graduate of Minford High School where he was a three-sport star, has served as a graduate assistant in Miami's football program. He graduated from Miami University in 1972 with a bachelor of science degree in physical education.

The 22-year-old Portsmouth native lettered two seasons at Miami University and landed All-Mid American Conference honorable mention honors as a guard his senior year.

The 6-foot-1, 220-pounder earned seven letters at Minford High School; three as a guard and linebacker in football, three as an infielder in baseball and one in track. Brisker also received all-conference, All-District and All-Ohio honorable mention accolades in his schoolboy career.

Soviets top U.S. cagers; win 72-64

BALTIMORE (AP) — Bob Cousy sat on a storage locker and shook his head.

"That was the weirdest basketball game I've ever seen," lamented the U.S. coach after his squad lost to Russia 72-64 in the final game of a six-city American tour Wednesday. "You might say they out-mayhemed us."

The series, won by the United States 4-2, was characterized by rugged, elbow swinging play, and the finale followed that pattern.

The referees whistled 41 personal fouls against the Soviets, 40 against the Americans Wednesday. Three U.S. players and six Russians fouled out, including the visitors' Aleksandr Shalnev, who picked up his fifth personal with 6:02 remaining in the first half.

In addition, Swen Nater, the backup center from UCLA, was ejected from the game late in the second half for striking a Russian player.

"I don't think that's basketball we played out there tonight," Ron Behagen, the Minesota forward who was himself thrown out of an earlier game for fighting, said in the locker room. "It may be their game, but it's not ours. Somebody could get hurt out there if they're not careful."

Perfecta pays heavily at Lebanon raceway

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—A Perfecta paid $459.90 on a 7-4 combination Wednesday night to send a crowd of 1,609 home buzzing from Lebanon Raceway.

Alpine Royal won the $1,000 feature race by less than a length to return $5, $4.20 and $4.60. Gail Diller was second at $4 and $3. Miss Lynn Adios showed at $4.80.

River Downs opens 48th racing season

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — River Downs opens its 48th racing season today.

The horse racing track plans to mark the 100-date opening with "Old Time Day," which means reduced prices for an expected crowd of 6,000.

Ten races are scheduled with the featured ninth race offering a $4,000 purse.

Wednesday golfers open summer slate

The Reds, Titleists and Staffs opened action in the Wednesday Night Golf League with victories at the Washington Country Club.

Hayward Johnson, the captain of the Reds quintet, carded a 44 which was the lowest score of the evening in leading the Reds to a 12½ to 7½ win over Maxfli.

In other action, Jim Wilson's 47 paced the Titleists to a 10½ to 9½ decision over the Tourneys, and the Staffs got a 46 from Don Morrow to whip the Dots by a 13½ to 6½ count.

THE RESULTS

REDS — Hayward Johnson 44-3; Roger Osborne 49-3½; Paul Thornhill 55-1; Don Gibbs 56-4; Hargis Ramey 55-1; Total 12½.

MAXFLI — Parker Hitzfield 46-1; Richard Kimmet 55-½; Lindy Sharrett 51-3; F. Alvin Sohn 71-0; Loren Noble 50-3; Total 7½.

Grooms, Jones pace late MT eruption

Tony Grooms and Pete Jones provided plenty of offensive fireworks as Miami Trace performed some late heroics in drubbing Clinton Massie 11-8 in non-league action Wednesday night at the Falcon diamond.

Head coach Dave Pellior's Panthers, bunched together a total of 11 runs in the final three innings, to erase a comfortable 7-0 bulge Clinton Massie had constructed early in the contest.

Jones sparked the late Miami Trace surge with a double, a triple, two singles and four runs-batted-in, and Grooms cracked a double, two singles and also chased home four runners.

The two seniors combined for seven of Miami Trace's 15 total hits and the Panthers increased their all-games record to a neat 8-3-1 level.

CLINTON MASSIE scored five runs in the opening inning on the basis of two hits, four errors, a walk and a wild pitch and then added two more in the second frame to grab a 7-0 lead.

The Panthers were held scoreless until the fifth inning when they erupted for four runs on five hits, punched out four more hits in the sixth to account for a total of five runs and capped the late fireworks with a pair of runs in the seventh inning.

Dan Jones, Dave Arnold and Tom Riley provided plenty of support in Miami Trace's attack with two hits apiece.

Arnold, the third of four Miami Trace hurlers, picked up his second win of the season. Arnold worked two innings, allowing one run on four hits and fanned four batters.

Junior Jeff King started for Miami Trace and was roughed up for seven runs on four hits in one and two-thirds innings. He was relieved by Randy Kirk who pitched two and two-thirds innings, permitting only two hits while fanning two batters. Pete Jones finished the mound chores for Miami Trace and chalked up three strikeouts in an inning of duty.

The Panthers, now 8-3-1 on the spring season, will entertain East Clinton Friday.

Cavaliers top Lion linksters

Always-tough Chillicothe, a power in the Central Ohio League, downed Washington C.H.'s young golf team by a 9½ to 1½ count Wednesday night at the Washington Country Club.

David Garringer turned in a 43 score to pace head coach Gary Shaffer's Lion linksters, but sophomore Rob Harris managed to score the only points for Washington C.H. as he carded a 44. Jeff Brown also shot a 44.

Tom Howison was the medalist of the dual match, carding a two-over-par 38 for the Cavaliers.

The Lions will be competing in the Class AA sectional golf tournament Friday at Pine Hills Golf Club in Carroll.

THE RESULTS

WASHINGTON C.H. — David Garringer 43-0; Jeff Brown 44-0; Rob Harris 44-1½; Steve Pommert 49-0; David Butterfield 49-0; Total 229-1½.

CHILLICOTHE — Tom Howison 38-2; Ed Bunstine 42-2; David Holmes 45-½; Gale Notestone 41-2; Dan Wiltshire 46-2; Total 203-9½.

Lakers chief still predicts cage victory

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Coach Bill Sharman of the Los Angeles Lakers maintains his National Basketball Association club has the ability to crack the odds barrier and overcome the New York Knicks starting tonight.

The odds are against him since the Knickerbockers of the East go into the sellout contest of the Forum with a 3-1 edge in the best-of-7 final playoff series and need only one more victory to take the crown from the 1972 champions.

"This team is capable of winning the next three games," Sharman says of his Lakers, who took the measure of New York 4-1 a year ago.

"But we must minimize our mistakes and turnovers and do better on the boards."

Sharman has his prayer and hopefully he'll also have Jerry West although the All-Star guard aggravated a right hamstring strain in the Tuesday night 103-98 loss at New York in the fourth game.

Both of West's hamstrings ache but he vows to be ready to start in the Lakers' do-or-die contest.

New York appears in strong physical shape with Willis Reed playing his best of three seasons—he was the most-valuable in the final playoffs of 1970.

Lion frosh cop honors in meet

Washington C.H.'s freshman track team picked up its seventh win of the season Wednesday night while the seventh and eighth grade team faltered in a triangular meet with Chillicothe Smith and Chillicothe Mt. Logan at Gardner Park.

Doug Phillips hurled the shot put 48 feet, seven inches to set a new record and Randy Gardner won the high jump and 440-yard dash as Coach Carl Anders' Lions pumped their record to 7-6.

Joe Cox won the long jump and placed second in the 100-yard dash and David Stackhouse and Greg Marti tied for first in the low hurdles. Jeff Dewees won the 880.

Joe Melvin won the pole vault for the eighth graders and seventh grader Terry Wilson took the hurdles in 17.1.

The Lion Cubs will travel to Lancaster Saturday for the Gene Cole Relays.

Friday Night golf loop set to open

Golfers in the Friday Night League at the Washington Country Club will be launching their annual summer schedule this week.

Loren Noble, chairman of the Friday Night League, said there will be six teams again this year and the teams are comprised of five players apiece.

The teams are the Yankees, Pirates, Mets, Reds, Dodgers and Cubs.

Here are the lineups for the Friday league:

YANKEES — Douglas Dye, Irvin Reeves, Richard Wintringham, Chester Brown and Charles Sheridan.

PIRATES — James Conley, Robert Sanderson, Charles Wallace, Milbourne Flee and H. R. Heckaman.

METS — Glen Helmick, Roger Miller, Phil Morrow, Ralph Tate and Howard Wright.

REDS — James Vess, Paul Johnson, Bart Mahoney, Bernie Light and Dick Stevenson.

DODGERS — Howard Miller, Frank Reno, Horace Jacobs, Ernie Stanforth and Paul Maughmer.

CUBS — John Scott, Tom Brude, Warren Pollock, Dr. Joseph Herbert and Loren Noble.

Offys remain supreme at Indy

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Sixty-one of the 83 cars entered in this year's Indianapolis 500-mile race are powered by tiny four-cylinder engines smaller than the power plants in many compact passenger cars.

But these sophisticated Offenhauser engines, which also have carried the Miller and Mayer & Drake mark for half a century, have been refined in the laboratory of auto racing.

Herb Porter, an engineering consultant for Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., says the Offy engine is the most powerful, inch for inch, in history. Porter conducts the company's tire and engine testing on a fulltime basis.

But Porter, sometimes referred to as the father of the modern Offenhauser engine, notes the basic engine is not all that powerful.

In a 1,500-pound race car, the four-cylinder, 160-cubic-inch engine could only manage about 125 miles an hour, Porter said. Horsepower would be near 200.

But throw on a supercharger and a fuel injection system, and instantly you have about 800 horsepower and the potential to register a 200-mile-an-hour lap, he said.

Swede Savage, running with one of Porter's engines, has turned in a 197.802 lap, the fastest so far this month at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. Savage recorded a 192.5 lap in practice Wednesday for the May 28 race.

"We get about five horsepower per cubic inch," Porter said. "If you've got that kind of horsepower out of your average passenger car with a 327 cubic inch engine, you would have about 1,600 horsepower. We get more horsepower per cubic inch now than any other car in the history of the world.

"While we could still get a lot more power, it would be a less reliable engine. More power is available for this year's race than last year's with a greater degree or reliability."

Winning at Indianapolis, he said, depends on the combination of "the power you can get, the power you can use and stay together" and the ability to complete the race on the amount of fuel allotted.

Opening lead - king of diamonds.

"What can defeat me?" is a dominant theme in the play of many hands. Here is a striking example of how the principle is applied.

South got to four spades and West led the king of diamonds. Declarer covered with the ace, ruffed by East, and East returned a club, won by South with the ace.

After drawing two rounds of trumps, South played a low heart to dummy's queen, hoping to find West with the king. In that case, South would have been able to discard one of dummy's clubs on the ace of hearts.

But the queen lost to the king and South had to go down one, losing a heart, a diamond, a diamond ruff and a club.

South would have made the contract had he applied the "What can defeat me?" principle. He should have ducked the king of diamonds lead, realizing that East was probably void of diamonds in the light of the bidding. He could then also afford to duck the queen, as well as the jack, if West persisted with the suit.

By ducking the first three leads, South would have preserved the ten winners he could see before him at the start of the hand. All he really had to do was recognize that he might go down by playing the diamond ace from dummy at trick one, and that he couldn't go down if he withheld the ace until it could be played at a more propitious moment later on.

Had he ducked the diamond lead, South's only losers would have been two diamonds and a heart, for he would have been able to ruff a heart later in dummy and discard his club loser on the ace of diamonds.

New buildings in violation at Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Four of Cincinnati's newest high rise buildings have been cited for a total of 54 building code violations following recent reinspections.

William Ahlert, city building commissioner, issued the orders after the Ohio Board of Building Standards (OBBS) complained of fire hazards.

OBBS threatened to decertify the city Building Department, which is on probation, after citing the code violations in February.

The buildings cited are Sanders Hall at the University of Cincinnati, the Holiday Inn on West Eighth Street, Page Towers and the Fifth-Race Tower.

Ahlert estimated it would cost more than $100,000 to correct the deficiencies.

City Manager E. Robert Turner, reporting to city council, said those responsible for the four buildings have indicated "complete willingness to cooperate in securing buildings that are completely fire safe."

Suspension lifted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio Commerce Director Dennis Shaul Wednesday said that his department's Division of Securities has lifted an order suspending Circle Credit Union, Inc., Cleveland.

It's proof positive that safety belts save lives, says the Ohio Department of Highway Safety. This fact can save your life. Safety belts are a healthy habit.

"State of siege" law bars whistle stops

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — There are no Harry Truman-like whistle stop campaigns in Argentina's elections in 1973.

The Interior Ministry said the reasons range from the State of Siege Law to neutrality of the state-owned railroads.

The State of Siege Law bars public assemblies, so politicians can only meet with their supporters behind closed doors.

The Interior Ministry said railroad stations are public places and the State of Siege prohibits rallies in public places. And it said the government could not compromise its neutrality by permitting candidates to use state railroads.

Fayette Cancer unit has new executive head

The resignation of Mrs. Stanley Graumlich, who has served the Fayette County unit of the American Cancer Society as its executive director for nearly five years, was accepted with regret by the board Wednesday night, and Mrs. William Heinz, 503 W. Circle Ave., was appointed to succeed her in the $1,555-a-year parttime position.

The resignation did not come as a complete surprise, and the selection of her successor was no more than routine. Mrs. Heinz, it was pointed out, was secretary of the unit from 1958 through 1962 and has been a member of the board and active in the cancer program ever since.

In her resignation, Mrs. Graumlich explained that she and her husband have purchased a farm in Madison County, near Sedalia, and will move there within the next few weeks.

The appointment of Mrs. Heinz becomes effective July 1. Meanwhile, she will attend three workshops sponsored by the Ohio and American Cancer Societies.

MRS. GRAUMLICH has agreed to remain until the 1973 Cancer Crusade details are wrapped up and help Mrs. Heinz familiarize herself with the details of the executive director's responsibilities.

James Vess, chairman of the Crusade this year, told the board at its meeting in the First Presbyterian Church Wednesday night that a total of $5,494 has been contributed this far. He explained, however, that less than half of the Crusade reports have been made and that most of those which had been made are only partial. Only two of the 10 rural townships have reported, he said. Still lagging in the city are reports from the central business district, professional people and the residential area.

On the brighter side, Vess said that the reports which have been received indicate that the response has been more generous than last year when contributions totaled $12,260.

Driver cited in mishap

One driver was cited by city police in two traffic accidents investigated Tuesday.

Police said Orville Myers, 22, of 621 S. North St., was charged with driving without an operator's license after a two-car collision at the intersection of Delaware Street and Rose Avenue at 8:02 p.m.

The accident occurred when the eastbound Myers car collided with the left rear of a car driven by Marion P. Lightle, 31, of 1428 Pearl St., turning left from Rose onto Delaware, officers said. Damage was moderate.

A car driven by Milton A. Oliver, 74, Jamestown was involved in a minor collision with a horse trailer, towed by a truck driven by Don B. Morris, 20, Rt. 2, at 1:06 p.m. The accident occurred on Court Street in front of the First Federal Building and tied up traffic on the busy street for several minutes.

Neither driver was cited and property was listed as moderate.

Landslide blocks U. S. 52 at Ripley

RIPLEY, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Highway Department closed U.S. 52 a mile west of here today when a mudslide threatened to push the roadway into the Ohio River.

The Ohio Highway Patrol reported a three-foot wide crack developed in the pavement and the highway department closed the road at 4:15 a.m.

Lebanese troops battle guerrillas

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Lebanese troops battled Palestinian guerrillas from Syria into the early hours today along a 55-mile front in the eastern Bekaa Valley near the border, a senior army officer said.

He said the fighting stretched from the army's main garrison town of Marjayoun in the south to the vicinity of Baalbeck, in the northeast.

In many areas, including the towns of Hasbaya and Rachaya, villagers took to the hills armed with World War II rifles to support army jets and artillery attempting to repulse "a massive influx" of guerrilla reinforcements from across the Syrian border, the officer said.

At one point the infiltrators set up rocket and mortar positions on hills overlooking Rayack air base near the border. Air force jets flew 20 sorties against the invaders late Wednesday afternoon, then returned at midnight and bombed the positions from which the guerrillas were shelling the airfield.

The army said 13 of its men were killed, 65 wounded and six were missing in the fighting in the valley Wednesday.

Beirut was generally calm and both the army and the guerrillas pulled back from forward positions in the vicinity of the refugee camps around the city.

Guerrilla leader Yasir Arafat appealed indirectly to the Syrian government to halt the infiltration of guerrillas across the border, saying: "In spite of our human and material losses we have bandaged our wounds and accepted a cease-fire in order to reestablish mutual confidence with sister Lebanon."

Yasir Arafat, the titular leader of all the Palestinian forces, made an indirect appeal from his headquarters in Beirut to the Syrian government to pull the invaders back.

Claim FBI agents spied on meets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Undercover FBI agents were among the planners of demonstrations at the national political conventions last summer, according to a Justice Department source.

Reports from the agents and FBI informers who infiltrated most of the convention protest groups were discussed at closed Justice Department meetings persided over by Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst, the source said.

Robert C. Mardian, former head of the department's Internal Security Division but by last summer a staff member of President Nixon's reelection committee, was a regular participant at the sessions, the source said.
